

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a rugged coastal scene. In the foreground, dark, jagged rock formations are visible, some covered in patches of yellowish-brown lichen or moss. The ocean is a deep blue, with white foam from breaking waves visible further out. The sky is a clear, pale blue. The title text is overlaid on the upper portion of the image.

Masculinities R. W. Connell, Raewyn Connell, 2005 This is an exciting new edition of R W Connell's groundbreaking text which has become a classic work on the nature and construction of masculine identity Connell argues that there is not one masculinity but many different masculinities each associated with different positions of power In a world gender order that continues to privilege men over women but also raises difficult issues for men and boys his account is more pertinent than ever before In a substantial new introduction and conclusion Connell discusses the development of masculinity studies in the ten years since the book's initial publication He explores global gender relations new theories and practical uses of masculinity research Looking to the future his new concluding chapter addresses the politics of masculinities and the implications of masculinity research for understanding current world issues Against the backdrop of an increasingly divided world dominated by neo conservative politics Connell's account highlights a series of compelling questions about the future of human society This second edition of Connell's classic book will be essential reading for students taking courses on masculinities and gender studies and will be of interest to students and scholars across the humanities and social sciences

White Saris and Sweet Mangoes Sarah Lamb, 2000-06-22 This rich ethnography explores beliefs and practices surrounding aging in a rural Bengali village Sarah Lamb focuses on how villagers' visions of aging are tied to the making and unmaking of gendered selves and social relations over a lifetime Lamb uses a focus on age as a means not only to open up new ways of thinking about South Asian social life but also to contribute to contemporary theories of gender the body and culture which have been hampered by a static focus on youth Lamb's own experiences in the village are an integral part of her book and ably convey the cultural particularities of rural Bengali life and Bengali notions of modernity In exploring ideals of family life and the intricate interrelationships between and within generations she enables us to understand how people in the village construct and deconstruct their lives At the same time her study extends beyond India to contemporary attitudes about aging in the United States This accessible and engaging book is about deeply human issues and will appeal not only to specialists in South Asian culture but to anyone interested in families aging gender religion and the body

Reading for Storyness Susan Lohafer, 2003-12-22 Reading for Storyness combines cognitive science with literary theory to present a compelling argument for the uniqueness of the short story

Cultural Values and Human Ecology in Southeast Asia Karl Hutterer, A. Rambo, A. Terry Rambo, George Lovelace, 1985-01-01 Ecologists have long based their conceptual frameworks in the natural sciences Recently however they have acknowledged that ecosystems cannot be understood without taking into account human interventions that may have taken place for thousands of years And for their part social scientists have recognized that human behavior must be understood in the environment in which it is acted out Researchers have thus begun to develop the area of human ecology Yet human ecology needs suitable conceptual frameworks to tie the human and natural together In response Cultural Values and Human Ecology uses the framework of cultural values to collect a set of highly diverse contributions to the field of human ecology Values represent an important and essential aspect of the intellectual organization of a society integrated into and ordained by the over arching cosmological system and constituting the meaningful basis for action in terms of concreteness and abstraction of content as well as mutability and permanence Because of this balance values lend themselves to the kinds of analyses of ecological relationships conducted here those that demand a reasonable amount of specificity as well as historical stability The contributions to Cultural Values and Human Ecology are exceedingly diverse They include abstract theoretical discussions and specific case studies ranging across the landscape of Southeast Asia from the islands to southern China They deal with hunting gathering populations as well as peasants operating within contemporary nation states and they are the work of natural scientists social scientists and humanists of Western and Asian origin Diversity in the backgrounds of the authors contributes most to the varied approaches to the theme of this volume because differences in cultural background and academic tradition will lead to different research interests and to differences in the empirical approaches chosen to pursue given problems

Shame Management Through Reintegration Eliza Ahmed, 2001-10-15 This 2001 book is a follow on to John Braithwaite's best selling and influential Crime Shame and Reintegration Shame management is becoming a central concept in theoretical and practical terms This book makes a major contribution to the advancement of shame in a theoretical sense For criminology as well as for psychology sociology and other areas this accessible book serves as an introduction to the concepts of shame guilt and embarrassment Presenting research by the Restorative Justice Centre at the Australian National University the book contributes immeasurably to the development of practical alternatives to common sanctions in an effort to reduce crime and other social problems Written by the key exponents of restorative justice the book is an important re statement of the theory and practice of shaming It will develop important and often controversial debates about punishment shaming and restorative justice to a new level
