Reinvigorating Faith In Communities:

Reinvigorating Faith in Communities Amy L. Sherman, 2002 This volume collects several of Amy Sherman's published and unpublished reflections on faith based welfare reform Part One establishes why public policy makers should care about the faith community including both a discussion of the specific contributions religious institutions are making to solve social problems and an analysis of how religious institutions are strengthening society's moral and cultural fiber Part Two describes models of faith in action giving a human face to the issue while reminding readers that the policy debate over faith based organizations is about improving service to the needy Later sections specifically address government faith collaboration highlighting general principles and specific lessons learned from a variety of efforts in the last five years concluding with specific recommendations for unleashing the power of faith based organizations

Faith-based Social Services Stephanie C. Boddie, Ram A. Cnaan, 2006 The Charitable Choice provision and the Bush Administration's National Faith Based Initiative have broadened the scope of social services delivered through faith based organizations There are expectations that these faith based social service providers will be more effective but how should that effectiveness be measured Faith Based Social Services Measures Assessments and Effectiveness explains the nature and quality of religion based social service delivery while serving as a point of reference for future research and work This unique source tackles the important complex issue of measuring the effectiveness of faith based social services in comparison to secular services while providing analysis of the latest available studies

Transforming Faith Communities Michael Ian Bochenski, 2017-09-28 Transforming Faith Communities draws upon a model for the church that combines congregationalism with a constructive approach to church state relationships within a vision for a renewed Christendom commended as a viable option for Christian mission in the twenty first century world Michael Ian Bochenski uses two movements to make his case sixteenth century Anabaptism and late twentieth century Latin American liberation theology Each movement is held up as a mirror to the other in a vision for the transformation of church and society that resonates powerfully with contemporary culture Outlining the development of radical religious communities Bochenski examines some of the factors that create world affirming Christian faith communities and explores many examples of effective and constructive engagement with church and society across the centuries

To Transform a City Eric Swanson, Sam Williams, 2010-09-07 To Transform a City is a timely compelling book that helps readers understand how to think about cities their own city and the broad strategies needed for kingdom impact The book begins with an overview of the importance of cities in the new day in which we live The authors address the process of transformation along with examples of where and how communities have been transformed throughout history After writing a persuasive chapter on kingdom thinking the authors unfold the meaning of the whole church the whole gospel and the whole city The book ends with the need for people of good faith to work together in the city with people of good will for the welfare of the city
