Relaxation A Comprehensive Manual For Adults Children And Children With Special Needs:

Relaxation Joseph R. Cautela, June Groden, 1978 This unique contribution to the field of relaxation training presents 1 self relaxation techniques designed for adults 2 methods for teaching relaxation to adults and older children and 3 procedures for teaching relaxation to young children and children with developmental disabilities The clear concise text is supplemented by over 100 helpful illustrations

Relaxation June Groden, Leslie Weidenman, Amy Diller, 2016-07-20 This new expanded edition focuses on teaching relaxation procedures to an often underserved and overlooked population individuals with autism and other developmental disabilities Drawing on their 35 years of experience with these individuals the authors provide numerous illustrations and simple descriptions of relaxation procedures so therapists parents and teachers can without prior training learn relaxation themselves and teach it to others

Girls Growing Up on the Autism Spectrum Shana Nichols, 2009-01-15 This book covers the concerns faced by girls with ASDs and their parents from periods and puberty to friendships and fitting in Looking at these issues within the context of specific areas of difficulty for girls with ASDs the authors provide families with the knowledge and advice they need to help the whole family through the teenage years

A Comprehensive Guide to Child Psychotherapy and Counseling Christiane Brems, 2008-03-19 Christiane Brems an experienced clinician supervisor and educator presents a metatheoretical yet practical guide to working with children ages 3 to 12 years She draws heavily on developmental interpersonal family systems and self psychological schools of thought and integrates the core components of all of these approaches in a clear and concise manner She stresses the need for intensive assessment to precede conceptualization and treatment planning so that treatment techniques are dictated by the needs of each child and family Brems has contoured the third edition to meet the practical needs and expectations of students and practitioners Divided among four sections the chapters follow the logical development of clinicians mirroring the natural flow of work with children from the practitioners self exploration to learning about special aspects of children such as diversity and development to awareness about the special needs and demands of children as related to environmental legal and ethical issues Brems prepares clinicians to discover their own personal traits that may facilitate or hinder their work with children She walks child therapists and counselors through the initial stages of intake assessment and conceptualization The material on assessment instruments is thoroughly updated discussions refer to the latest versions of instruments and if new instruments emerged that meet one of the purposes deemed essential to child treatment they are included The text contains case examples each illustrating a specific therapeutic technique

Principles of Psychotherapy with Children John M. Reisman, Sheila Ribordy, 1993

Programming Effective Human Services Walter Christian, 2012-12-06 Human service programming has been the focus of much public scrutiny legislative action and applied research in recent years As a result human service providers have learned to exhibit greater respect for the needs and legal rights of their consumers the appropriateness and cost effectiveness of treatment procedures and service programs and the personnel and facilities involved in providing services to consumers Despite this encouraging trend many human service agencies are still trying unsuccessfully to meet the two fundamental criteria of effective programming 1 providing services that are effective in meeting the needs of the consumer and 2 equipping consumers to function independently of the human service system to the extent possible For example there appears to be a general acceptance of the notion that custodial institutional service programs are needed despite the fact that they are ineffective in rehabilitating and transitioning clients to the community and that they are difficult to change In addition although community based service programs have been developed as alternatives to institutional placement there is rarely sufficient transitional planning and programming to facilitate the client's progress from the institution to the community Although these problems generally are acknowledged most human service managers and practitioners are ill equipped to deal with them Specifically the technology of human service management is in need of improvement It is more theoretical than practical and it lacks sufficient field testing and empirical validation

Understanding and Treating Self-Injurious Behavior in Autism Stephen M.
