Reimagining Textuality Textual Studies In The Late Age Of Print:

Reimagining Textuality Elizabeth Bergmann Loizeaux, Neil Fraistat, 2002 What happens when in the wake of postmodernism the old enterprise of bibliography textual criticism or scholarly editing crosses paths and processes with visual and cultural studies In Reimagining Textuality major scholars map out in this volume a new discipline drawing on and redirecting a host of subfields concerned with the production distribution reproduction consumption reception archiving editing and sociology of texts

Collaborative Translation Anthony Cordingley, Céline Frigau Manning, 2016-12-15 For centuries the art of translation has been misconstrued as a solitary affair Yet from Antiquity to the Middle Ages groups of translators comprised of specialists of different languages formed in order to transport texts from one language and culture to another Collaborative Translation uncovers the collaborative practices occluded in Renaissance theorizing of translation to which our individualist notions of translation are indebted Leading translation scholars as well as professional translators have been invited here to detail their experiences of collaborative translation as well as the fruits of their research into this neglected form of translation This volume offers in depth analysis of rich sometimes explosive relationships between authors and their translators Their negotiations of cooperation and control assistance and interference are shown here to shape the translation of prominent modern authors such as G nter Grass Vladimir Nabokov and Haruki Murakami The advent of printing the cultural institutions and the legal and political environment that regulate the production of translated texts have each formalized many of the inherently social and communicative practices of translation Yet this publishing regime has been profoundly disrupted by the technologies that are currently revolutionizing collaborative translation techniques This volume details the impact that this technological and environmental evolution is having upon the translator proliferating sites and communities of collaboration transforming traditional relationships with authors and editors revisers stage directors actors and readers

Genetic Criticism Dirk Van Hulle, 2022-02-24 In Genetic Criticism Dirk Van Hulle introduces the study of creative processes to an Anglophone audience As a method in the study of literary writing processes genetic criticism is also a reading strategy The idea behind this book is to introduce this strategy to a broader audience from interested readers and graduate students to early career researchers and literary critics In literary studies it is often obvious that a particular work somehow seems to hit a nerve but more challenging to pinpoint exactly why it works This book therefore starts from a clear basic assumption knowing how something was made can help us understand how and why it works This strategy is at the basis of many disciplines including art history By means of X ray technology or hyperspectral imaging it is possible to look at a painting as a multilayered object with not only spatial dimensions but also a temporal one This temporal dimension is the core of the reading strategy introduced in this book Note books marginalia manuscripts and typescripts even if one works with scans give a concrete dimension to literature which is a helpful reading strategy for many students On the one hand this involves concrete transferrable skills such as aspects of transcription and digital scholarly editing On the other hand it also involves more abstract theoretical issues relating to matters of authorship collaboration authority agency intention and intertextuality Introduction to Scholarship in Modern Languages and Literatures David G. Nicholls, 2015-01-01

The third edition of the MLA's widely used Introduction to Scholarship in Modern Languages and Literatures features sixteen new essays by leading scholars. Designed to highlight relations among languages and forms of discourse, the volume is organized into three sections. Understanding Language provides an overview of the field of linguistics with special attention to language acquisition and the social life of languages. Forming Texts offers tools for understanding how speakers and writers shape language; it examines scholarship in the distinct but interrelated fields of rhetoric, composition, and poetics. Reading Literature and Culture continues the work of the first two sections by introducing major areas of critical study. The nine essays in this section cover textual and historical scholarship, interpretation, comparative cultural and translation studies, and the interdisciplinary topics of gender, sexuality, race, and migrations, among others. As in previous volumes, an epilogue examines the role of the scholar in contemporary society. Each essay discusses the significance, underlying assumptions, and limits of an important field of inquiry; traces the historical development of its subject; introduces key terms; outlines modes of research now being pursued; postulates future developments; and provides a list of suggestions for further reading. This book will interest any member of the academic community seeking a review of recent scholarship, while it provides an indispensable resource for undergraduate and graduate students of modern languages and literatures. Supporting

Digital Humanities for Knowledge Acquisition in Modern Libraries Sacco, Kathleen L., 2015-06-25 Digital Humanities is a burgeoning field of research and education concerned with the intersection of technology and history, philosophy, linguistics, literature, music, cultural studies, and the arts. Supporting Digital Humanities for Knowledge Acquisition in Modern Libraries aims to stand at the forefront of this emerging discipline, targeting an audience of researchers and academicians with a special focus on the role of libraries and library staff. In addition to a collection of chapters on crucial issues surrounding the digital humanities, this volume also includes a fascinating account of the painstaking restoration efforts surrounding a 110-year-old handwritten historical source document, the results of which were never before published on this scale. Culminate in a full-color 70-page photographic reproduction of the 1904 Diary of Anna Clift Smith. Always Already New

