Preacher Woman Sings the Blues Richard J. Douglass-Chin, 2001 Preacher Woman Sings the Blues begins with the study of black evangelists Belinda Jarena Lee and Zilpha Elaw continuing with Rebecca Cox Jackson Sojourner Truth Julia Foote Amanda Smith Elizabeth and Virginia Broughton The author's discussion of Zora Neale Hurston focuses on how Hurston operates as a connection between early black women evangelist writers and black women writing in America today He ends with the works of Alice Walker Toni Morrison and Toni Cade Bambara By examining the early traditions prefiguring contemporary African American women's text and the impact that race and gender have on them Douglas Chin shows how the nineteenth century black women's works are still of utmost importance to many African American writers today Preacher Woman Sings the Blues makes a valuable contribution to literary criticism and theoretical analysis and will be welcomed by scholars and students alike Book Jacket The Collar Sue Sorensen, 2014-12-25 Combining thematic analysis and stimulating close readings The Collar is a wide ranging study of the many ways heroic or comic shrewd or dastardly in which Christian clergy have been represented in literature from George Herbert and Laurence Sterne via Anthony Trollope G K Chesterton T S Eliot and Graham Greene to Susan Howatch and Robertson Davies and in film and television such as Pale

Rider The Thorn Birds The Vicar of Dibley and Father Ted Since all Christians are expected to be involved in ministry of some type the assumptions of secular culture about ministers affect more than just clergy Ranging across several nations particularly Britain the U S and Canada denominations and centuries The Collar encourages creative and faithful responses to the challenges of Christian leadership and develops awareness of the times when leadership expectations become too extreme Using the framework of different media to make inquiries about pastoral passion frustration and fallibility Sue Sorensen's well informed sprightly and perceptive book will be helpful to anyone who enjoys evocative literature and film as well as to clergy and those interested in practical theology

The People's Writer Wayne Mixon, 1995 Most critics have considered Caldwell to be only a minor southern writer often associating him with his worst writing Yet Saul Bellow suggested he deserved the Nobel Prize and William Faulkner once characterized him as one of the five best writers of his time alongside himself Thomas Wolfe Ernest Hemingway and John Dos Passos

Joseph Smale Tim Welch, 2014-07-08 Joseph Smale was a catalytic figure in the church life of Los Angeles leading many towards the Promised land of Pentecostal blessing in 1905 1906 although his subsequent experiences led him to retreat from the burgeoning Pentecostal movement Joseph Smale 1867 1926 was one of the central figures involved in the chain of events leading to the 1906 Azusa Street revival in Los Angeles This study presents the diverse influences which impacted Smale's formative years in Britain growing up in Cornwall and Somerset amid a rhythm of Wesleyan revival reformed theological training under the tutelage of C H Spurgeon in London migration to the United States plus hard experiences in the school of anxiety which were all precursors for Smale's influential role as champion of Pentecostal revival Smale's leadership will resonate with every church leader who prays for revival and longs for more Holy Spirit power experimentally Furthermore his story is also educative for those contending with some of the more problematic and untidy aspects of Pentecostal Charismatic experience involving painful power struggles hurts abuse of freedom spiritual excesses and so on Smale's Moses designation and biography still have relevance for the church in the present day

Shifting Grounds of Race Scott Kurashige,2010-03-15 Los Angeles has attracted intense attention as a world city characterized by multiculturalism and globalization Yet little is known about the historical transformation of a place whose leaders proudly proclaimed themselves white supremacists less than a century ago In The Shifting Grounds of Race Scott Kurashige highlights the role African Americans and Japanese Americans played in the social and political struggles that remade twentieth century Los Angeles Linking paradigmatic events like Japanese American internment and the Black civil rights movement Kurashige transcends the usual black white dichotomy to explore the multiethnic dimensions of segregation and integration Racism and sprawl shaped the dominant image of Los Angeles as a white city But they simultaneously fostered a shared oppositional consciousness among Black and Japanese Americans living as neighbors within diverse urban communities Kurashige demonstrates why African Americans and Japanese Americans joined forces in the battle against discrimination and why the trajectories of the two groups diverged Connecting local developments to national and international concerns he reveals how critical shifts in postwar politics were shaped by a multiracial discourse that promoted the acceptance of Japanese Americans as a model minority while binding African Americans to the social ills underlying the 1965 Watts Rebellion Multicultural Los Angeles ultimately encompassed both the new prosperity arising from transpacific commerce and the enduring problem of race and class divisions This extraordinarily ambitious book adds new depth and complexity to our understanding of the urban crisis and offers a window into America s multiethnic future The Word of Demolition on Karl Marx Square Andrew Demshuk,2017-08-30 Communist East Germany s demolition of Leipzig s perfectly intact medieval University Church in May 1968 was an act decried as cultural barbarism across the two Germanies and beyond Although overshadowed by the crackdown on Prague Spring mere weeks later the willful destruction of this historic landmark on a central site symbolically renamed Karl Marx Square represents an essential turning point in the relationship between the Communist authorities and the people they claimed to serve As the largest case of public protest in East German history between the 1953 Uprising and 1989 Revolution this intimate local trauma exhibits the inner workings of a dictatorial system and exposes the often gray and overlapping lines between state and citizenry which included both quiet and open resistance passive and active collaboration Through deep analysis of untapped periodicals and archives including once classified State documents Stasi and police records and extensive private protest letters it introduces a broad cast of characters who helped make the inconceivable possible and restores the voices of not a few ordinary citizens of all stripes who dared in the name of culture humanism and civic pride to protest what they saw as an inconceivable tragedy In this city that later started the 1989 October Revolution which ultimately triggered the fall of the Berlin Wall residents from every social background desperately hoped to convince their leaders to step back from the brink But as the dust cleared in 1968 they saw with all finality that their voices meant nothing that the DDR was a sham democracy awash with utopian rhetoric that had no connection with their everyday lives If Communism died in Prague in 1968 it had already died in Leipzig just weeks before with repercussions that still haunt today s politics of memory Maverick's Progress James T. Flexner, 1996 Flexner a biographer and historian and a recipient of prestigious awards including the National Book Award and a Special Pulitzer Prize chronicles his development as a writer from his experiences as a journalist to his historical biographies He reveals his methodology as a biographer and discusses his work as an advisor to historical sites and as president of PEN and the Society of American Historians as well as his personal relationships Contains bandw photos
