Regional Security Structures In Asia:

Regional Security Structures in Asia Ashok Kapur, 2018-10-24 Kapur argues that explanations of international relations in Asia in the post Second World War period have relied too much on the Cold War as a key explanatory factor and have not given enough emphasis to the useful concepts of regional power formation conflict formation and conflict resolution The author outlines these concepts and goes on to elaborate on them and to apply them to three key Asian regions northeast southeast and south Asia discussing practical strategic issues in an historical perspective and arguing that these concepts and other concepts which he discusses are extremely helpful in making sense of the complex pattern of international relations in Asia

Asia's Regional Architecture Andrew Yeo, 2019-04-02 During the Cold War the U S built a series of alliances with Asian nations to erect a bulwark against the spread of communism and provide security to the region Despite pressure to end bilateral alliances in the post Cold War world they persist to this day even as new multilateral institutions have sprung up around them The resulting architecture may aggravate rivalries as the U S China and others compete for influence However Andrew Yeo demonstrates how Asia s complex array of bilateral and multilateral agreements may ultimately bring greater stability and order to a region fraught with underlying tensions Asia s Regional Architecture transcends traditional international relations models It investigates change and continuity in Asia through the lens of historical institutionalism Refuting claims regarding the demise of the liberal international order Yeo reveals how overlapping institutions can promote regional governance and reduce uncertainty in a global context In addition to considering established institutions such as the Association of Southeast Asian Nations and the Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation he discusses newer regional arrangements including the East Asia Summit Trans Pacific Partnership and the Belt and Road Initiative This book has important implications for how policymakers think about institutional design and regionalism in Asia and beyond

Regional Security Structures in Asia Ashok Kapur, 2003 Ashok Kapur argues that explanations of international relations in Asia in the post Second World War period have relied too much on the Cold War as a key explanatory factor and outlines alternative concepts that may have wider explanatory powers

Regional Security in Southeast Asia Mely Caballero Anthony, 2005 The book examines ASEAN s mechanisms in managing challenges and threats to regional security Its extensive analyses of the ASEAN story of managing regional security cover the different phases of ASEAN s development as a regional organization and explore the perceptible changes that have occurred in regional mechanisms of conflict management The book also examines the roles of relevant actors beyond the states of ASEAN and the key interactions that have evolved over time which have been instrumental in moving regional mechanisms beyond the ASEAN way The book argues that the ASEAN way has not been impervious to change As the association finds its way through periods of crises and continues to confront the many challenges ahead ASEAN and its mechanisms are already being transformed beyond the narrow confines of the modalities associated with the ASEAN way The changes in the political and security landscape of the region as well as the democratic transitions taking place in some member states have set the stage for a much more dynamic set of regional actors and processes that bring into question the kind of regionalism that is now taking place in the region the way regionalism is changing in Southeast Asia Regions and Powers Barry Buzan,2007

Security Cooperation in Northeast Asia T. J. Pempel, Chung Min Lee,2012 Defining and conceptualizing Northeast Asia's security complex poses unique quandaries The security architecture in Northeast Asia to date has been predominately U S dominated bilateral alliances weak institutional structures and the current Six Party Talks dealing with the North Korean nuclear issue There has been a distinct lack of desire among regional countries as well as the U S to follow in the footsteps of Europe with its robust set of multilateral institutions However since the late 1990s there has been burgeoning interest among regional states towards forming new multilateral institutions as well as reforming and revitalizing existing mechanisms Much of this effort has been in the economic and political arenas with the creation of bodies such as the East Asian Summit but there have also been important initiatives in the security sphere This book offers detailed examinations about how this potentially tense region of the world is redefining certain longstanding national interests and shows how this shift is the result of changing power relations the desire to protect hard won economic gains as well as growing trust in new processes designed to foster regional cooperation over regional conflict Presenting new and timely research on topics that are vital to the security future of one of the world's most important geographical regions this book will be of great value to students and scholars of Asian politics regionalism international politics and security studies Asia-Pacific Regional Security Assessment 2021 The International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS),2021-06-07 The Asia Pacific Regional Security Assessment 2021 provides insight into key regional strategic geopolitical economic military and security topics Among the topics explored are US China decoupling and its regional security implications Japan's security policy and China India's emerging grand strategy Southeast Asia amid rising great power rivalry Australia's new regional security posture NATO's evolving approach to China The United Kingdom's tilt to the Indo Pacific and Emerging technologies and future conflict in the Asia Pacific Authors include leading regional analysts and academics Kanti Bajpai Gordon Flake Franz Stefan Gady Prashanth Parameswaran Alessio Patalano Samir Puri Sarah Raine Tan See Seng Drew Thompson Ashley Townshend Joanne Wallis and Robert Ward Reassessing Security Cooperation in the Asia-Pacific Amitav Acharya,Evelyn Goh,2007 Experts examine changing security arrangements in the Asia Pacific region particularly the rise of multilateral efforts at cooperative security Constructing a Security Community in Southeast Asia Amitav Acharya,2001 This book contains the most comprehensive and critical account available of the evolution of The Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN norms and the viability of the ASEAN way of conflict management Strategy in Asia Thomas G Mahnken,Dan Blumenthal,2014-10-15 Helps to articulate those pressing strategic questions necessary in formulating and executing American strategy in this critical part of the world Military Review Some of the United States greatest challenges over the coming decades are likely to emanate from the Asia Pacific region with China's and India's rise and the persistence of militant Islam in parts of South and Central Asia and the threat of nuclear proliferation continuing in fits and starts. If America is to meet these challenges comprehensively, strategists will have to learn more about Asia and Asian scholars, policymakers and analysts will need to understand better the enduring and timeless principles of strategy. Based on the premise therefore that the increasing strategic weight of the Asia Pacific region warrants greater attention from both scholars and practitioners alike, Strategy in Asia: The Past, Present and Future of Regional Security aims to marry the fields of strategic studies and Asian studies in order to help academics and practitioners to begin addressing these challenges. The book uses the lenses of geography, culture and economics to examine in depth the strategic context that Asia presents to the major nations of the region, including the U.S. as a Pacific nation and the strategic scenarios that may well play out in the region in the future. Specific attention is paid to Asia as a warfighting environment and to the warfighting traditions and current postures of the major nations. It opens windows into the key lenses of strategic studies, namely history, geography and politics, and secondarily culture and economics.

