Copenhagen Declaration on Social Development

Annex I

Copenhagen Declaration on Social Development

1. For the first time in history, at the invitation of the United Nations, we gather as heads of State and Government to recognize the significance of social development and human well-being for all and to give to these goals the highest priority both now and into the twenty-first century.
2. We acknowledge that the people of the world have shown in different ways an urgent need to address profound social problems, especially poverty, unemployment and social exclusion, that affect every country. It is our task to address both their underlying and structural causes and their distressing consequences in order to reduce uncertainty and insecurity in the life of people.
3. We acknowledge that our societies must respond more effectively to the material and spiritual needs of individuals, their families and the communities in which they live throughout our diverse countries and regions. We must do so not only as a matter of urgency but also as a matter of sustained and unshakeable commitment through the years ahead.
4. We are convinced that democracy and transparent and accountable governance and administration in all sectors of society are indispensable foundations for the realization of social and people-centred sustainable development.
5. We share the conviction that social development and social justice are indispensable for the achievement and maintenance of peace and security within and among our nations. In turn, social development and social justice cannot be attained in the absence of peace and security or in the absence of respect for all human rights and fundamental freedoms. This essential interdependence was recognized 50 years ago in the Charter of the United Nations and has since grown ever stronger.
6. We are deeply convinced that economic development, social development and environmental protection are interdependent and mutually reinforcing components of sustainable development, which is the framework for our efforts to achieve a higher quality of life for all people. Equitable social development that recognizes empowering the poor to utilize environmental resources sustainably is a necessary foundation for sustainable development. We also recognize that broad-based and sustained economic growth in the context of sustainable development is necessary to sustain social development and social justice.
7. We recognize, therefore, that social development is central to the needs and aspirations of people throughout the world and to the responsibilities of Governments and all sectors of civil society. We affirm that, in both economic and social terms, the most productive policies and investments are those that empower people to maximize their capacities, resources and opportunities. We acknowledge that social and economic development cannot be secured in a sustainable way without the full participation of women and that equality and equity between women and men is a priority for the international community and as such must be at the centre of economic and social development.

Rehabilitation Engineering United Nations. Economic Commission for Europe, International Federation for Medical and Biological Engineering, 1995      Women's Rights and Bioethics Lorraine Dennerstein, 2000      Lake Victoria Joseph Awange, Obiero Ong'ang'a, 2010-10-14 This book constitutes a pioneering and unique work on Lake Victoria. It is the world's second largest fresh water lake and supports the livelihood of more than 30 million people. Surprisingly, there has been no comprehensive book addressing its problems and potentials. Ecology, environmental pollution and resource management are some of the issues addressed by this comprehensive insight into the limitations, challenges and opportunities facing Lake Victoria.

The Concept of Indigenous Peoples in Asia Christian Erni, 2008 Deals with the controversy in defining indigenous people and indigeneity. Discusses standard setting activities in international law and ethno nationalist interpretations in Asia including 15 country profiles focusing on terms used, government positions and recognized indigenous nationalities. Makes reference to the LO Indigenous and Tribal Populations Convention 1957 No 107 and the ILO Indigenous and Tribal Peoples Convention 1989 No 169.

Realising REDD+ Arild Angelsen, 2009-01-01 REDD must be transformational. REDD requires broad institutional and governance reforms such as tenure decentralisation and corruption control. These reforms will enable departures from business as usual and involve communities and forest users in making and implementing policies that affect them. Policies must go beyond forestry. REDD strategies must include policies outside the forestry sector, narrowly defined such as agriculture and energy and better coordinate across sectors to deal with non forest drivers of deforestation and degradation. Performance based payments are key yet limited. Payments based on performance directly incentivise and compensate forest owners and users. But schemes such as payments for environmental services (PES) depend on conditions such as secure tenure, solid carbon data and transparent governance that are often lacking and take time to change. This constraint reinforces the need for broad institutional and policy reforms. We must learn from the past. Many approaches to REDD now being considered are similar to previous efforts to conserve and better manage forests, often with limited success. Taking on board lessons learned from past experience will improve the prospects of REDD effectiveness. National circumstances and uncertainty must be factored in. Different country contexts will create a variety of REDD models with different institutional and policy mixes. Uncertainties about the shape of the future global REDD system, national readiness and political consensus require flexibility and a phased approach to REDD implementation.

The International Labour Organization Daniel Maul, 2019-11-05 This book is the first comprehensive account of the International Labour Organization's 100 year history. At its heart is the concept of global social policy which encompasses not only social policy in its national and international dimensions but also development policy, world trade, international migration and human rights. The book focuses on the ILO's roles as a key player in debates on poverty, social justice, wealth distribution and social mobility subjects and as a global forum for addressing these issues The study puts in perspective the manifold ways in which the ILO has helped structure these debates and has made through its standard setting technical cooperation and myriad other activities practical contributions to the world of work and to global social policy World Development Report 2010 World Bank,2009-11-06 In the crowded field of climate change reports WDR 2010 uniquely emphasizes development takes an integrated look at adaptation and mitigation highlights opportunities in the changing competitive landscape and proposes policy solutions grounded in analytic work and in the context of the political economy of reform

Increasing Rice Production in Bangladesh – Challenges and Strategies , Special Needs in the Classroom Mel Ainscow,1994 A source of ideas for teacher educators who wish to improve teachers skills in dealing with pupil diversity in mainstream schools Particular emphasis is given to teacher development both pre service and in service In addition the book provides practical guidelines based on the UNESCO Teacher Education Resource Pack

The State of Food and Agriculture 2013 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2013-07-30 Malnutrition in the form of undernutrition micronutrient deficiencies and overweight and obesity imposes unacceptably high economic and social costs on countries at all income levels The causes of malnutrition are complex yet all forms of malnutrition share one common feature nutritionally inappropriate diets The State of Food and Agriculture 2013 makes the case that healthy diets and good nutrition begin with food and agriculture

