Practices of Citizenship in East Africa Katariina Holma, Tiina Kontinen, 2019-11-04 Practices of Citizenship in East Africa uses insights from philosophical pragmatism to explore how to strengthen citizenship within developing countries Using a bottom up approach the book investigates the various everyday practices in which citizenship habits are formed and reformulated In particular the book reflects on the challenges of implementing the ideals of transformative and critical learning in the attempts to promote active citizenship Drawing on extensive empirical research from rural Uganda and Tanzania and bringing forward the voices of African researchers and academics the book highlights the importance of context in defining how habits and practices of citizenship are constructed and understood within communities The book demonstrates how conceptualizations derived from philosophical pragmatism facilitate identification of the dynamics of incremental change in citizenship It also provides a definition of learning as reformulation of habits which helps to understand the difficulties in promoting change This book will be of interest to scholars within the fields of development governance and educational philosophy Practitioners and policy makers working on inclusive citizenship and interventions to strengthen civil society will also find the concepts explored in this book useful to their work The Open Access version of this book available at <https://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9780429279171> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

The International Law of Human Trafficking Anne T. Gallagher, 2010-09-30 Although human trafficking has a long and ignoble history it is only recently that trafficking has become a major political issue for states and the international community and the subject of detailed international rules Anne T Gallagher calls on her direct experience working within the United Nations to chart the development of new international laws on this issue She links these rules to the international law of state responsibility as well as key norms of international human rights law transnational criminal law refugee law and international criminal law in the process identifying and explaining the major legal obligations of states with respect to preventing trafficking protecting and supporting victims and prosecuting perpetrators This book is a groundbreaking work a unique and valuable resource for policymakers advocates practitioners and scholars working in this controversial and important field Electronic Theft

Peter Grabosky, Russell G. Smith, Gillian Dempsey, 2001-04-02 When this book was first published in 2001 the convergence of communications and computing had begun to transform Western industrial societies Increasing connectivity was accompanied by unprecedented opportunities for crimes of acquisition The fundamental principle of criminology is that crime follows opportunity and opportunities for theft abound in the digital age Electronic Theft named described and analysed the range of electronic and digital theft and constituted the first major survey of the field The authors covered a broad list of electronic misdemeanours including extortion defrauding governments telephone fraud securities fraud deceptive advertising and other business practices industrial espionage intellectual property crimes and the misappropriation and unauthorised use of personal information They were able to capture impressively large amounts of data internationally from both scholarly and professional sources The book posed and attempted to answer some of the pressing questions to do with national sovereignty and enforceability of laws in 2001 Discourses of Development R. D. Grillo, R. L. Stirrat, 2020-12-23
Development is clearly a contentious concept It is common knowledge that there is frequently a troubling divide between what Western developers think development entails and how those people affected understand the ensuing processes By treating development as problematic this book seeks to generate new insights into the relationships between the various parties involved and to enhance understanding of the ways in which particular discourses of development are generated Authors raise provocative questions about the relationship of politics power ideology and rhetoric to the institutional practice of development These hegemonic considerations are shown to have a profound effect on the culture of aid and the interface between development personnel and those whom development is supposed to benefit Alternative Food Networks
Alessandro Corsi, Filippo Barbera, Egidio Dansero, Cristiana Peano, 2018-10-17 In recent years Alternative Food Networks AFNs have been a key issue both in the scientific community and in public debates This is due to their profound implications for rural development local sustainability and bio economics This edited collection discusses what the main determinants of the participation of operators both consumers and producers in AFNs are what the conditions for their sustainability are what their social and environmental effects are and how they are distributed geographically Further discussions include the effect of AFNs in structuring the food chain and how AFNs can be successfully scaled up The authors explicitly take an interdisciplinary approach to analyse AFNs from different perspectives using as an example the Italian region of Piedmont a particularly interesting case study due to the diffusion of AFNs in the area as well as due to the fact that it was in this region that the Slow Food movement originated African Intellectuals Thandika Mkandawire, 2005-05 This title provides a study of the African intelligentsia in Africa and the diaspora Tanzania Law Reports 1983-1997 Tanzania Law Reports Board, 1999-04-01 Until the publication of these law reports in 1999 little information on case law in Tanzania was available Published on behalf of the Tanzanian Government the reports are edited by a board headed by the Chief Justice of Tanzania
