Climate and Trade Policy Carlo Carraro, Christian Egenhofer, 2007-01-01 The difficulty of achieving and implementing a global climate change agreement has stimulated a wide range of policy proposals designed to favour the participation of a large number of countries in a global cooperative effort to control greenhouse gas emissions This significant book analyses the viability of controlling climate change through a set of regional or sub global climate agreements rather than via a global treaty The authors argue that the principal challenge in devising a truly global architecture is in providing sufficient incentives for all party participation whilst also ensuring compliance which raises global governance issues The main purpose of this study is not to trace in detail the process of negotiation and implementation of international regimes but rather to evaluate whether a series of regional or sub global agreements is more likely to achieve climate change control than a global agreement attempted from the outset From a political science perspective the focus centres on institution building and governance From an economic perspective it concentrates on incentives used to encourage participation in a global and non fragmented agreement Lessons from EU integration and actual global and regional trade agreements are employed in order to analyse the future prospects of climate change negotiations The focus on climate change and more generally the management of environmental and resource problems will make this book essential reading for participants observers and analysts of the public policy process as it concerns climate change and more generally the management of environmental and resource problems In addition the rich combination of international relations theory and economic literature with findings from the policy process will appeal to both general readers and the academic community

States under EU law and specifically its effect on company taxation regimes from the perspective of multinational enterprises Focusing on the impact of the Treaty freedoms and international integration agreements on relations with non EU Member States this work is the first to specifically address the all important issue Under which circumstances can investment related rights deriving from EU law be invoked by companies established in non EU states The analysis identifies the impact of the EU Treaty freedoms on six basic corporate income tax themes that are of particular interest for multinational enterprises limitation on the deduction of interest expenses withholding taxes on dividend interest and royalty payments relief for double taxation of income received from foreign investments CFC legislation non deduction of foreign losses from the domestic taxable base and company taxation upon the transnational transfer of business assets

Rethinking the World Trade Order Mohammad F. A. Nsour, 2010 Regional Trade Agreements RTAs have proliferated at an unprecedented pace since the creation of the World Trade Organization WTO Although the WTO legally recognizes countries entitlement to form RTAs neither the WTO nor parties to RTAs have an unequivocal understanding of the relationship between the WTO and RTAs In other words the legal controversies the result of uncertainty regarding the application of the WTO GATT laws risk undermining the objectives of the multilateral trade system This research tackles a phenomenon that is widely believed to be heavily economic and political It highlights the economic and political aspects of regionalism but largely concentrates on the legal dimension of regionalism The main argument of the book is that the first step to achieving harmony between multilateralism and regionalism is the identification of the legal uncertainties that regionalism produces when countries form RTAs without taking into account the substantive and procedural aspect of the applicable WTO GATT laws The book calls for the creation of a legal instrument i e agreement on RTAs that combines all of the applicable law on RTAs and simultaneously clarifies the legal language used therein Likewise the WTO should have a proactive role not merely as a coordinator of RTAs but as a watchdog for the multilateral system that has the power to prosecute violating RTAs The author is aware that political concerns are top priorities for governments and policy makers when dealing with the regionalism problematic Hence legal solutions or proposals are not sufficient to create a better international trade system without the good will of the WTO Members who are in fact the players who are striving to craft more regional trade arrangements