Lisa Gitelman, 2008-08-29 Always Already New Lisa Gitelman explores the newness of new media while she asks what it means to do media history. Using the examples of early recorded sound and digital networks, Gitelman challenges readers to think about the ways that media work as the simultaneous subjects and instruments of historical inquiry. Presenting original case studies of Edison's first phonographs and the Pentagon's first distributed digital network, the ARPANET, Gitelman points suggestively toward similarities that underlie the cultural definition of records, phonographic and not at the end of the nineteenth century, and the definition of documents, digital and not at the end of the twentieth. As a result, Always Already New speaks to present concerns about the humanities as much as to the emergent field of new media studies. Records and documents are kernels of humanistic thought after all part of and party to the cultural impulse to preserve and interpret Gitelman s argument suggests inventive contexts for humanities computing while also offering a new perspective on such traditional humanities disciplines as literary history Making extensive use of archival sources Gitelman describes the ways in which recorded sound and digitally networked text each emerged as local anomalies that were yet deeply embedded within the reigning logic of public life and public memory In the end Gitelman turns to the World Wide Web and asks how the history of the Web is already being told how the Web might also resist history and how using the Web might be producing the conditions of its own historicity

Worlds Made Flesh Lauryn Mayer,2004-06-01 This book focuses on the use of the past in two senses First it looks at the way in which medieval texts from the eighth to the fifteenth centuries discussed the past how they presented history what kinds of historical narratives they employed and what anxieties gathered around the practice of historiography Second this study examines twentieth century interactions with this textual past and the problems that have arisen for critics trying to negotiate this radically different textual culture Lauryn Mayer examines chronicle histories that have been largely ignored by scholars bringing these neglected texts into dialogue with contemporaneous canonical works such as Troilus and Criseyde The House of Fame the Morte Darthur Beowulf and The Battle of Maldon

Yeats and the Visual Arts Elizabeth Bergmann Loizeaux,2003-03-01 This beautifully illustrated book traces W B Yeats s fascination with the visual arts from his early years which were strongly influenced by his father s paintings and the Pre Raphaelite brotherhood to his celebration in his old age of Greek sculpture Byzantine mosaics and Michaelangelo s art

Genetic Joyce Daniel Ferrer, 2023-05-30 An introduction to the fascinating world of Joyce's manuscripts This book shows how the creative process of modernist writer James Joyce can be reconstructed from his manuscripts Daniel Ferrer offers a practical demonstration of the theory of genetic criticism the study of the manuscript and textual development of a literary text Using a concrete approach focused on the materiality of Joyce's writing process Ferrer demonstrates how to recover the process of invention and its internal dynamics Using specific detailed examples Ferrer analyzes the part played by chance in Joyce's creative process the spatial dimension of writing the genesis of the Sirens episode and the transition from Ulysses to Finnegans Wake The book includes a study of Joyce's mysterious Finnegans Wake notebooks examining their strange form of intertextuality in light of Joyce's earlier forms of note taking Moving beyond the single author perspective Ferrer contrasts Joyce's notes alluding to Virginia Woolf's criticism of Ulysses with Woolf's own notes on the novel's first episodes Throughout this book Ferrer describes the logic of the creative process as seen in the record left by Joyce in notebooks drafts typescripts proofs correspondence early printed versions and other available documents Each change detected reveals a movement from one state to another a new direction challenging readers to understand the reasons for each movement and to appreciate the wealth of information to be found in Joyce's manuscripts A volume in the Florida James Joyce Series edited by Sam Slote

Francophone Cultures and Geographies of Identity Zsuzsanna Fagyal, H Adlai Murdoch, 2014-07-03 This collection of original essays challenges French centered conceptions of francophonie as the shaping force of the production and study of the French language literature culture film and art both inside and outside mainland France The traditional view of francophone cultural productions as offshoots of their hexagonal avatar is replaced by a pluricentric conception that reads interrelated aspects of francophonie as products of specific contexts conditions and local ecologies that emerged from post colonial encounters with France and other colonizing powers The twenty one papers grouped into six thematic parts focus on distinctive literary linguistic musical cinematographic and visual forms of expression in geographical areas long defined as the peripheries of the French speaking world the Caribbean the Indian Ocean the Maghreb sub Saharan Africa Quebec and hexagonal cities with a preponderance of immigrant populations These contested sites of French collective identity offer a rich formulation of distinctly local francophone identities that do not fit in with concepts of linguistic and ethnic exclusiveness but are consistent with a pluralistic demographic shift and the true face of Frenchness that is indeed plural

