Amputation R. Ham, L. T. Cotton, 1991-01-01 The majority of amputations in the western world today are due to vascular disease Despite the advances in surgical treatment of this disease particularly by reconstruction it is a sad fact that the number of amputations performed in these countries each year for vascular disease is increasing Most of these amputees are elderly and their life expectancy is short so it is important that the treatment and rehabilitation that they receive is informed appropriate efficient and swift to enable them to return successfully to life in the community for their remaining years Management of this group of patients has proved to be successful only if a multidisciplinary team approach is adopted Until recently in the UK this approach sadly has only been implemented by a few centres However with the publication of the McColl report into the prosthetic and wheelchair service in 1986 interest in the care of the amputee is growing throughout the country This book covers all aspects of amputation from disease and diagnosis to rehabilitation and community discharge with emphasis on the management of the largest group the vascular lower limb amputee A team approach is described and emphasized as being essential for good results and subsequent successful return into the community The role of each of the important disciplines is described in relation to the appropriate part of the rehabilitation phase Amputation, Prosthesis limb amputations Both have problems with driving and carrying objects People with lower limb amputations also have problems standing walking running kicking turning and stamping whereas people with upper limb amputations have problems grasping lifting pushing pulling writing typing and pounding Giridhar et al 2001 The Diabetic Foot Aristidis Veves, John M. Giurini, Frank W. Legerfo, 2014-01-15 The Foot in Diabetes Andrew J. M. Boulton, Gerry Rayman, Dane K. Ivan Krajchich, MD, Michael S. Pinzur, MD, Benjamin K. Potter, MD, Phillip M. Stevens, MD, CPO, 2018-08-31 The leading and definitive reference on the surgical and prosthetic management of acquired and congenital limb loss The fourth edition of the Atlas of Amputations and Limb Deficiencies is written by recognized experts in the fields of amputation surgery rehabilitation and prosthetics The Promise of Assistive Technology to Enhance Activity and Work Participation National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Board on Health Care Services, Committee on the Use of Selected Assistive Products and Technologies in Eliminating or Reducing the Effects of Impairments, 2017-09-01 The U S Census Bureau has reported that 56.7 million Americans had some type of disability in 2010 which represents 18.7 percent of the civilian noninstitutionalized population included in the 2010 Survey of Income and Program Participation The U S Social Security Administration SSA provides disability benefits through the Social Security Disability Insurance SSDI program and the Supplemental Security Income SSI program As of December 2015 approximately 11 million individuals were SSDI beneficiaries and about 8 million were SSI beneficiaries SSA currently considers assistive devices in the nonmedical and medical areas of its program guidelines During determinations of substantial gainful activity and income eligibility for SSI benefits the reasonable cost of items devices or services applicants need to enable them to work with their impairment is subtracted from eligible earnings even if those items or services are used for activities of daily living in addition to work In addition SSA considers assistive devices in its medical disability determination process and assessment of work capacity The Promise of Assistive Technology to Enhance Activity and Work Participation provides an analysis of selected assistive products and technologies including wheeled and seated mobility devices upper extremity prostheses and products and technologies selected by the committee that pertain to hearing and to communication and speech in adults Functional Restoration of Adults and Children with Upper Extremity Amputation Robert Henry Meier, Dr. Diane J. Atkins, OTR, 2004-02 This is the only comprehensive guide to the surgery prosthetic fitting and rehabilitation of individuals sustaining an arm amputation It incorporates the major advances in prosthetics and rehabilitation that have occurred in recent years and will improve the quality of service and the outcomes for those who sustain an arm amputation Sections deal with the surgical aspects of arm amputation the comprehensive management of the arm amputee prosthetic restoration following arm amputation the special concerns of upper extremity amputation in children and clinical outcomes The incidence demographics and functional outcomes are quite different from those of lower limb amputees The arm amputee is most commonly a young man who sustains a traumatic injury most often to his right dominant arm Because the incidence of arm amputation is low compared to that of the lower extremity relatively few health professionals have much experience in providing surgery therapy rehabilitation prosthetic care or counseling for a significant number of arm amputees This book is the definitive text for these individuals The prosthetic field including its allied healthcare team takes on a formidable task in restoring physical capabilities to the upper extremity amputee This feat cannot be accomplished solely using modern technology and technology is not always the central issue Optimal rehabilitation requires an underlying commitment in many essential areas of care for one sensitivity to the desires anxieties and fears of the individual with amputation Although the prosthetic practitioner has at his or her disposal more technology than ever before restoring integral function for the amputee involves still more than mechanical application Interdisciplinary cooperative efforts in research development and treatment between prosthetic practitioners and other constituents of the allied healthcare team is paramount The rehabilitation process must focus not only on the provision and use of a prosthesis but also on issues related to surgical procedures self determination and pain management To this end Functional Restoration of Adults and Children with Upper Extremity Amputation provides the definitive guide for all surgeons prosthetists and rehabilitation professionals who work with upper limb amputees