The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Regionalism

Tanja A. Börzel, Thomas Risse, 2016-02-04. The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Regionalism, the first of its kind, offers a systematic and wide-ranging survey of the scholarship on regionalism, regionalization and regional governance. Unpacking the major debates, leading authors of the field synthesize the state of the art, provide a guide to the comparative study of regionalism and identify future avenues of research. Twenty-seven chapters review the theoretical and empirical scholarship with regard to the emergence of regionalism, the institutional design of regional organizations and issue-specific governance, as well as the effects of regionalism and its relationship with processes of regionalization. The authors explore theories of cooperation, integration and diffusion, explaining the rise and the different forms of regionalism. The handbook also discusses the state of the art on the world regions: North America, Latin America, Europe, Eurasia, Asia, North Africa and the Middle East, and Sub-Saharan Africa. Various chapters survey the literature on regional governance in major issue areas such as security and peace, trade and finance, environment, migration, social and gender policies, as well as democracy and human rights. Finally, the handbook engages in cross regional comparisons with regard to institutional design dispute settlement identities and communities legitimacy and democracy as well as inter and transregionalism ASEAN and Regional Order Amitav Acharya, 2021-05-30 Founded in 1967 the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN has emerged as one of the most successful regional organizations in the world This book discusses the future of ASEAN against a backdrop of a growing US China rivalry and the security implications of COVID 19 Chapters in this book move through a history of ASEAN and its multilateral institutions including the ASEAN Regional Forum ARF and the East Asia Summit EAS featuring rare photographic material to contextualize both recent developments in regional security and projections for ASEAN's prospects Key concepts and terms are unpacked throughout with the chapters focusing on rapidly changing international and regional environments economic insecurities such as trade conflicts human rights and ASEAN identity and providing extensive analysis of the factors challenging the principle ASEAN Centrality and the Indo Pacific security architecture The concept of security community frames this book despite being subject to change if intraregional discord and institutional stagnation take hold As a discussion of the role and future of ASEAN in a pivotal period of world history ASEAN and Regional Order will prove vital to both students and scholars of international relations regional organizations and Asian studies more broadly

