The Practice of Psychotherapy (Psychology Revivals) Lewis R. Wolberg,2014-08-01 Freud once humorously remarked that Anyone who wants to make a living from the treatment of nervous patients must clearly be able to do something to help them It is amazing how frequently this simple precept is ignored and when a patient does not get well how often the failure is attributed to lack of proper motivation diminutive ego strength latent schizophrenia and a multitude of assorted resistances Difficulties that arise during therapy are not due to a deliberate conspiracy of neglect on the part of the therapist They usually come about because of obstructive situations that develop in work with patients with which the therapist is unprepared to cope During his psychiatric career the author who spent time both teaching and supervising collected and collated questions from students and graduate therapists who had raised concerns about psychotherapy that related to such obstructive situations Originally published in 1982 this volume contains both those questions and his answers

The Analysis of Social Skill W. T. Singleton, 2013-03-09 This is the book of a conference held at Leuven Belgium from June 5 9 1979 under the same title The conference was sponsored by the Scientific Affairs Division of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation Brussels We would like to thank Dr Bayraktar of NATO for his part in facilitating the organisation and support of the conference We are also indebted to the authorities of the University of Leuven who provided excellent facilities and particularly to Professor Verhaegen of the Department of Psychology who acted as academic host to our conference The aim of the conference was to bring together two groups of psychologists who have been developing in parallel their particular methods of studying and describing human behaviour The skill psychologists began with the study of motor skills which are relatively easily observable in real jobs and recordable in the laboratory More recently interests have shifted from motor skills through perceptual skills to the process skills where the operator is attending to many sources of information in the form of dials charts and computer outputs and adjusting some process to maintain its stability and maximise the yield Currently problems are arising of how to analyse situations in which several skilled individuals work closely together in small team performance The social psychologists have followed an analogous but different path of progress

Current Issues in Rational-Emotive Therapy (Psychology Revivals) Windy Dryden, 2014-08-01 In his earlier book Rational Emotive Therapy Fundamentals and Innovations Dr Dryden outlined the central features of Rational Emotive Therapy RET as it had developed in and from the work of Albert Ellis He then proceeded to discuss innovations within the theory several of which had been instigated by the author Originally published in 1987 this book builds upon these latter elements It discusses the theoretical basis of RET arguing that it can be accurately described as theoretically consistent eclectic therapy and analyses the problems encountered in and the benefits derived from its practice At the time this book provided a state of the art discussion of RET and will still be of interest for those involved in counselling psychotherapy clinical psychology psychiatry and social work
