Longarm partners up with a French aristocrat in a race for lost treasure Deputy Marshal Custis Long has no interest in putting up with the antics of an arrogant Frenchman But though he d like to tell the Marquis de Sant Cerre to take a flying leap it seems the President of the United States has something else in mind for the unlikely pair Some French gold has gone missing en route to Mexico and now Longarm must help the Marquis in his search But before the hunt can begin Longarm finds himself thwarting a kidnapping and an attempt on his own life He suspects there s more at stake than some lost gold but the nobleman s lips are sealed Now Longarm must figure out who s throwing lead in their direction and how to keep himself and his close mouthed charge alive

Collecting Across Cultures Daniela Bleichmar, Peter C. Mancall, 2011-03-17

In the early modern age more people traveled farther than at any earlier time in human history Many returned home with stories of distant lands and at least some of the objects they collected during their journeys And those who did not travel eagerly acquired wondrous materials that arrived from faraway places Objects traveled various routes personal imperial missionary or trade and moved not only across space but also across cultures Histories of the early modern global culture of collecting have focused for the most part on European Wunderkammern or cabinets of curiosities But the passion for acquiring unfamiliar items rippled across many lands The court in Java marveled at collected and displayed myriad goods brought through its halls African princes traded captured members of other African groups so they could get the newest kinds of cloth produced in Europe Native Americans sought colored glass beads made in Europe often trading them to other indigenous groups Items changed hands and crossed cultural boundaries frequently often gaining new and valuable meanings in the process An object that might have seemed mundane in some cultures could become a target of veneration in another The fourteen essays in Collecting Across Cultures represent work by an international group of historians art historians and historians of science Each author explores a specific aspect of the cross cultural history of collecting and display from the dawn of the sixteenth century to the early decades of the nineteenth century As the essays attest an examination of early modern collecting in cross cultural contexts sheds light on the creative and complicated ways in which objects in collections served to create knowledge some factual some fictional about distant peoples in an increasingly transnational world

Marketing Maximilian Larry Silver, 2022-06-14 Long before the photo op political rulers were manipulating visual imagery to cultivate their authority and spread their ideology Born just decades after Gutenberg the Holy Roman Emperor Maximilian I 1459 1519 was Larry Silver argues the first ruler to exploit the propaganda power of printed images and text Marketing Maximilian explores how Maximilian used illustrations and other visual arts to shape his image achieve what Max Weber calls the routinization of charisma strengthen the power of the Hapsburg dynasty and help establish the Austro Hungarian Empire A fascinating study of the self fashioning of an early modern ruler who was as much image maker as emperor Marketing Maximilian shows why Maximilian remains one of the most remarkable innovative and self aggrandizing royal art patrons in European history Silver describes how Maximilian lacking a real capital or court center
