Regional Economic Outlook, October 2015: Western Hemisphere

Department International Monetary Fund. Western Hemisphere Dept.,2015-10-07 Economies in the Western Hemisphere are generally seeing a slowdown in growth The U S economy regained momentum after a slow start at the beginning of the year while in Latin America and the Caribbean economic activity continues to decelerate Stronger U S growth should benefit countries in the region especially those with tighter links through trade remittances and tourism Mexico Central America and the Caribbean Weaker commodity prices for the foreseeable future however will continue to hurt South America s net commodity exporters lowering national incomes reducing investment and worsening fiscal balances These developments could in turn impede progress made in recent years in poverty reduction These developments could in turn impede progress made in recent years in poverty reduction Key risks including an abrupt tightening of U S interest rates or a further slowdown in China may disproportionately affect Latin America Chapters in this report examine monetary policy in Latin America including the region s exposure to global financial shocks the role of value chains and regional trade agreements in fostering trade integration and financial market development in the region

Rural Wealth Creation John L. Pender,Bruce A. Weber,Thomas G. Johnson,J. Matthew Fannin,2014-06-05 This book investigates the role of wealth in achieving sustainable rural economic development The authors define wealth as all assets net of liabilities that can contribute to well being and they provide examples of many forms of capital physical financial human natural social and others They propose a conceptual framework for rural wealth creation that considers how multiple forms of wealth provide opportunities for rural development and how development strategies affect the dynamics of wealth They also provide a new accounting framework for measuring wealth stocks and flows These conceptual frameworks are employed in case study chapters on measuring rural wealth and on rural wealth creation strategies Rural Wealth Creation makes numerous contributions to research on sustainable rural development Important distinctions are drawn to help guide wealth measurement such as the difference between the wealth located within a region and the wealth owned by residents of a region and privately owned versus publicly owned wealth

Case study chapters illustrate these distinctions and demonstrate how different forms of wealth can be measured. Several key hypotheses are proposed about the process of rural wealth creation and these are investigated by case study chapters assessing common rural development strategies such as promoting rural energy industries and amenity based development. Based on these case studies a typology of rural wealth creation strategies is proposed and an approach to mapping the potential of such strategies in different contexts is demonstrated. This book will be relevant to students, researchers and policy makers looking at rural community development, sustainable economic development and wealth measurement.

The Political Economy of Underdevelopment in Sub-Saharan Africa Christopher E.S. Warburton, 2024-10-14. This book provides a unique combination of history, politics and economics to rationalize the progression of underdevelopment in Sierra Leone and the challenges of economic growth and development confronting some Sub-Saharan African countries. It concisely presents the internal frictions that are most responsible for the underdevelopment of Sierra Leone since 1961, while also benchmarking the performance of the country with some countries in the subregion: Europe, the US, Latin America and Asia. It highlights the external threats that are highly capable of stifling the economic growth and sustainable development of the country, including sovereign debt, the paucity of human capital, the use of natural resources and external shocks. The central concepts of analysis include the premise for underdevelopment contexts for business strategies and rivalry in an underdeveloped economy, economic growth, productivity, sustainable development, international trade and threats to macroeconomic stability in the form of volatile commodity prices, loss of competitiveness, inaccessible foreign markets, deficient healthcare infrastructure, the cost of unsustainable sovereign debt and the viability of long term investments. The book has been intentionally developed for all those who are strongly interested in the political economy of Sub-Saharan Africa, with particular emphasis on Sierra Leone, empirical work on economic growth and development, academic instruction on international political economy, international organizations and policymakers.

International Handbook of Development Economics Amitava Krishna Dutt, Jaime Ros, 2008-01-01. The essays are concise yet comprehensive and each essay contains a substantial set of references which an interested researcher or student could follow up. In addition to representing multidisciplinary interactions, this collection encompasses several different perspectives within development economics so the reader can learn, for example, both about neoclassical approaches and dependency theories in the same volume. This makes the collection unique and all the more valuable. This is a very good reference collection as the individual essays are informative and provide a good overall perspective on the topic that they set out to address. The extensive bibliography at the end of each essay adds further value to this collection.

Ashwini Deshpande, Economic and Political Weekly. These new volumes impress along two dimensions. First, they highlight important connections between economic development and variables such as culture, warfare and ethnicity which are sometimes ignored by mainstream economists. Second, they analyze the economic development experience of different regions such as Africa, Latin America and East Asia, a valuable reference for scholars and practitioners in the field Highly recommended H A Faruq Choice This two volume original reference work provides a comprehensive overview of development economics and comprises contributions by some of the leading scholars working in the field Authors are drawn from around the world and write on a wide range of topics After providing an introduction to the subject by examining issues like the meaning and measurement of development historical and interdisciplinary approaches empirical regularities and data problems the contributors provide a wealth of perspectives on and analyses of development economics They discuss alternative approaches to development the macroeconomics of growth factors and sources of economic development such as capital labor entrepreneurship resources and technology major sectors of concern such as agriculture industry services and the informal sector and international issues such as trade capital and labor flows and technology transfers Income distribution and poverty the state and other institutions and actual development experiences are explored The contributors provide analytical contributions as well as the relation between these contributions and real world and policy issues from a variety of alternative perspectives Scholars students policymakers and other development practitioners will all find this comprehensive reference invaluable Handbook of Regional

Innovation and Growth Philip Cooke,Bjørn Asheim,Ron Boschma,Ron Martin,Dafna Schwartz,Franz Tötting,2011-01-01

