The Dictator's Dilemma at the Ballot Box Masaaki Higashijima,2022 Modern dictatorships hold elections Contrary to our stereotypical views of autocratic politics dictators often introduce elections with limited manipulation wherein they refrain from employing blatant electoral fraud and pro regime electoral institutions Why do such electoral reforms happen in autocracies Do these elections destabilize autocratic rule The Dictator s Dilemma at the Ballot Box explores how dictators design elections and what consequences those elections have on political order It argues that strong autocrats who can effectively garner popular support through extensive economic distribution become less dependent on coercive electioneering strategies When autocrats fail to design elections properly elections backfire in the form of coups protests and the opposition s stunning election victories The book s theoretical implications are tested on a battery of cross national analyses with newly collected data on autocratic elections and in depth comparative case studies of the two Central Asian republics Kazakhstan and Kyrgyzstan The book s findings suggest that indicators of free and fair elections in dictatorships may not be enough to achieve full fledged democratization

Pastoral practices in High Asia Hermann Kreutzmann,2012-03-28

In conventional views pastoralism was classified as a stage of civilization that needed to be abolished and transcended in order to reach a higher level of development In this context global approaches to modernize a rural society have been ubiquitous phenomena independent of ideological contexts The 20th century experienced a variety of concepts to settle mobile groups and to transfer their lifestyles to modern perceptions Permanent settlements are the vivid expression of an ideology driven approach Modernization theory captured all walks of life and tried to optimize breeding techniques pasture utilization transport and processing concepts New insights into other aspects of pastoralism such as its role as an adaptive strategy to use marginal resources in remote locations with difficult access could only be understood as a critique of capitalist and communist concepts of modernization In recent years a renaissance of modernization theory led development activities can be observed Higher inputs from external funding fencing of pastures and settlement of pastoralists in new townships are the vivid expression of modern pastoralism in urban contexts The new modernization programme incorporates resettlement and transformation of lifestyles as to be justified by environmental pressure in order to reduce degradation in the age of climate change

The Mortality Crisis in Transitional Economies Giovanni Andrea Cornia, Renato Panicià, 2000-08-03 In spite of widespread expectations of improvements in living standards and health conditions in most of the countries of the former Soviet bloc the transition to the market economy was accompanied by a sharp increase in already high death rates Such an increase provoked an excess mortality of some three million people over the period 1989-96 alone an unprecedented phenomenon in peacetime Such a crisis remains poorly explained has generated a limited policy response in the countries concerned and international organizations and is bound to generate important political and economic repercussions This book is the first comprehensive assessment of the mortality crisis in transitional economies of its causes and of its remedies on the basis among others of micro data sets and quasi panels on health trends which have never been used before Contributions by demographers economists sociologists epidemiologists and health experts provide a rigorous analysis of the upsurge in mortality rates with the aim of contributing to the launch of vigorous policies to tackle the crisis