SIPRI Yearbook 1997 Stockholm International Peace Research Institute,1997 This edition covers the comprehensive test ban treaty armed conflict prevention management and resolution multilateral military related export control measures and information on multilateral observers peacekeeping and electoral operations

The Economics of Ecosystems and Biodiversity: Ecological and Economic Foundations Pushpam Kumar,2012-12-20 Human well being relies critically on ecosystem services provided by nature Examples include water and air quality regulation nutrient cycling and decomposition plant pollination and flood control all of which are dependent on biodiversity They are predominantly public goods with limited or no markets and do not command any price in the conventional economic system so their loss is often not detected and continues unaddressed and unabated This in turn not only impacts human well being but also seriously undermines the sustainability of the economic system It is against this background that TEEB The Economics of Ecosystems and Biodiversity project was set up in 2007 and led by the United Nations Environment Programme to provide a comprehensive global assessment of economic aspects of these issues This book written by a team of international experts represents the scientific state of the art providing a comprehensive assessment of the fundamental ecological and economic principles of measuring and valuing ecosystem services and biodiversity and showing how these can be mainstreamed into public policies This volume and subsequent TEEB outputs will provide the authoritative knowledge and guidance to drive forward the biodiversity conservation agenda for the next decade      Financing Urban Shelter Un-Habitat,2013-06-17

Achieving the goals set by world leaders in the United Nations Millennium Declaration will be difficult without a significant improvement in the lives of slum dwellers and the lives of slum dwellers cannot be improved without the sound and sustainable economic development that is conducive to the establishment of a strong shelter sector As Financing Urban Shelter Global Report on Human Settlements 2005 emphasizes one of the key challenges in meeting the Millennium Declaration Goal on slums is mobilization of the financial resources necessary for both slum upgrading and slum prevention by supplying new housing affordable to lower income groups on a large scale It is my hope that by highlighting the impacts of current shelter financing systems on low income households and by identifying the types of financing mechanisms that appear to have worked for them this report will contribute to the efforts of the wide range of actors involved in improving the lives of slum dwellers including governments at the central and local levels as well as non governmental and international organizations From the Foreword by KOFI ANNAN Secretary General United Nations Financing Urban Shelter presents the first global assessment of housing finance systems placing shelter and urban development challenges within the overall context of macroeconomic policies The report describes and analyses housing finance conditions and trends in all regions of the world including formal housing finance mechanisms microfinance and community funding highlighting their relevance to the upgrading of slums Recent shelter finance policy development is discussed at the international and national levels and the directions that could be taken to strengthen shelter finance systems are examined The Global Report on Human Settlements is the most authoritative and up to date assessment of conditions and trends in the world s cities It is an essential tool and reference for researchers academics public authorities and civil society organizations around the world The preceding issues of the Global Report on Human Settlements have addressed such topics as An Urbanizing World Cities in a Globalizing World and The Challenge of Slums Published with UN HABITAT      Canada's Relationship with Inuit Sarah Bonesteel,2008 Inuit have lived in Canada s north since time immemorial The Canadian government s administration of Inuit affairs however has been generally shorter and is less well understood than the federal government s relations with First Nations and M tis We hope to correct some of this knowledge imbalance by providing an overview of the federal government s Inuit policy and program development from first contact to 2006 Topics that are covered by this book include the 1939 Re Eskimo decision that gave Canada constitutional responsibility for Inuit post World War II acculturation and defence projects law and justice sovereignty and relocations the E number identification system Inuit political organizations comprehensive claim agreements housing healthcare education economic development self government the environment and urban issues In order to develop meaningful forward looking policy it is essential to understand what has come before and how we got to where we are We believe that this book will be a valuable contribution to a growing body of knowledge about Canada Inuit relations and will be an indispensable resource to all students of federal Inuit and northern policy development

Indigenous Peoples of Asia Robert Harrison Barnes, Andrew Gray, Benedict Kingsbury, 1995 Contains 18 articles dealing with inter alia the definition of indigenous peoples the question of ethnic identity historical priority self determination the ownership and control of land and resources ecological exploitation the colonial heritage and relations with the State

Sport, Peace, and Development Keith Gilbert, Will Bennett, 2012 Climate Change and Water Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change / Working Group Technical Support Unit, 2008 The Technical Paper addresses the issue of freshwater Sealevel rise is dealt with only insofar as it can lead to impacts on freshwater in coastal areas and beyond Climate freshwater biophysical and socio economic systems are interconnected in complex ways Hence a change in any one of these can induce a change in any other Freshwater related issues are critical in determining key regional and sectoral vulnerabilities Therefore the relationship between climate change and freshwater resources is of primary concern to human society and also has implications for all living species page vii

The Future of International Environmental Law David Kenneth Leary, Balakrishna Pisupati, 2010 This book explores the future of international environmental law in a world of ever worsening environmental crises It examines the success stories and failures of international environmental law and argues that future responses to global environmental crises will be more about good environmental governance than just more treaties and laws Environmental governance will need to accommodate the needs and aspirations of peoples from developed and developing countries alike and will have to be based on decisions and actions by a vast range of actors and stakeholders not just the nation state that has traditionally dominated environmental diplomacy This also suggests a need to be cognizant of the close links to other areas of international law including human rights The Future of International Environmental Law tackles the major environmental challenges of our times including climate change biodiversity loss and pollution and overfishing of the oceans It examines what we can learn from the implementation of existing international environmental laws over the past few decades It also considers a range of emerging issues such as the management of the environmental challenges faced by the Arctic nanotechnology biofuels and synthetic genomics
