Region at Risk: the Third Regional Plan for the New York-New Jersey-Connecticut Metropolitan Area Robert D. and Tony Hiss Yaro, Regional Visionaries and Metropolitan Boosters Matthew Dalbey, 2012-12-06 This book is an examination of two conflicting regional planning ideologies and the impact of this conflict on the development of two regional parkways I hypothesize that regional parkways of the 1920s and 1930s emerged out of these two visions of regional planning regionalism and metropolitanism The regional view coalesced around the work of Benton MacKaye Lewis Mumford and the Regional Planning Association of America The metropolitan viewpoint while less definable grew out of the market oriented economic boosterism efforts associated with early twentieth century planning This view found literal and philosophical support with Thomas Adams and the Regional Plan of New York and Its Environs In an effort to flesh out the competing theories and the development of the regional parkway I discuss the history of the Skyline Drive and the proposed Green Mountain Parkway In addition to supplementing the planning history and theory literature I try to inform on issues important to the contemporary planning profession The regional visionaries viewed their regional work as a social reform effort The metropolitanists wanted to tweak the market so as to provide for a minimized congestion and economic hardship for the greatest number of citizens This vision versus reality still troubles the profession today especially in the areas of sustainable development growth management and smart growth Matthew Dalbey Jackson Mississippi March 2002 Chapter 1

Decentralization and Regional Planning Practical and Ideological Problems 1 A Region at Risk Robert Yaro, Tony Hiss, 1996 Regional Plan Association the nation's oldest regional planning organization has worked since 1929 to improve the quality of life in the New York New Jersey Connecticut metropolitan area The Association has crafted two long term plans and successfully promoted their implementation through advocacy and coalition building The Association's Third Regional Plan describes a series of key initiatives aimed at not only improving quality of life but also at increasing economic competitiveness encouraging more sustainable patterns of growth and expanding opportunities and choice in employment housing and community The Plan presents five major campaigns each of which combines the goals of economic equity and environmental improvements They are Greensward to protect and restore large natural resource systems at the periphery of urbanized areas Centers to recenter regions that have experienced decades of sprawl growth Mobility to transform existing transit infrastructure to create a regional express rail network that would dramatically improve public transit reduce highway congestion and speed freight movement Workforce to provide the region's workforce with the skills and opportunities needed to participate in the economy of the future Governance to rationalize the activities of existing authorities encourage service sharing among municipal governments and encourage more effective state and regional land use planning programs While focusing on the New York New Jersey Connecticut metropolitan area the Plan's broad themes have universal applicability to regions throughout the industrialized world Governing Metropolitan Areas David K.