Russian society      Building Market Institutions in Post-communist Agriculture David A. J. Macey, William Pyle, Stephen K. Wegren, 2004-01-01 Eurasia emerged from the former Soviet states failed agrarian program poised to be a great power in the new global economy In the late 1980 s post communist states put forth an agrarian reform plan that promised whirlwind institutional change as its goal However these amendments did not unleash the efficiency and productivity that privatization and destatizing seemed to promise Editors David Macey William Pyle and Stephen Wegren along with a host of world leading agrarian analyst and practitioners discuss the shortcoming of post communist agrarian reform and reveal how and why particular policies were or were not adopted Building Market Institutions in Post Communist Agriculture draws on country level case studies to analyze various initiatives undertaken by agricultural economies Contributors use a comparative analytical framework to shed light on the complex universal processes of agrarian transformation that continue to change the social economic and political character of the former Soviet Union      Young People and Social Change Andy Furlong, Fred Cartmel, 2006-12-16 Reviews of the first edition Not only does the clarity of the authors writing make the book very accessible but their argument is also illustrated throughout with a broad range of empirical material undoubtedly a strong contribution to the study of both contemporary youth and late modern society Youth Justice A very accessible well evidenced and important book It succeeds in raising important questions in a new and powerful way Journal of Education and Work the book will be very popular with students and with academics The clarity of the organization expression and argument is particularly commendable I have no doubt that Young People and Social Change will rightly find its way onto the recommended reading lists of many in the field Professor Robert MacDonald University of Teesside A welcome update to one of the most influential and authoritative books on young people in modern societies With a fuller theoretical explanation and drawing on a comprehensive range of studies from Europe North America Australia and Japan the second edition of Young People and Social Change is a valuable contribution to the field The authors examine modern theoretical interpretations of social change in relation to young people and provide an overview of their experiences in a number of key contexts such as education employment the family leisure health crime and politics Building on the success of the previous edition the second edition offers an expanded theoretical approach and wider coverage of empirical data to take into account worldwide developments in the field Drawing on a wealth of research evidence the book highlights key differences between the experiences of young people in different countries in the developed world Young People and Social Change offers a wide ranging and up to date introductory text for students in sociology of youth sociology of education social stratification and related fields      Welfare Regimes and the Experience of Unemployment in Europe Duncan Gallie, Serge Paugam, 2000-05-25 The book is the first major study to examine the implications of differences in welfare regimes for the experience of unemployment in Europe It is concerned with three central questions about the way such regimes affect the experience of unemployment The first is how far they protect the quality of life of unemployed people with respect to living standards and the experience of financial hardship The second is their role in mediating the impact of unemployment on the individual's longer term position in the labour market addressing the issue of how far they help to prevent progressive marginalization from the employment structure as a result of motivational change skill loss or the growth of discriminatory barriers The third is how far such regimes mediate the impact of unemployment on social integration in the community for instance with respect to the maintenance or rupture of social networks and the degree of psychological distress experienced by the unemployed The book is the product of a major cross cultural research programme funded by the European Union TSER bringing together teams from eight countries The emphasis has been on rigorous comparison rather than the all too frequent separate country analyses which usually provide data which differs in format from one country to another In addition to a systematic comparison of national data sources it has been able to make use of a new important data source the European Community Household Panel produced by Eurostat which provides directly comparable information for all EU countries The study shows that institutional and cultural differences have vital implications for the experience of unemployment While welfare policies affect in an important way the pervasiveness of poverty it is above all the patterns of family structure and the culture of sociability in a society that affect vulnerability to social isolation The book concludes by developing a new perspective for understanding the risk of social exclusion

Health and Social Change in Russia and Eastern Europe William C. Cockerham, 2002-05-03 Examines the social causes of the decline in life expectancy in Russia and Eastern Europe Countries discussed include Russia Poland Hungary Romania Bulgaria the Czech Republic and East Germany Paradiplomacy in Action Francisco Aldecoa, Dr Michael Keating, 2013-10-23 Offering a general view of the development of subnational foreign action around the world this work covers topics such as the repercussions upon subnational autonomy of the progressive constitution of international regimes such as the EU NAFTA and APEC Lost to the State Elena Khlinovskaya Rockhill, 2010-12-01 Childhood held a special place in Soviet society seen as the key to a better future children were imagined as the only privileged class Therefore the rapid emergence in post Soviet Russia of the vast numbers of vulnerable social orphans or children who have living relatives but grow up in residential care institutions caught the public by surprise leading to discussions of the role and place of childhood in the new society Based on an in depth study the author explores dissonance between new post Soviet forms of family and economy and lingering Soviet attitudes revealing social orphans as an embodiment of a long standing power struggle between the state and the family The author uncovers parallels between post Soviet and Western practices in child welfare and attitudes towards bad mothers and proposes a new way of interpreting kinship where the state is an integral member Russia's Unfinished Revolution Michael McFaul, 2001-08-23 Michael McFaul traces Russia's tumultuous political history from Gorbachev's rise to power in 1985 through the 1999 resignation of Boris Yeltsin in favor of Vladimir Putin

Indigenous Peoples, Poverty, and Development Gillette H. Hall, Gillette Hall, Harry Anthony Patrinos, 2012-04-30 This is the first book that documents poverty systematically for the world's indigenous peoples in developing regions in Asia, Africa, and Latin America. The volume compiles results for roughly 85 percent of the world's indigenous peoples. It draws on nationally representative data to compare trends in countries' poverty rates and other social indicators with those for indigenous sub-populations and provides comparable data for a wide range of countries all over the world. It estimates global poverty numbers and analyzes other important development indicators such as schooling, health, and social protection. Provocatively, the results show a marked difference in results across regions with rapid poverty reduction among indigenous and non-indigenous populations in Asia, contrasting with relative stagnation and in some cases falling back in Latin America and Africa. Two main factors motivate the book. First, there is a growing concern among poverty analysts worldwide that countries with significant vulnerable populations such as indigenous peoples may not meet the Millennium Development Goals, and thus there exists a consequent need for better data tracking conditions among these groups. Second, there is a growing call by indigenous organizations, including the United Nations Permanent Forum on Indigenous Peoples, for solid disaggregated data analyzing the size and causes of the development gap.
