Education in Prison Emma Hughes, 2016-04-29 The role of education in prisons prisoners decisions regarding education the impact of prison culture on either encouraging or discouraging such activities and the potential consequences of education for prisoners reentry into society all have important implications This extended analysis of prisoner education represents a unique contribution to an under researched field whilst also making important and original connections between research on education in prison and the literature on adult learning in the community Through offering crucial insights into the varied motivations and disincentives that inform prisoners decisions to study in prison whether it be through distance learning or prison based classes the reader is also able to consider factors that inform decisions to engage in a broader range of positive and constructive activities whilst in prison These research findings provide insight into how prison culture and prison policies may impact upon rehabilitative endeavour and suggest ways in which prisons may seek to encourage constructive and or rehabilitative activities amongst their inhabitants if desired Based on interviews and questionnaires completed by British adult prisoners studying through distance learning this qualitative study offers a valuable complement and counterpart to prison education studies that focus on measuring recidivism rates The learner centred approach used yields a nuanced and complex understanding of the varied ways in which education in prison actually operates and is experienced and considers the consequences of this for the students lives As such the findings offer further insight into important evidence resulting from recidivism studies reviewed within the book whilst contributing to the reemerging interest in studies of prison life and prison culture that are based on prisoner interviews

The Complete Learning Disabilities Directory ,2005 WHO Global Report on Falls Prevention in Older Age World Health Organization,2008 The WHO Falls Prevention for Active Ageing model provides an action plan for making progress in reducing the prevalence of falls in the older adult population By building on the three pillars of falls prevention the model proposes specific strategies for 1 Building awareness of the importance of falls prevention and treatment 2 Improving the assessment of individual environmental and societal factors that increase the likelihood of falls and 3 For facilitating the design and implementation of culturally appropriate evidence based interventions that will significantly reduce the number of falls among older persons The model provides strategies and solutions that will require the engagement of multiple sectors of society It is dependent on and consistent with the vision articulated in the WHO Active Ageing Policy Framework Although not all of the awareness assessment and intervention strategies identified in the model apply equally well in all regions of the world there are significant evidence based strategies that can be effectively implemented in all regions and cultures The degree to which progress will be made depends on to the success in integrating falls prevention strategies into the overall health and social care agendas globally In order to do this effectively it is necessary to identify and implement culturally appropriate evidence based policies and procedures This requires multi sectoral collaborations strong commitment to public and professional education interaction based on evidence drawn from a variety of traditional complementary and alternative sources Although the understanding of the evidence base is growing there is much that is not yet understood Thus there is an urgent need for continued research in all areas of falls prevention and treatment in order to better understand the scope of the problem worldwide In particular more evidence of the cost effectiveness of interconnections is needed to develop strategies that are most likely to be effective in specific setting and population sub groups