Hamilton,2014-04-24 Interest and research on regionalism has soared in the last decade Local governments in metropolitan areas and civic organizations are increasingly engaged in cooperative and collaborative public policy efforts to solve problems that stretch across urban centers and their surrounding suburbs Yet there remains scant attention in textbooks to the issues that arise in trying to address metropolitan governance Governing Metropolitan Areas describes and analyzes structure to understand the how and why of regionalism in our global age The book covers governmental institutions and their evolution to governance but with a continual focus on institutions David Hamilton provides the necessary comprehensive in depth description and analysis of how metropolitan areas and governments within metropolitan areas developed efforts to restructure and combine local governments and governance within the polycentric urban region This second edition is a major revision to update the scholarship and current thinking on regional governance While the text still provides background on the historical development and growth of urban areas and governments efforts to accommodate the growth of metropolitan areas this edition also focuses on current efforts to provide governance through cooperative and collaborative solutions There is also now extended treatment of how regional governance outside the United States has evolved and how other countries are approaching regional governance     Planning Canadian Regions Gerald Hodge,Ira M. Robinson,2007-10-01 Planning Canadian Regions is the first book to consolidate the history evolution current practice and future prospects for regional planning in Canada As planners grapple with challenges wrought by globalization the evolution of massive new city regions and the pressures for sustainable and community economic development a deeper understanding of Canada s approaches is invaluable Hodge and Robinson identify the intellectual and conceptual foundations of regional planning and review the history and main modes of regional planning for rural regions economic development regions resource development regions and metropolitan and city regions They draw lessons from Canada s past experience and conclude by proposing a new paradigm addressing the needs of regional planning now and in the future emphasizing regional governance greater inclusiveness and integration of physical planning with planning for economic sustainability and natural ecosystems Planning Canadian Regions will be a much needed text for students and teachers of regional planning and an indispensable reference for planning practitioners It will also find a receptive audience in such disciplines as urban planning environmental studies geography political science public administration and economics     Gotham Unbound Ted Steinberg,2014-06-03 Winner of the 2015 PROSE Award for US History A fascinating encyclopedic history of greater New York City through an ecological lens Publishers Weekly starred review the sweeping story of one of the most man made spots on earth Gotham Unbound recounts the four century history of how hundreds of square miles of open marshlands became home to six percent of the nation s population Ted Steinberg brings a vanished New York back to vivid rich life You will see the metropolitan area anew not just as a dense urban goliath but as an estuary once home to miles of oyster reefs wolves whales and blueberry bogs That world gave way to an onslaught managed by thousands from Governor John Montgomerie who turned water into land and John Randel who imposed a grid on Manhattan to Robert Moses Charles Urstadt Donald Trump and Michael Bloomberg Weighty and wonderful Resting on a sturdy foundation of research and imagination Steinberg's volume begins with Henry Hudson's arrival aboard the Half Moon in 1609 and ends with another transformative event Hurricane Sandy in 2012 The Plain Dealer Cleveland This book is a powerful account of the relentless development that New Yorkers wrought as they plunged headfirst into the floodplain and transformed untold amounts of salt marsh and shellfish beds into a land jam packed with people asphalt and steel and the reeds and gulls that thrive among them With metropolitan areas across the globe on a collision course with rising seas Gotham Unbound helps explain how one of the most important cities in the world has ended up in such a perilous situation Steinberg challenges the conventional arguments that geography is destiny And he makes the strong case that for all the ecological advantages of urban living hyperdensity by itself is not necessarily a sound environmental strategy The New York Times Empire City Kenneth T. Jackson, David S. Dunbar, 2002 This major anthology brings together the best literary writing about New York from O Henry Theodore Dreiser F Scott Fitzgerald and John Steinbeck to Paul Auster and James Baldwin Building Suburbia Dolores Hayden, 2009-11-04 A lively and provocative history of the contested landscapes where the majority of Americans now live From rustic cottages reached by steamboat to big box stores at the exit ramps of eight lane highways Dolores Hayden defines seven eras of suburban development since 1820 An urban historian and architect she portrays housewives and politicians as well as designers and builders making the decisions that have generated America's diverse suburbs Residents have sought home nature and community in suburbia Developers have cherished different dreams seeking profit from economies of scale and increased suburban densities while lobbying local and federal government to reduce the risk of real estate speculation Encompassing environmental controversies as well as the complexities of race gender and class Hayden's fascinating account will forever alter how we think about the communities we build and inhabit Growing Up Global Cindi Katz, 2004 Print begr nsninger Der kan printes 10 sider ad gangen og max 40 sider pr session High Technology and Low-income Communities Donald A. Schön, Bishwapriya Sanyal, William John Mitchell, 1999 How will low income communities be affected by the waves of social economic political and cultural change that surround the new information technologies How can we influence the outcome This action oriented book identifies the key issues explores the evidence and suggests some answers Avoiding both utopianism and despair the book presents the voices of technology enthusiasts and skeptics as well as social activists The book is organized into three parts Part I examines the issues in their socio technical economic and historical contexts Part II the core of the book proposes five initiatives for using computers and electronic communications to benefit low income urban communities to provide access to the new technologies in ways that enable low income people to become active producers rather than passive users to use the new technologies to improve the dialogue between public agencies and low income neighborhoods to help low income youth to exploit the entrepreneurial potential of information technologies to develop approaches to education that take advantage of the educational capabilities of the computer to promote the community computer applications of computers and communications technology that foster community development Part III presents a synthesis of the various topics Its main questions are What are the prospects and problems of initiatives to enable the poor to benefit from the new technologies and What federal state and municipal policies would enhance the prospects for success Contributors Alice Amsden Jeanne Bamberger Anne Beamish Manuel Castells Joseph Ferreira Peter Hall Leo Marx William J Mitchell Mitchel Resnick Bish Sanyal Donald A Sch n Alan and Michelle Shaw Michael Shiffer Bruno Tardieu Sherry Turkle Julian Wolpert

Complex Artificial Environments Juval Portugali,2006-01-19 Juval Portugali The notion of complex artificial environments CAE refers to theories of complexity and self organization as well as to artifacts in general and to artificial environments such as cities in particular The link between the two however is not trivial For one thing the theories of complexity and self organization originated in the hard science and by reference to natural phenomena in physics and biology The study of artifacts per contra has traditionally been the business of the soft disciplines in the humanities and social sciences The notion of complex artificial environments thus implies the supposition that the theories of complexity and self organization together with the mathematical formalisms and methodologies developed for their study apply beyond the domain of nature Such a position raises a whole set of questions relating to the nature of 21 century cities and urbanism to philosophical issues regarding the natural versus the artificial to the methodological legitimacy of interdisciplinary transfer of theories and methodologies and to the implications that entail the use of sophisticated state of the art artifacts such as virtual reality VR cities and environments The three day workshop on the study of complex artificial environments that took place on the island of San Servolo Venice during April 1-3 2004 was a gathering of scholars engaged in the study of the various aspects of CAE

