Banana Bending Tseen Khoo,2003 This is the first book to present a comparative reading of East Asian Australian and East Asian Canadian novels while addressing the literary and political cultures of Australia and Canada Generally the book examines the limits and possibilities for these diasporic literatures in multicultural societies and their placement in relation to national literatures Issues discussed in the book include citizenship belonging community images of suburbia tensions in gender sexuality and recycling traditional folklore for contemporary situations The book offers new perspectives on Australian and Canadian life and society addressing contemporary anxieties about citizenship cohesion in multicultural communities ideas of homeland and the cultural potential of the melting pot The author offers extensive background information so that those unfamiliar with either Australian or Canadian material can quickly acquaint themselves with the necessary contexts as well as delving further into their details BOOK JACKET e-Write Your Way To An A-Star

[Beginner] Angeline Tan,2012-04-24 Every child is unique The writing ability of children varies greatly from one individual to another This ability is less dependent on whether your child is in Primary One or Primary Two but more on his or her exposure to the English Language However the good news is that writing skills can be cultivated As your child progresses to Primary Three and beyond composition writing will play a major role in the English Language examination with a weightage of close to 30% of the total marks As such it is essential for children to cultivate their writing skills from Primary One to get a head start over their peers Opportunities for students to write compositions in school are often limited due to time constraints Since practice makes perfect it is beneficial for students to write their own compositions at least once a week Whether your child is facing difficulties in writing compositions or is already a prolific young writer seeking to up his or her writing skills a notch this book will provide the stimulus for your child to take his or her writing skills to new heights

Efficient Screening Techniques to Identify Mutants with TR4 Resistance in Banana Joanna Jankowicz-Cieslak,Ivan L. Ingelbrecht,2022-05-31 Bananas are a staple food for over 500 million people and are also an important cash crop Fusarium wilt caused by the fungus Fusarium oxysporum f sp cubense is one of the most destructive diseases of banana globally Since the 1990s an aggressive variant of this fungus called Tropical Race 4 TR4 severely affected banana plantations in Southeast Asia from where it spread to other continents including Latin America where the global banana export market is primarily centred TR4 is a soil borne pathogen making the disease difficult to contain The Joint FAO IAEA Centre of Nuclear Techniques in Food and Agriculture implemented a Coordinated Research Project CRP Efficient Screening Techniques to Identify Mutants with Disease Resistance for Coffee and Banana 2015 2020 This CRP brought together experts from Asia

Europe and Africa in addition to experts of the Joint FAO IAEA Centre to develop resistance against TR4 through mutation assisted breeding Induced mutagenesis is particularly attractive in case of banana since most cultivated bananas are seedless thus hampering conventional cross breeding This Open Access book is a compilation of the protocols developed under the CRP specifically for TR4 The first part covers methods for mutation induction including the integrated use of innovative single cell culture with mutagenesis techniques The book also describes up to date phenotypic screening methods for TR4 resistance in banana under field greenhouse and laboratory conditions Finally molecular and bioinformatics tools for genome wide mutation discovery following Next Generation Sequencing are also described Given the imminent threat of Fusarium Wilt TR4 on banana production globally it is our hope and intention that the book will serve as a timely reference and guide for banana breeders and pathologists worldwide who are committed to the genetic improvement of banana for Fusarium wilt resistance

The Banana Tree at the Gate Michael Dove, 2011-01-01 The Hikayat Banjar a seventeenth century native court chronicle from Southeast Borneo characterizes the irresistibility of natural resource wealth to outsiders as the banana tree at the gate Michael R Dove employs this phrase as a root metaphor to frame the history of resource relations between the indigenous peoples of Borneo and the world system standing on its head the prevailing view of resource poor and economically marginal tropical forest dwellers In analyzing production and trade in forest products pepper and especially natural rubber Dove shows that the involvement of Borneo s native peoples in commodity production for global markets is ancient and highly successful This success is based on the development of a dual household economy with distinct subsistence and market oriented sectors which has historically made these smallholders extremely competitive with the large scale heavily capitalized state supported plantation sector Dove sheds new light on the nature of smallholders and in particular their relationship with the global economic system He demonstrates that processes of globalization began millennia ago and that they have been more diverse and less teleological than often thought His analysis replaces the image of the isolated tropical forest community that needs to be helped into the global system with the reality of communities that have been so successful and competitive that they have had to fight political elites to keep from being forced out The ubiquitous but historically inaccurate emphasis on isolation and resource poverty disguises that the overweening characteristic of these communities is their political marginality and that their greatest want is not to be uplifted economically but to be empowered politically