Today economic growth is widely understood to be conditioned by productivity increases which are in turn profoundly affected by innovation This volume explores these key relationships between innovation and growth bringing together experts from both fields to compile a unique Handbook The Handbook considers innovation from fresh perspectives encompassing topics such as services innovation inward investment and innovation creative industry innovation and green innovation It is divided into seven sections dealing with regional innovation and growth theory dynamics evolution agglomeration innovation worlds innovation system institutions and innovation governance and policy This definitive compendium on regional innovation and growth will undoubtedly appeal to teachers students researchers and practitioners of innovation and growth dynamics worldwide Inequality, Gender Gaps and Economic Growth Ms.Dalia

Hakura,Mr.Mumtaz Hussain,Ms.Monique Newiak,Vimal Thakoor,Mr.Fan Yang,2016-06-08 A growing body of empirical evidence suggests that inequality income or gender related can impede economic growth Using dynamic panel regressions and new time series data this paper finds that both income and gender inequalities including from legal gender based restrictions are jointly negatively associated with per capita GDP growth Examining the relationship for countries at different stages of development we find that this effect prevails mainly in lower income countries In particular per capita income growth in sub Saharan Africa could be higher by as much as 0.9 percentage points on average if inequality was reduced to the levels observed in the fastgrowing emerging Asian countries High levels of income inequality in sub Saharan Africa appear partly driven by structural features However the paper's findings show that policies that influence the opportunities of low income households and women to participate in economic activities also matter and therefore if well designed and targeted could play a role in alleviating inequalities International Encyclopedia of Human Geography ,2019-11-29

Stimson,Roger R. Stough,Brian H. Roberts,2013-03-09
 Regional economic development has attracted the interest of economists geographers planners and regional scientists for a long time And of course it is a field that has developed a large practitioner cohort in government and business agencies from the national down to the state and local levels In planning for cities and regions both large and small economic development issues now tend to be integrated into strategic planning processes For at least the last 50 years scholars from various disciplines have theorised about the nature of regional economic development developing a range of models seeking to explain the process of regional economic development and why it is that regions vary so much in their economic structure and performance and how these aspects of a region can change dramatically over time Regional scientists in particular have developed a comprehensive tool kit of methodologies to measure and monitor regional economic characteristics such as industry sectors employment income value of production investment and the like using both quantitative and qualitative methods of analysis and focusing on both static and dynamic analysis The father of regional science Walter Isard was the first to put together a comprehensive volume on techniques of regional analysis Isard 1960 and since then a huge literature has emerged including the many titles in the series published by Springer in which this book is published The Oxford Handbook of the Mauritian Economy ,2025-03-11 The Oxford Handbook on the Mauritian Economy presents a comprehensive analysis of the economic social and political landscape of the island offering a nuanced exploration of its historical evolution current challenges and future prospects Adopting a multidisciplinary lens the handbook delves into the complexities of the Mauritian economy addressing the development pathway of the country through a focus on the process of structural transformation namely the transition from an agrarian based economy to a diversified one across sectors like manufacturing information and communication technology tourism and financial services amongst others It analyzes the process of economic transformations while encompassing social change and social policies with particular attention to key issues of inequality education health care social protection poverty alleviation and social inclusion and it delves further into the dynamics of cultural change demographic shifts and the role of policies in shaping the social fabric of the island Amid the perceived success of the Mauritian economy this handbook confronts the challenges that the island faces in terms of the complexities of globalization disparities in income and opportunities and climate change as well as other recent crises that affect its resilience to external shocks It contributes not only to wider scholarly debates on economic development but also presents a valuable resource for policymakers and practitioners seeking an in depth understanding of the economic and policy intricacies that define Mauritius transformative development trajectory Global Innovation Index 2016 Cornell University, INSEAD, World Intellectual Property Organization, 2016 The Global Innovation Index ranks the innovation performance of 128 countries and economies around the world based on 82 indicators This edition explores the impact of innovation oriented policies on economic growth and development High income and developing countries alike are seeking innovation driven growth through different strategies Some countries are successfully improving their innovation capacity while others still struggle Theories of Local Economic Development Richard D. Bingham, Robert Mier, 1993-08-24

Presenting state of the art theoretical positions on important development issues such as the inner city technological innovation and rebuilding economic infrastructure are explored in this volume The contributors to this volume drawn from various social science backgrounds explore a variety of theories and examine them in relation to the practical actions of local economic development A Behavioural Theory of Economic Development Robert Huggins, Piers Thompson, 2021-01-14

Innovation entrepreneurship knowledge and human capital are widely acknowledged as key levers of development Yet what are the sources of these factors and why do they differ in their endowment across regions Motivated by a belief that theories of economic development can move beyond the generally accepted explanations of location and the organization of industries and capital this book establishes a behavioural theory of economic development illustrating that differences in human behaviour across cities and regions are a significant deep rooted cause of uneven development Fusing a range of concepts relating to culture psychology human agency institutions and power it proposes that the long term differentials in economic development between cities and regions both within and across nations is strongly connected to the underlying forms of behaviour enacted by humans on an individual and collective basis Given a world of finite and limited resources coupled with a rapidly growing population especially in cities and urban regions human behaviour and the expectations and preferences

upon which it is based are central to understanding how notions of development may change in coming years This book provides a novel theory of the role of psychocultural context and human behavioural and institutional frameworks in uneven economic development on a global scale