Designing Small Parks Ann Forsyth,Laura Musacchio,2005-10-24 Designing Small Parks A Manual for Addressing Social and Ecological Concerns provides guidelines for building better parks by integrating design criteria with current social and natural science research Small parks are too often relegated to being the step child of municipal and metropolitan open space systems because of assumptions that their small size and isolation limits their recreational capacity and makes them ecologically less valuable than large city and county parks This manual is arranged around twelve topics that represent key questions contradictions or tensions in the design of small parks Topics cover fundamental issues for urban parks natural systems and human aspects Also included are useful case studies with alternative design solutions using three different approaches for integrating research findings into small urban park design

Radical Relevance Laura Gray-Rosendale,Steven Rosendale,2012-02-01 Exemplifies the struggles of scholars to work toward a more shared agenda for social change In an effort to rethink the left this interdisciplinary collection weaves together some of today's most powerful voices in contemporary left critical thought as they examine the fragmentation of American movements for social change evaluate what critical scholarship might contribute to the task of renewing or creating a more unified and efficacious left and explore the left's possibly inadequate dealings with many marginalized groups. Representing a diverse range of theoretical perspectives within several textual disciplines, the essays assess historical, practical, or speculative models for a whole left constituted by a broad range of complexly interwoven interests including issues of class, environment, gender, sexuality, disability, race, and ethnicity. The book exemplifies the struggles of scholars to work toward a more shared agenda for social change. At Northern Arizona University, Laura Gray Rosendale and Steven Rosendale are Associate Professors of English. Gray Rosendale is the coeditor with Gil Harootunian of Fractured Feminisms: Rhetoric, Context, and Contestation and the coeditor with Sibylle Gruber of Alternative Rhetorics: Challenges to the Rhetorical Tradition, both also published by SUNY Press. Rosendale is the editor of The Greening of Literary Scholarship: Literature Theory and the Environment. Concrete and Clay Matthew Gandy, 2003-08-29 An interdisciplinary account of the environmental history and changing landscape of New York City. In this innovative account of the urbanization of nature in New York City, Matthew Gandy explores how the raw materials of nature have been reworked to produce a metropolitan nature distinct from the forms of nature experienced by early settlers. The book traces five broad developments: the expansion and redefinition of public space; the construction of landscaped highways; the creation of a modern water supply system; the radical environmental politics of the barrio in the late 1960s and early 1970s; and the contemporary politics of the environmental justice movement. Drawing on political economy, environmental studies, social theory, cultural theory, and architecture, Gandy shows how New York's environmental history is bound up not only with the upstate landscapes that stretch beyond the city's political boundaries but also with more distant places that reflect the nation's colonial and imperial legacies. Using the shifting meaning of nature under urbanization as a framework, he looks at how modern nature has been produced through interrelated transformations ranging from new water technologies to changing fashions in landscape design. Throughout, he considers the economic and ideological forces that underlie phenomena as diverse as the location of parks and the social stigma of dirty neighborhoods. Collaborative Land Use Management Robert J. Mason, 2008 Collaborative Land Use Management: The Quieter Revolution in Place-Based Planning discusses the less regulatory approaches to land use management that have emerged over the past 35 years, analyzing the collective value of such place-based planning approaches as land trusts, open space ballot measures, watershed conservancies, ecoregional plans, and smart growth initiatives. Collaborative Land Use Management appraises these trends from physical, social, economic, civic, and environmental justice perspectives. The Profession of City Planning Lloyd Rodwin, 2017-09-29 In thirty-four provocative and insightful chapters, the nation's leading planners present a definitive assessment of fifty years of city planning and establish a benchmark for the profession for the next fifty years. The book appraises what planners do and how well they do it, how and why their current activities differ from past practices, and how much and in what ways planners have or have not enhanced the quality of urban life and contributed to the intellectual capital of the field. How have the goals, values, and practices of planners changed? What do planners say about their roles and the problems they confront What is the relevance of their skills from design capabilities and environmental savvy to intermediate and long term perspectives and the pragmatics of implementation The contributors seeking to answer these questions include Anthony Downs Nathan Glazer Philip B Herr Judith E Innes Terry S Szold Lawrence J Vale and Sam Bass Warner Jr The Profession of City Planning contrasts with the main changes in the US over the second half of the twentieth century in city planning Sector images of the practice and effects of planning on housing transportation and the environment as well as the development of economic tools are also discussed

