Sarreal, 2014-06-11 The thirty Guaran missions of the R o de la Plata were the largest and most prosperous of all the Catholic missions established throughout the frontier regions of the Americas to convert acculturate and incorporate indigenous peoples and their lands into the Spanish and Portuguese empires But between 1768 and 1800 the mission population fell by almost half and the economy became insolvent This unique socioeconomic history provides a coherent and comprehensive explanation for the missions operation and decline providing readers with an understanding of the material changes experienced by the Guaran in their day to day lives Although the mission economy funded operations sustained the population and influenced daily routines scholars have not focused on this important aspect of Guaran history primarily producing studies of religious and cultural change This book employs mission account books letters and other archival materials to trace the Guaran mission work regime and to examine how the Guaran shaped the mission economy These materials enable the author to poke holes in longheld beliefs about Jesuit mission management and offer original arguments regarding the Bourbon reforms that ultimately made the missions unsustainable Foreign Objects Craig N. Early Churches of Mexico Beverley Spears, 2017-11-01 Following the Spanish conquest of Mexico in the early 1500s, Franciscan, Dominican and Augustinian friars fanned out across the central and southern areas of the country, founding hundreds of mission churches and monasteries to evangelize the Native population. This book documents more than 120 of these remarkable sixteenth-century sites in duotone black and white photographs. Virtually unknown outside Mexico, these complexes unite architecture, landscape, mural painting and sculpture on a grand scale, in some ways rivaling the archaeological sites of the Maya and Aztecs. They represent a fascinating period in history when two distinct cultures began interweaving to form the fabric of modern Mexico. Many were founded on the sites of ancient temples and reused their masonry and they were ornamented with architectural murals and sculptures that owe much to the existing Native tradition. Almost all the construction was done by indigenous artisans. With these photos, Spears celebrates this unique architectural and cultural heritage to help ensure its protection and survival.
