Relating Narratives Storytelling And Selfhood:

Relating Narratives Adriana Cavarero, 2000 Drawing from a diverse array of thinkers from philosophical and literary traditions this text shows how narrative models can open new ways of thinking about formation of human identities

Horrorism Adriana Cavarero, 2009 Words like terrorism and war are no longer capable of encompassing the scope of contemporary violence With this book Cavarero effectively renders such terms obsolete She introduces a new word horrorism to capture the experience of violence

For More Than One Voice Adriana Cavarero, 2005 The human voice does not deceive The one who is speaking is inevitably revealed by the singular sound of her voice no matter what she says Starting from the given uniqueness of every voice Cavarero rereads the history of philosophy through its peculiar evasion of this embodied uniqueness

A Feminist Mythology Chiara Bottici, 2021-10-21 A Feminist Mythology takes us on a poetic journey through the canonical myths of femininity testing them from the point of view of our modern condition A myth is not an object but rather a process one that Chiara Bottici practises by exploring different variants of the myth of womanhood through first and third person prose and poetry We follow a series of myths that morph into each other disclosing ways of being woman that question inherited patriarchal orders In this metamorphic world story telling is not just a mix of narrative philosophical dialogues and metaphysical theorizing it is a current that traverses all of them by overflowing the boundaries it encounters In doing so A Feminist Mythology proposes an alternative writing style that recovers ancient philosophical and literary traditions from the pre Socratic philosophers and Ovid's Metamorphoses to the philosophical novellas and feminist experimental writings of the last century

The Narrative Subject Christina Schachtner, 2020-09-17 This open access book considers the stories of adolescents and young adults from different regions of the world who use digital media as instruments and stages for storytelling or who make the media the subject of story telling These narratives discuss interconnectedness self staging and managing boundaries From the perspective of media and cultural research they can be read as responses to the challenges of contemporary society Providing empirical evidence and thought provoking explanations this book will be useful to students and scholars who wish to uncover how ongoing processes of cultural transformation are reflected in the thoughts and feelings of the internet generation Everything I Don't Remember

Jonas Hassen Khemiri,2017-09-12 Everything I Don t Remember is a gripping tale about love and memory But it is also a story about a writer who by filling out the contours of Samuel s story is actually trying to grasp a truth about himself In the end what remains of all our fleeting memories And what is hidden behind everything we don t remember Discourse and

Bernauer, 2012-12-06 The title of our collection is owed to Hannah Arendt herself Writing to Karl Jaspers on August 6 1955 she spoke of how she had only just begun to really love the world and expressed her desire to testify to that love in the title of what came to be published as The Human Condition Out of gratitude I want to call my book about political theories Amor Mundi t In retrospect it was fitting that amor mundi love of the world never became the title of only one of Arendt's studies for it is the theme which permeates all of her thought. The purpose of this volume's articles is to pay a critical tribute to this theme by exploring its meaning, the cultural and intellectual sources from which it derives as well as its resources for contemporary thought and action. We are privileged to include as part of the collection two previously unpublished lectures by Arendt as well as a rarely noticed essay which she wrote in 1964. Taken together they engrave the central features of her vision of amor mundi. Arendt presented Labor Work Action on November 10, 1964 at a conference Christianity and Economic Man: Moral Decisions in an Affluent Society which was held at the Divinity School of the University of Chicago.

Reconsidering Dementia Narratives REBECCA.

BITENC, 2023-05-31 Reconsidering Dementia Narratives explores the role of narrative in developing new ways of understanding interacting with and caring for people with dementia. It asks how the stories we tell about dementia in fiction, life writing and film both reflect and shape the way we think about this important condition. Highlighting the need to attend to embodied and relational aspects of identity in dementia, the study further outlines ways in which narratives may contribute to dementia care while disputing the idea that the modes of empathy fostered by narrative necessarily bring about more humane care practices. This cross-medial analysis represents an interdisciplinary approach to dementia narratives which range across autobiography, graphic narrative, novel, film, documentary and collaborative storytelling practices. The book aims to clarify the limits and affordances of narrative and narrative studies in relation to an ethically driven medical humanities agenda through the use of case studies. Answering the key question of whether dementia narratives align with or run counter to the dominant discourse of dementia as loss of self, this innovative book will be of interest to anyone interested in dementia studies, ageing studies, narrative studies in health care and critical medical humanities.

The Words of Selves Denise

Riley, 2000 In this extended meditation on the language of the self within contemporary social politics, the author ponders the question: What does it matter what you say about yourself? She studies why the requirement to be a something or other should be so hard to satisfy in a manner that rings true in the ears of its own subject.

Letting Stories Breathe Arthur W.

Frank, 2010-11-15 Stories accompany us through life from birth to death. But they do not merely entertain, inform or distress us; they show us what counts as right or wrong and teach us who we are and who we can imagine being. Stories connect people but they can also disconnect, creating boundaries between people and justifying violence. In Letting Stories Breathe, Arthur W. Frank grapples with this fundamental aspect of our lives, offering both a theory of how stories shape us and a useful method for analyzing them. Along the way, he also tells stories from folktales to research interviews to remembrances. Frank's unique approach uses literary concepts to ask social scientific questions: how do stories make life good and when do they endanger it? Going beyond theory, he presents a thorough introduction to dialogical narrative analysis, analyzing modes of interpretation, providing specific questions to start analysis and describing different forms analysis can take. Building on his renowned work exploring the relationship between narrative and illness, Letting Stories Breathe expands Frank's horizons.