Understanding Metropolitan Landscapes Andrew MacKenzie, 2019-10-02 Understanding Metropolitan Landscapes considers and reflects on the fundamental relationships between metropolitan regions and their landscapes It investigates how planning and policy help to protect manage and enhance the landscapes that sustain our urban settlements As global populations become more metropolitan landscapes evolve to become increasingly dynamic and entropic and the distinction between urban and non urban is further fragmented and yet these spaces play an increasingly important role in sustainable development This book opens a key critical discussion into the relational aspects of city and landscape and how each element shapes the boundaries of the other covering topics such as material natures governance systems processes and policy It presents a compendium of concepts and ideas that have emerged from landscape architecture planning and environmental policy and landscape management Using a range of illustrated case studies it provokes discussions on the major themes driving the growth of cities by exploring the underlying tensions around notions of sustainable settlement climate change adaption urban migration new modes of governance and the role of landscape in policy and decision making at national provincial and municipal levels

Fuzzy Logic in Smart Sustainable Cities Bhupinder Singh, Christian Kaunert, Komal Vig, 2025-06-04 This book focuses on fuzzy logic a paradigm shifting approach that challenges the binary simplicity of traditional logic systems The concept of fuzzy logics is a powerful tool capable of handling imprecise information and accommodating the vagaries of real world scenarios This marks the beginning of a journey that explores how fuzzy logics can bridge gaps and fills voids in our current strategies for achieving sustainable development goals relating to sustainable cities With regard to issues such as water scarcity energy affordability and urban sustainability the traditional linear approaches often fall short in capturing their complex dynamic and uncertain nature Fuzzy logics with their ability to handle imprecise information and uncertainties emerge as a promising tool for navigating the intricate web of variables that influence the attainment of these sustainable development goals This book bridges the gap between conventional disciplines such as engineering environmental science and urban planning by incorporating fuzzy logic ideas into talks on sustainable cities and offers insights into resource allocation strategies that will successfully lead to the intended sustainability goals by using models based on fuzzy logic It also examines how fuzzy logic adjusts to changing circumstances so that suggested fixes are still applicable in the long run

The Neoliberal City Jason Hackworth, 2014-01-15 The shift in the ideological winds toward a free market economy has brought profound effects in urban areas The Neoliberal City presents an overview of the effect of these changes on today's cities The term neoliberalism was originally used in reference to a set of practices that first world institutions like the IMF and World Bank impose on third world countries and cities The support of unimpeded trade and individual freedoms and the discouragement of state regulation and social spending are the putative centerpieces of this vision More and more though people have come to recognize that first world cities are undergoing the same processes In The Neoliberal City Jason Hackworth argues that neoliberal policies are in fact having a profound effect on the nature and direction of urbanization in the United States and other wealthy countries and that much can be learned from studying its effect He explores the impact that neoliberalism has had on three aspects of urbanization in the United States governance urban form and social movements The American inner city is seen as a crucial battle zone for the wider neoliberal transition primarily because it embodies neoliberalism's antithesis Keynesian egalitarian liberalism Focusing on issues such as gentrification in New York City public housing policy in New York Chicago and Seattle downtown redevelopment in Phoenix and urban landscape change in New Brunswick NJ Hackworth shows us how material and symbolic changes to institutions neighborhoods and entire urban regions can be traced in part to the rise of neoliberalism

Unsettled Americans John Mollenkopf, Manuel Pastor, 2016-04-04 The politics of immigration have heated up in recent years as Congress has failed to adopt comprehensive immigration reform the President has proposed executive actions and state and local governments have responded unevenly and ambivalently to burgeoning immigrant communities in the context of a severe economic downturn Moreover we have witnessed large shifts in the locations of immigrants and their families between and within the metropolitan areas of the United States Charlotte North Carolina may be a more active and dynamic immigrant destination than Chicago Illinois while the suburbs are receiving ever more immigrants The work of John Mollenkopf Manuel Pastor and their colleagues represents one of the first systematic comparative studies of immigrant incorporation at the metropolitan level They consider immigrant reception in seven different metro areas and their analyses stress the differences in capacity and response between central cities down at the heels suburbs and outer metropolitan areas as well as across metro areas A key feature of case studies in the book is their inclusion of not only traditional receiving areas New York Chicago and Los Angeles but also newer ones Charlotte Phoenix San Jose and California's Inland Empire Another innovative aspect is that the authors link their work to the new literature on regional governance contribute to emerging research on spatial variations within metropolitan areas and highlight points of intersection with the longer term processes of immigrant integration Contributors Els de Graauw CUNY Juan De Lara University of Southern California Jaime Dominguez Northwestern University Diana Gordon CUNY Michael Jones Correa Cornell University Paul Lewis Arizona State University Doris Marie Provine Arizona State University John Mollenkopf CUNY Manuel Pastor University of Southern California Rachel Rosner independent consultant Florida Jennifer Tran City of San Francisco
