Regions Of War And Peace:

Regions of War and Peace Douglas Lemke, 2002-01-21 In this contribution to the literature on the causes of war Douglas Lemke asks whether the same factors affect minor powers as affect major ones He investigates whether power parity and dissatisfaction with the status quo have an impact within Africa the Far East the Middle East and South America Lemke argues that there are similarities across these regions and levels of power and that parity and dissatisfaction are correlates of war around the world The extent to which they increase the risk of war varies across regions however and the book looks at the possible sources of this cross regional variation concluding that differential progress toward development is the likely cause This book will interest students and scholars of international relations and peace studies as well as comparative politics and area studies

The Rise of Regions Ronald L. Tammen, Jacek Kugler, 2020-09-11 This timely book presents fresh forward looking analyses of key regions across the globe Tracking politico economic trajectories the contributors chart the resulting power dynamics likely to shape relationships within each region offering a crucial guide to patterns of cooperation conflict and domination over the coming decades

States, Nations, and the Great Powers Benjamin Miller, 2007-08-30 Why are some regions prone to war while others remain at peace What conditions cause regions to move from peace to war and vice versa This book offers a novel theoretical explanation for the differences in levels of and transitions between war and peace The author distinguishes between hot and cold outcomes depending on intensity of the war or the peace and then uses three key concepts state nation and the international system to argue that it is the specific balance between states and nations in different regions that determines the hot or warm outcomes the lower the balance the higher the war proneness of the region while the higher the balance the warmer the peace The international systematic factors for their part affect only the cold outcomes of cold war and cold peace The theory of regional war and peace developed in this book is examined through case studies of the post 1945 Middle East the Balkans and South America in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries and post 1945 Western Europe It uses comparative data from all regions and concludes by proposing ideas on how to promote peace in war torn regions

The Geography of War and Peace Colin Flint, 2005 Our world of increasing and varied conflicts is confusing and threatening to citizens of all countries as they try to understand its causes and consequences This book takes advantage of a diversity of geographic perspectives as it analyzes the political processes of war and their spatial expression

War in Peace Robert Gerwarth, John Horne, 2013-10-03 The First World War did not end in November 1918 In Russia and Eastern Europe it finished up to a year earlier and both there and elsewhere in Europe it triggered conflicts that lasted down to 1923 Paramilitary formations were prominent in this continuation of the war They had some features of formal military organizations but were used in opposition to the regular military as an instrument of revolution or as an adjunct or substitute for military forces when these were unable by themselves to put down a revolution whether class or national Paramilitary violence thus arose in different contexts It was an important aspect of the violence unleashed by class revolution in Russia It structured the counter revolution in central and Eastern Europe including Finland and Italy which reacted against a mythic version of Bolshevik class violence in the name of order and authority It also shaped the struggles over borders and ethnicity in the new states that replaced the multi national empires of Russia Austria Hungary and Ottoman Turkey It was prominent on all sides in the wars for Irish independence In many cases paramilitary violence was charged with political significance and acquired a long lasting symbolism and influence War in Peace explores the differences and similarities between these various kinds of paramilitary violence within one volume for the first time It thereby contributes to our understanding of the difficult transitions from war to peace It also helps to re situate the Great War in a longer term context and to explain its enduring impact policymakers and researchers covering Somalia East Africa extremism or conflict resolution this is a must read War in a Changing World Zeev Maoz, Azar Gat, 2001 Essays tracing the changing nature of war in relation to global and regional changes The Public Papers of Woodrow Wilson: War and peace : presidential messages, addresses, and public papers (1917-1924) Woodrow Wilson, 1927 Regions, Power, and Conflict William R. Thompson, Thomas J. Volgy, Paul Bezerra, Jacob Cramer, Kelly Marie Gordell, Manjeet Pardesi, Karen Rasler, J. Patrick Rhamey Jr., Kentaro Sakuwa, Rachel Van Nostrand, Leila Zakhirova, 2022-08-16 The three main levels of analysis in international relations have been the systemic the national and the individual A fourth level that falls between the systemic and the national is the region It is woefully underdeveloped in comparison to the attention afforded the other three Yet regions tend to be distinctive theaters for international politics Otherwise we would not recognize that Middle Eastern interstate politics somehow does not resemble Latin American interstate politics or interstate politics in Southern Africa although once the Middle East and Southern Africa may have seemed more similar in their mutual fixation with opposition to domestic policies in Israel and South Africa respectively This book divided into three parts first makes a case for studying regional politics even though it must also be appreciated that regional boundaries are also hazy and not always easy to pin down empirically The second part examines power distributions within regions as an important entry point to studying regional similarities and differences Two emphases are stressed One is that regional power assessments need to be conditioned by controlling for weak states which are more common in some regions than they are in others The other emphasis is on regional power hierarchies Some regions have strong regional hierarchies while others do not Regions with strong hierarchies operate much differently from those without them in the sense that the former are more pacific than the latter The third part of the book focuses on regional differences in terms of conflict behavior order preferences rivalries and rivalry termination Strong Money Demand in Financing War and Peace Makoto Saito, 2021-06-17 This book theoretically and empirically investigates the emergence of strong money demand in wartime Japan 1937 1945 its disappearance after the end of the war 1945 1949 and the reemergence of strong money demand in contemporary Japan from 1995 to the present in terms of the effects on fiscal activities and the price level An augmented fiscal monetary theory of the price level is constructed from a close examination of the strong money demand present in these periods Then profoundly puzzling phenomena such as mild deflation despite monetary expansion low long term interest rates despite fiscal unsustainability and weak aggregate demand despite near zero rates of interest all of which are actually being observed in contemporary Japan can now be interpreted in line with the above augmented theory In the present strong money demand at near zero rates endows the Japanese government with maximum fiscal flexibility However if it disappeared for some reason prices would surge to the quantity theory of money level and fiscal sustainability would have to be restored In the future alternative currency units issued by private banks might carry out a purge of such strong demand for the yen Peace First Uri Savir, 2008-09 Uri Savir has an ambitious indispensable goal to bring peacemaking into the 21st century Little in today's world writes Savir is more progressive than modern warfare Yet little is more archaic than peacemaking We remain trapped in a centuries old mindset with leaders bargaining warily for concessions and signing treaties that collapse because no one on the ground has any real stake in them Drawing on his experiences negotiating the Oslo Peace Accords as well as on trenchant examples from Ethiopia Eritrea Rwanda Sierra Leone Afghanistan India Pakistan Northern Ireland and the former Yugoslavia Savir argues that an enduring peace is built from the bottom up not from the top down He describes a new model based on establishing and nurturing mutually beneficial forms of cooperation beginning on the local level city to city and organization to organization This process of glocalization involving local actors in global issues is the first step toward constructing a peace ecology a comprehensive transnational culture dedicated to breaking down the psychological and social barriers between former enemies These efforts are furthered through the establishment of joint ventures that give each side a tangible stake in maintaining peace Diplomacy still has a role but it must reject maneuvering for gain and instead emphasize the advantages both sides will gain with the cultivation of lasting peace Throughout Savir provides concrete examples of how these concepts have been put into practice And he ends with a detailed vision of how this model could bring an enduring peace in one of the world's most war torn areas the Mediterranean Basin Peace First offers a pragmatic yet revolutionary new approach that promises to end our most intractable conflicts