Central Asia and Regional Security Mr P L Dash, Ms Anita Sengupta, Mr Murat M Bakhadirov, 2014-02-15 While security concerns have assumed salience across the globe Afghanistan's proximity to Central Asia has meant that security or perceptions of insecurity dominate the strategic discourse in the region Issues that stand out include the challenges that the Central Asian states will face in terms of stability ethnic tensions radicalization of youth destabilization of commodity flows and energy security and the impact that these could have on Central Asian society However security cannot just be defined in terms of security at the borders It needs to be defined in cosmopolitan terms through an array of issues like movements across borders radicalism within states the sharing of water and various multilateral attempts at combating insecurity This volume is an attempt to focus on some of these issues that reflect on perceptions of security principally from Indian and Uzbek positions It examines shifts over the last two decades from debates on the geopolitical importance of the region from a great game perspective to the salience of new engagements within the international arena Multilateral Asian Security Architecture See Seng Tan, 2015-07-16 This book provides a comparative assessment of the material and ideational contributions of five countries to the regional architecture of post Cold War Asia In contrast to the usual emphasis placed on the role and centrality of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN in Asia's multilateral architecture and its component institutions this book argues that the four non ASEAN countries of interest here 3 4 Australia Japan China and the United States 3 4 and Indonesia have played and continue to play an influential part in determining the shape and substance of Asian multilateralism from its pre inception to the present The work does not contend that existing scholarship overstates ASEAN's significance to the successes and failures of Asia's multilateral enterprise Rather it claims that the impact of non

ASEAN stakeholders in innovating multilateral architecture in Asia has been understated Whether ASEAN has fared well or poorly as a custodian of Asia's regional architecture the fact remains that the countries considered here notwithstanding their present discontent over the state of that architecture are key to understanding the evolution of Asian multilateralism This book will be of much interest to students of Asian politics international organisations security studies and IR more generally

ASEAN and the Security of South-East Asia (Routledge Revivals) Michael Leifer, Professor of International Relations Michael Leifer, 2014-08-29 This book first published in 1989 examines how the states of The Association of South East Nations ASEAN have attempted to confront the problems of regional security It considers the nature and role of the Association intended to promote economic growth social progress and cultural development traces its institutional development from 1967 and identifies a basic structural weakness arising from the differing strategic perspectives held by member governments

Japan's Security Policy and the ASEAN Regional Forum Takeshi Yuzawa, 2007-03-27 Based on primary resources including documents and extensive interviews with Japanese policy makers this book provides a comprehensive and detailed empirical analysis of Japan's involvement in Asia Pacific security multilateralism after the end of the Cold War with special reference to the ARF Giving an in depth account of new developments in Japan's post Cold War security policy Yuzawa also examines Japan's initial motivations expectations and objectives for promoting regional security multilateralism Japan's diplomacy for achieving these objectives and experiences in the ARF since its formation the effectiveness and limitations of the ARF with regards national and Asia Pacific security the effects of Japan's experiences in the ARF on its initial conception of regional security multilateralism and the implications of this for the direction of its overall security policy problems and difficulties that arose as a result of Japan's post Cold War security policy of simultaneously pursuing two different security approaches namely the strengthening of regional security institutions and the Japan US alliance This book will be an invaluable resource for students and scholars of Japanese security studies as well as international relations Asian politics and international organizations

Strategic Multilateralism and the Regional Security Architecture of the Indo-Pacific Thomas S. Wilkins, The Architecture of Security in the Asia-Pacific Ronald Huiskens, 2009-10-01 We cannot expect in East Asia over the foreseeable future to see the sort of conflation of sovereign states that has occurred in Europe We must anticipate that for the foreseeable future the requirement will be for the sensible management and containment of competitive instincts The establishment of a multilateral security body in East Asia that includes all the key players and which the major powers invest with the authority to tackle the shaping of the regional security order remains a critical piece of unfinished business

Afghanistan and Central Asia: NATO's Role in Regional Security Since 9/11 O. Tanrisever, 2013-02-15 Instability in Afghanistan has had a considerable effect on regional security in Central Asia particularly in the aftermath of the events of 9 11 and this has meant that the importance of NATO and its contribution to security in this area has increased considerably A detailed analysis of this topic is precisely important because it could highlight the areas where the Central Asian countries could increase their security contributions to Afghanistan's security through enhancing their cooperation with NATO. This book presents the fully revised and updated versions of papers presented at the NATO Advanced Research Workshop ARW NATO the Fight against International Terrorism in Afghanistan and Security Situation in Central Asia since 9/11 held in Ankara, Turkey, in April 2011. This ARW was supported by the NATO Science for Peace and Security Programme. The book takes a comprehensive approach to the regional security complex in Central Asia by emphasizing the human security, socio-political and energy dimensions in addition to the traditional military dimension of the fight against international terrorism in and around Afghanistan. The findings of the book enhance our understanding of the root causes of international terrorism and the effective ways of coping with the security challenges in this region. The book is divided into five parts: First, NATO's Contribution to Lasting Security in Afghanistan; Second, Responses of the Central Asian States to Political Instability, Organized Crime and International Terrorism in Afghanistan; Third, Energy Security in and around Central Asia; Fourth, International Competition and Cooperation over Afghanistan and Central Asia; and Last but not least, Regional Security Organizations and the Fight against International Terrorism in Afghanistan.
