The Politics of Divination Eugene L. Mendonsa, 2000-09 The Politics of Divination first published in 1982 was a ground breaking work in the political economy of an African culture the Sisala of Northern Ghana The author shows how elders use divination as a political tool to control the behavior of women and young men Gerontocratic control through ritual means is an attempt by elders to dominate the economic activities of youthful men and the production and reproduction of women Yet the elders are not entirely successful in such attempts and their efforts at social control sometimes have less than altruistic motives as the many cases in the book show The author presents divination and ancestral sacrifice in a processual view Within the context of the divinatory process strategizing elders work and rework the rules of their society to deal with real life situations illness misfortune and death Like many other Africans the Sisala believe that such misfortunes are ultimately caused by ancestral anger which can be seen as a reflection of social tension and conflict among the living Divination points out deviants in the family who are poised as the cause of such misfortunes and this conflict is rectified through ancestral propitiation via blood sacrifice on family shrines Capitalism, Dependency and Ultra-Imperialism Hartmut Elsenhans, 2023-10-13 This book assembles main contributions to an alternative explanation of globalisation and the political economic structures of the international system As the result of capitalism globalisation does not transfer basic capitalist structures from the Centre to the Periphery Capitalism is based on rising mass incomes that create investment opportunities and thus the possibility of profit A structurally homogeneous and ultraimperialist Centre dominates a deeply fissured Periphery of structurally heterogeneous societies and economies Capitalism penetrates underdeveloped regions and deforms them through rent which obstructs expanding internal mass markets while labour goes unempowered Rent constitutes the basis for state operations and the role of emerging state classes While globalisation disempowers labour in both the West and in the South it has given new comparative advantage to the South The shift from rent appropriation in the South via raw material exports to export led manufacturing is based on devaluation below purchasing power parity and hence on a rent from agriculture that is based on the Green Revolution Its impact is however not always sufficient to compensate for the loss of influence experienced by social reformist forces A novel multipolar system based on the balance power has emerged Multiethnic empires are held together with large varieties of however always identitarian ideologies This global system is composed of powers that are internally and externally opposed to peaceful change Across the globe there is an impending danger of globalisation of rent Print edition not for sale in South Asia India Sri Lanka Nepal Bangladesh Pakistan and Bhutan

Capitalism and Colonial Production Hamza Alavi, P.L. Burns, G.R. Knight, P.B. Mayer, Doug McEachern, 2023-05-03 Capitalism and Colonial Production 1982 examines the ways in which capitalism has transformed the societies it came to dominate and the link between colonialism and capitalism These essays confront the complex of issues using as material the various countries in Asia They advance the debate by reconsidering the problems involved by identifying pre colonial modes of production and by analysing the precise details of the changes wrought by colonial domination They argue that capitalism does not in these countries co exist side by side with feudalism but that colonialism has created distinctive forms of capitalism depending for their character on pre colonial modes of production