Keywords in Writing Studies is an exploration of the principal ideas and ideals of an emerging academic field as they are constituted by its specialized vocabulary A sequel to the 1996 work Keywords in Composition Studies this new volume traces the evolution of the field s lexicon taking into account the wide variety of theoretical educational professional and institutional developments that have redefined it over the past two decades Contributors address the development transformation and interconnections among thirty six of the most critical terms that make up writing studies Looking beyond basic definitions or explanations they explore the multiple layers of meaning within the terms that writing scholars currently use exchange and question Each term featured is a part of the general disciplinary parlance and each is a highly contested focal point of significant debates about matters of power identity and values Each essay begins with the assumption that its central term is important precisely because its meaning is open and multiplex Keywords in Writing Studies reveals how the key concepts in the field are used and even challenged rather than advocating particular usages and the particular vision of the field that they imply The volume will be of great interest to both graduate students and established scholars

Handbook of Stemmatalogy Philipp Roelli, 2020-09-07 Stemmatalogy studies aspects of textual criticism that use genealogical methods to analyse a set of copies of a text whose autograph has been lost This handbook is the first to cover the entire field encompassing both theoretical and practical aspects of traditional as well as modern digital methods and their history As an art ars stemmatalogy s main goal is editing and thus presenting to the reader a historical text in the most satisfactory way As a more abstract discipline scientia it is interested in the general principles of how texts change in the process of being copied Thirty eight experts from all of the fields involved have joined forces to write this handbook whose eight chapters cover material aspects of text traditions the genesis and methods of traditional Lachmannian textual criticism and the objections raised against it as well as modern digital methods used in the field The two concluding chapters take a closer look at how this approach towards texts and textual criticism has developed in some disciplines of textual scholarship and compare methods used in other fields that deal with descent with modification The handbook thus serves as an introduction to this interdisciplinary field      Genetic Criticism Jed Deppman, Daniel Ferrer, Michael Groden, 2004-04-14 A valuable introduction to the possibilities and perspectives opened up by the study of literary manuscripts and will leave readers curious to discover more about this important and growing field Romanic Review      Digital Scholarly Editing Matthew James Driscoll, Elena Pierazzo, 2016-08-15 This volume presents the state of the art in digital scholarly editing Drawing together the work of established and emerging researchers it gives pause at a crucial moment in the history of technology in order to offer a sustained reflection on the practices involved in producing editing and reading digital scholarly editions and the theories that underpin them The unrelenting progress of computer technology has changed the nature of textual scholarship at the most fundamental level the way editors and scholars work the tools they use to do such work and the research questions they attempt to answer have all been affected Each of the essays in Digital Scholarly Editing approaches these changes with a different methodological consideration in mind Together they make a compelling case for re evaluating the foundation of the discipline one that tests its assertions against manuscripts and printed works from across literary history and the globe The sheer breadth of Digital Scholarly Editing along with its successful integration of theory and practice help redefine a rapidly changing field as its firm grounding and future looking ambit ensure the work will be an indispensable starting point for further scholarship This collection is essential reading for editors scholars students and readers who are invested in the future of textual scholarship and the digital humanities      Graphic Design in Urban Environments Robert Harland, 2016-10-20 Graphic Design in Urban Environments introduces the idea of a category of designed graphic objects that significantly contribute to the functioning of urban systems These elements smaller than buildings are generally understood by urban designers to comprise such phenomena as sculpture clock towers banners signs large screens the portrayal of images on buildings through smart screens and other examples of what urban designers call urban objects The graphic object as it is defined here also refers to a range of familiar things invariably named in the literature as maps street numbers route signs bus placards signs architectural communication commercial vernacular outdoor publicity lettering banners screens traffic and direction signs and street furniture One can also add markings of a sports pitch lighting bollards even red carpets or well dressings By looking at the environment and design and deconstructing form and context relationships the defining properties and configurational patterns that make up graphic objects are shown in this book to link the smallest graphic detail e g the number 16 to larger symbolic statements e g the Empire State Building From a professional design practice perspective a cross section through type typographic graphic and

The Book as Artefact, Text and Border Anne Mette Hansen, 2005 Books do not just contain texts books themselves are cultural artefacts which convey many meanings in their own right meanings which interact with the texts they contain Awareness of the many significances of books as cultural and textual objects reshapes the traditional disciplines of textual theory analytic bibliography codicology and palaeography while the advent of electronic books and digital methods for representing print books is introducing a new dimension to our understanding Seven essays in this volume ranging over medieval Portuguese and Swedish manuscripts eighteenth century Icelandic editions Australian playtexts Thackeray and Anita Brookner and Stefan George consider these questions from the broad perspective of textual scholarship Texts may exist on the borderland of word and not word or they may spring from borderlands of nation or culture or they may be considered from the margins of neighbouring disciplines So readers must set the texts within contexts to see the play of text against border Essays in this volume explore different texts against varying backgrounds Pound's Cantos Joyce's Ulysses Trollope's An Eye for an Eye Woolf's The Waves while essays by McGann and

Lernout argue the dimensionality of text on the intersection of print and digital media Implicit in all these essays is the contention that textual scholarship must influence literary interpretation Two final essays focus directly on this in the cases of Melville's Moby Dick and Emily Dickinson's late fragments An extensive reviews section completes this volume
