Religion and the Creation of Race and Ethnicity Craig R Prentiss, 2003-06-01 The original essays in this collection shed light on the role religion and myth have played in the creation of race and ethnic categories When scholars approach religion and race they tend to focus on such issues as how African Americans have expressed Christianity or how Japanese or Mexicans have lived religiously This volume meant specifically for those new to the field offers a different perspective Prominent scholars illuminate the role religious myths have played in shaping those very social boundaries that we call races and ethnicities It asks what part did Christianity play in creating Blackness To what extent was Japanese or Mexican identity itself the product of religious life The text comprised of all original material introduces readers to the social construction of race and ethnicity and the ways in which these concepts are shaped by religious narratives It offers examples from both the U S and around the world exploring these themes in the context of places as diverse as Bosnia India Japan Mexico Zimbabwe and the Middle East The volume helps make the case that any account of the social construction of race and ethnicity will be incomplete if it fails to consider the influence of religious traditions and myths

Why This New Race Denise Buell,2008-08-28 Denise Kimber Buell radically rethinks the origins of Christian identity arguing that race and ethnicity played a central role in early Christian theology Focusing on texts written before the legalization of Christianity in 313 C E including Greek apologetic treatises martyr narratives and works by Clement of Alexandria Origen Justin Martyr and Tertullian Buell shows how philosophers and theologians defined Christians as a distinct group within the Roman world characterizing Christianness as something both fixed in its essence and fluid in its acquisition through conversion Buell demonstrates how this view allowed Christians to establish boundaries around the meaning of Christianness and to develop the kind of universalizing claims aimed at uniting all members of the faith Her arguments challenge generations of scholars who have refused to acknowledge ethnic reasoning in early Christian discourses They also provide crucial insight into the historical legacy of Christian anti-Semitism and contemporary issues of race Christianity and Ethnicity in Canada Paul Bramadat,David Seljak,2008-01-01 In Christianity and Ethnicity in Canada eleven scholars explore the complex relationships between religious and ethnic identity within the nine major Christian traditions in Canada

Concordia University Beheading the Saint Geneviève Zubrzycki, 2016-12-19 The province of Quebec used to be called the priest ridden province by its Protestant neighbors in Canada During the 1960s Quebec became radically secular directly leading to its evolution as a welfare state with lay social services What happened to cause this abrupt change Genevieve Zubrzycki gives us an elegant and penetrating history showing that a key incident sets up the transformation Saint John the Baptist is the patron saint of French Canadians and until 1969 was subject of annual celebrations with a parade in Montreal That year the statue of St John was toppled by protestors breaking off the head from the body Here then is the proximate cause the beheading of a saint a symbolic death to be sure which caused the parades to disappear and other modes of national celebration to take their place The beheading of the saint was part and parcel of the so called Quiet Revolution a period of far reaching social economic political and cultural transformations Quebec society and the identity of its French speaking members drastically reinvented themselves with the rejection of Catholicism Zubrzycki is already acknowledged as a leading authority on nationalism and religion this book will significantly enlarge her stature by showing the extent to which a core feature of the Quiet Revolution was an aesthetic revolt A new generation rejected the symbols of French Canada redefining national identity in the process and as a process and providing momentum for institutional reforms We learn that symbols have causal force generating chains of significations which can transform a Catholic dominated conservative society into a leftist forward looking secular society Travel and Religion in Antiquity Philip A.
