Maxine Hong Kingston:

The Fifth Book of Peace Maxine Hong Kingston, 2004-09-28 A long time ago in China there existed three Books of Peace that proved so threatening to the reigning powers that they had them burned. Many years later Maxine Hong Kingston wrote a Fourth Book of Peace but it too was burned in the catastrophic Berkeley Oakland Hills fire of 1991, a fire that coincided with the death of her father. Now in this visionary and redemptive work Kingston completes her interrupted labor weaving fiction and memoir into a luminous meditation on war and peace, devastation and renewal. China Men Maxine Hong Kingston, 1989-04-23 The author chronicles the lives of three generations of Chinese men in America woven from memory, myth, and fact. Here's a storyteller's tale of what they endured in a strange new land. I Love a Broad Margin to My Life Maxine Hong Kingston, 2012-02-14 In her singular voice, both humble and brave, touching and humorous, Maxine Hong Kingston gives us a poignant and beautiful memoir in verse that captures the wisdom that comes with age. As she reflects on her sixty-five years, she circles from present to past and back from lunch with a writer friend to the funeral of a Vietnam veteran, from her long marriage to her arrest at a peace march in Washington. On her journeys as writer, peace activist, teacher, and mother, she revisits her most beloved characters: Wittman Ah Sing, the Tripmaster Monkey, and Fa Mook Lan, the Woman Warrior, and presents us with a beautiful meditation on China then and now. The result is a marvelous account of an American life of great purpose and joy and the tonic wisdom of a writer we have come to cherish. The Woman Warrior Maxine Hong Kingston, 2010-09-01 NATIONAL BESTSELLER An exhilarating blend of autobiography and mythology of world and self of hot rage and cool analysis. First published in 1976, it has become a classic in its innovative portrayal of multiple and intersecting identities: immigrant, female, Chinese, American. NATIONAL BOOK CRITICS CIRCLE AWARD WINNER. A classic for a reason. Celeste Ng, bestselling author of Little Fires Everywhere and Our Missing Hearts via Twitter. As a girl, Kingston lives in two confounding worlds: the California to which her parents have immigrated and the China of her mother's talk stories. The fierce and wily women warriors of her mother's tales clash jarringly with the harsh reality of female oppression out of which they come. Kingston's sense of self emerges in the mystifying gaps in these stories, which she learns to fill with stories of her own. A warrior of words, she forges fractured myths and memories into an incandescent whole, achieving a new understanding of her family's past and her own present. Conversations with Maxine Hong Kingston Maxine Hong Kingston, 1998 In this collection of interviews, Kingston talks about her life, her writing, and her objectives. From the first, her books have hovered along the hazy line between fiction and nonfiction, memoir and imagination. As she answers her critics and readers, she both clarifies the differences and exults in the difficulties of distinguishing between the remembered and the re-created. She explains how she worked to bridge her parents' Chinese dialect with American slang, how she learned to explore her inheritance and find new relevance in her mother's talk stories, and how she developed the complex juxtapositions of myths and memoir that fill her books. Tripmaster Monkey Maxine Hong Kingston, 2011-02-09
