Hidden Data: The Blind Eye of Science Helene Z. Hill,2021-10-11 Dr Helene Hill learned this the hard way when she stumbled on evidence nearly two decades ago in a trash can that a young assistant in a colleagues lab was concealing his fabrication of data But neither the assistant s supervisor then an un tenured faculty member nor the university nor the government watch dog charged with investigating misconduct believed Hill The case dragged on for years and all the while science based on the original cooked study went on generating peer reviewed publications and 2 5 million dollars in new federal grants all based on the initial refusal to fully examine the evidence of misconduct In the end Hill lost a qui tem lawsuit as well as its appeal But the evidence in her statistical analysis points to the certainty that the data was cooked What Hill learned is that the scientific evidence of misconduct takes a back seat in the law to the process that defers to internal politics within universities including those like hers which are notoriously replete with illegal self dealing hand shake agreements and the promotion of morally bankrupt pursuit of funding and fame at the expense of research standards that protect human health and promote healing A-D, April 16-18, 1941 Parke-Bernet Galleries,1941 Author and Journalist ,1928
