approaches to the discipline Wulf concentrates on the human body An emblem of society culture and time the body is also the result of many mimetic processes the active acquisition of cultural knowledge By examining the role of the body in the performance of rituals gestures language and other forms of imagination he offers a bold new look at how culture is produced handed down and transformed Drawing such examinations into a comprehensive and sophisticated assessment of the discipline as a whole Anthropology looks squarely at the mystery of humankind and the ways we have attempted to understand it Neo Rauch Paintings Neo Rauch, Museum der Bildenden Künste (Leipzig, Germany), Pinakothek der Moderne (Munich, Germany), 2010 When the Berlin Wall fell in 1989 the artist Neo Rauch was 30 years old living in his East German hometown of Leipzig and just beginning to exhibit his paintings It was the perfect moment for a painter who had been reared on Social Realism to gain access to art outside East Germany to receive its influences into his art and to emerge onto the stage of world art as a star At first closely identified with the generation of painters known as the Leipzig School in recent years Rauch's wonderfully bizarre blend of Social Realism not exactly a widely mined style in contemporary art with de Chirico or Stanley Spencer has come to be seen as a painterly barometer of post Communist Europe Post Communist Surrealism could therefore be one way to describe the look of his canvases which convey narrative intent men and women from various historical eras performing obscure tasks in uniform or midway through some ominous occasion shifting styles several times within the same picture but always displaying a lush brushwork Rauch has established a particularly strong audience in the U S having been championed by The New York Times Roberta Smith as the painter of the zeitgeist Marking Rauch's fiftieth birthday and a simultaneous retrospective in Leipzig and Munich featuring works dating from 1982 to early 2010 this monograph is the most substantial appraisal of his work published to date In it his friends and colleagues supply testimonies among them Luc Tuymans Jonathan Meese and Michiel Borremans Alongside essays by critics and historians Timm Rautert provides a photographic portrait of Rauch's studio Neo Rauch born 1960 was born reared and trained as an artist in Leipzig where he continues to live In August 2005 Rauch was awarded the chair of painting at Leipzig University systematizes the principles expressed in the vast array of manifestos that the Futurists had already produced Featuring photographs of fifty one key works and a large selection of manifestos devoted to the visual arts Boccioni's book established the canon of Italian Futurist art for many years to come First published in Italian in 1914 Futurist Painting Sculpture has never been available in English until now This edition includes a critical introduction by Maria Elena Versari Drawing on the extensive Futurist archives at the Getty Research Institute Versari systematically retraces for the first time the evolution of Boccioni's ideas and arguments his attitude toward contemporary political racial philosophical and scientific debates and his polemical view of Futurism's role in the development of modern art