Peace and War Kalevi J. Holsti, 1991-04-26 Professor Holsti examines the origins of war and the foundations of peace of the last 350 years

International and Regional Security Benjamin Miller, 2016-11-10 This volume is a collection of the best essays of Professor Benjamin Miller on the subjects of international and regional security The book analyses the interrelationships between international politics and regional and national security with a special focus on the sources of international conflict and collaboration and the causes of war and peace More specifically it explains the sources of intended and unintended great power conflict and collaboration The book also accounts for the sources of regional war and peace by developing the concept of the state to nation balance Thus the volume is able to explain the variations in the outcomes of great power interventions and the differences in the level and type of war and peace in different eras and various parts of the world For example the book's model can account for recent outcomes such as the effects of the 2003 American intervention in Iraq the post 2011 Arab Spring and the conflicts between Russia and Ukraine The book also provides a model for explaining the changes in American grand strategy with a special focus on accounting for the causes of the invasion of Iraq in 2003 Finally the book addresses the debate on the future of war and peace in the 21st century This book will be essential reading for students of international security regional security Middle Eastern politics foreign policy and IR War & Peace ,1914 War and Peace in Africa's Great Lakes Region Gilbert M. Khadiagala,2017-07-11 The book probes major security and governance trends in Africa's Great Lakes region since the 1990s It examines political dynamics in key states Burundi the DRC Rwanda and Uganda as well as the role of international actors such as the AU the EU and the UN thereby providing a unique perspective on efforts towards regional peace and prosperity The authors suggest that while the region has made tremendous progress it faces continuing challenges including reversals in governance that threaten future regional security

Regional Peacemaking and Conflict Management Carmela Lutmar,Benjamin Miller,2015-11-06 This volume examines mechanisms for regional peacemaking and conflict management in Europe and the Middle East To date little research has been devoted to uncovering the conditions for peace and the factors that contribute to stabilizing the state of peace This volume assesses the factors that contribute to regional pacification the incentives that motivate states in establishing peaceful relations and most importantly how regions become peaceful It discusses the conditions under which various types of peace might emerge on a regional level and the factors most likely to determine the outcome The book takes an innovative approach through a systematic comparison of two regions that are particularly prominent and important for the subject of regional pacification Europe and the Middle East While many believe that the European case is the indispensable model for peacemaking others believe that these two regions are too different for Europe to be a useful framework for the Middle East This volume occupies a middle ground between these two extreme positions It argues that while a mindless copying of European models will not lead to peace in the Middle East important insights can be gained from the most successful case of regional peacemaking to date This work will be of much interest to students of regional security peacemaking conflict management Middle East politics European security and IR in general
