Religion And Environmental Crisis:

Religion and Ecological Crisis Todd LeVasseur, Anna Peterson, 2016-07-01 In 1967 Lynn White Jr's seminal article The Historical Roots of Our Ecologic Crisis was published essentially establishing the academic study of religion and nature. White argues that religions, particularly Western Christianity, are a major cause of worldwide ecological crises. He then asserts that if we are to halt let alone revert anthropogenic damages to the environment, we need to radically transform religious cosmologies. White's hugely influential thesis has been cited thousands of times in a variety of disciplines including but not limited to religious studies, environmental ethics, history, ecological science, philosophy, psychology, and anthropology. In practical terms, the ecological crisis to which White was responding has only worsened in the decades since the article was published. This collection of original essays by leading scholars in a variety of interdisciplinary settings, including religion and nature, environmental ethics, animal studies, ecofeminism, restoration ecology, and ecotheology, considers the impact of White's arguments, offering constructive criticism as well as reflections on the ongoing ever-changing scholarly debate about the way religion and culture contribute to both environmental crises and to their possible solutions. Religion and Ecological Crisis addresses a wide range of topics related to White's thesis, including its significance for environmental ethics and philosophy, the response from conservative Christians and evangelicals, its importance for Asian religious traditions, ecofeminist interpretations of the article, and which perspectives might have ultimately been left out of his analysis. This book is a timely reflection on the legacy and continuing challenge of White's influential article.

Religion and Environmental Crisis Eugene C. Hargrove, 1986 Managing the Environmental Crisis in Ghana Kwasi Nyamekye, 2014-11-19 Due to the strong inroads that Western scientism and Western Christianity have made in Africa as a result of colonialism, post-colonial African governments have tended to rely solely on Western scientific conservation epistemologies and models, to the neglect of those of the Indigenous African peoples in addressing their environmental problems. However, there is enough evidence that neither modern scientific nor indigenous epistemologies and modes of addressing current ecological problems are
