Dew Marc Mulders, Wilma Sütö, Hans den Hartog Jager, Willem Jan Otten, 2005 Sir Charles Lyell 1797 1875 was one of the most renowned geologists of the nineteenth century His Principles of Geology also reissued in this series laid the foundations of evolutionary biology and greatly influenced Darwin Lyell s most important contribution to modern geology was his refining and popularising of the concept of uniformitarianism the idea that the earth has been formed through slow acting geological forces over billions of years These volumes first published in 1845 are the result of Lyell s 1841 lecture tour across the United States and Canada in the course of which he made many observations on the formation of the American landscape Using the popular format of a travel diary Lyell provides vivid and detailed descriptions of North American geology with discussions of important geological sites Volume 2 contains his travels in Canada      Stereosopic Conjunctions Paul Bogaers, 2016 Paul Bogaers describes his work metaphorically as thought photography Making use of a medium that excels in capturing the visible world Bogaers seeks to use that same medium in the capture of inner worlds Photographing the invisible how could that be accomplished Bogaers developed his own way He starts with collecting rather intuitively photographs from very different sources found snapshots postcards clippings from books and magazines and other found imagery Together with his self made photos which are usually taken without any idea beforehand these form a large collection of images which turns out to be a reservoir for his associative experiments In such experiments images are left free to meet each other in a multitude of surprising and evocative ways The most successful of these seem able to reveal to the viewer surprising new links and meanings A selection of 27 experimental photo conjunctions originally printed on black and white gelatine silver paper and reproduced in this book in a beautiful duotone offers an extraordinary view on Paul Bogaers recent surrealist work Brinkman's cumulatieve catalogus van boeken, en verder in den boekhandel

The Auto-Ethnographic Turn in Design Louise Schouwenberg, Michael Kaethler, 2022-02 The Auto Ethnographic Turn in Design is emerging from a growing recognition of design's capacity to make sense of one's world while at the same time to express and convey this personal insight or knowledge through rich layered and ultimately meaningful processes or objects Auto ethnographic design seeks to come to terms with one's context and self as well as the materiality that mediates these two In doing so it offers a vision of design that is free of commercial commissions assumed users' needs or well intentioned do-goodism and reveals a sincerity and genuine commitment in the process of design that is too often missing 00The book is divided between Ideas and Dialogues reflections and conversations between critics theorists educators and practitioners which ground conceptions of auto ethnography and the self and explore how experiences can be relevant and meaningful starting points for design and visual art and Projects and Practices which embody auto ethnographic qualities whereby design objects and practices are embedded with personal sentiments experiences desires fears and more
