The European Union and National Industrial Policy Hussein Kassim,Anand Menon,2002-09-11 Although the implications of EU membership have been the subject of intense political debate and academic enquiry throughout the member states the actual impact of EU action on those states remains under researched The lack of empirical investigation has meant that it has not been possible to arrive at any informed judgement about how the EU has affected traditional policy making in the member states or to evaluate competing claims The European Union and National Industrial Policy investigates the extent to which action at the EU level in a range of industrial financial and service sectors has affected the substance of national policy and the behaviour of and relationships between national actors It looks at the policies pursued by the four larger member states in these areas discussing the initiatives launched by the EU and assessing the Union's impact on national policy compared with other internal and external factors The European Union and National Industrial Policy offers a unique investigation of the relationship between the Union and member states that is empirically based and theoretically reflective In an attempt to overcome the boundaries that have traditionally separated international relations political science public policy and other social sciences it uses insights from a number of perspectives to assess the impact of the EU on the ability of member states to choose and implement their goals
