Landscapes between Then and Now Nicola Brandt, 2020-09-08 In Landscapes Between Then and Now Nicola Brandt examines the increasingly compelling and diverse cross disciplinary work of photographers and artists made during the transition from apartheid to post apartheid and into the contemporary era By examining specific artworks made in South Africa Namibia and Angola Brandt sheds light on established and emerging themes related to aftermath landscapes embodied histories unbelonging spirituality and memorialization She shows how landscape and identity are mutually constituted and profiles this process against the background of the legacy of the acutely racially divisive policies of the apartheid regime that are still reflected on the land As a signpost throughout the book Brandt draws on the work of the renowned South African photographer Santu Mofokeng and his critical thinking about landscape Landscapes Between Then and Now explores how practitioners who engage with identity and their physical environment as a social product might reveal something about the complex and fractured nature of postcolonial and contemporary societies Through diverse strategies and aesthetics they comment on inherent structures and epistemologies of power whilst also expressing new and radical forms of self-determinism Brandt asks why these cross disciplinary works ranging from social documentary to experimental performance and embodied practices are critical now and what important possibilities for social and political reflection and engagement they suggest

The Moral and Market Economies of Bread Jonas Albrecht, 2024-06-13 From the 1770s the Vienna bread market was rocked by a series of politico-economic and technological changes that questioned the way this everyday foodstuff was sold and produced In this book Jonas Albrecht explores how this reconfiguration of the bread market had wide reaching and significant consequences for a society who relied on this foodstuff to live Before 1860 the production and selling of bread was embedded into a moral economy with distinct regulations But as the grain market expanded and new cereal varieties arrived from the empire's peripheries reformers sought to create a free market through liberalizing reforms The Moral and Market Economies of Bread shows that while terminating market regulation did mobilize and diversify Vienna's bread market in spatial terms it intensified inequality among consumers As opaque prices non transparent market procedures and diverging power relations between producers and consumers led to unrest city officials and bakers struggled to meet the shortcomings of the free market from within This book brings economic social and urban histories together and employs a spatial approach and GIS methods to explore the relationship between market and society and capitalism at large

Transactions of the American Society of Landscape Architects from Its Inception in 1899 to the End of 1908 American Society of Landscape Architects, 1922 Shaping the Sierra Timothy P. Duane, 1999-06-30 The rural west is at a crossroads and the Sierra Nevada is at the center of this social and economic change The Sierra Nevada landscape has always been valued for its bounty of natural resource commodities but new residents and an ever growing flood of tourists to the area have transformed the relationship between the region's nature and its culture In an engaging narrative that melds the personal with the professional Timothy P Duane who grew up in the area documents the impact of rapid population growth on the culture economy and ecology of the Sierra Nevada since the late 1960s He also recommends innovative policies for mitigating the negative effects of future population growth in this spectacular but threatened region as well as throughout the rural west Today the primary social and economic values of the Sierra Nevada landscape are in the amenities and ecological services provided by its wildlands and functioning ecosystems Duane shows how further unfettered population growth threatens the very values which have made the Sierra Nevada a desirable place to live and work A new approach to land use planning resource management and local economic development one that recognizes the emerging values of the landscape is necessary in order to achieve sustainable development Duane claims Weaving personal experience with outstanding scholarship he shows how such an approach must explicitly recognize the importance of values and the application of an environmental land ethic to future development in the area
