The Mexico-U.S. Free Trade Agreement Peter M. Garber, 1993 The seven contributions in this book examine the potential impact of a North American Free Trade Agreement NAFTA with Mexico on the U S economy They cover such key aspects as the general sources of comparative advantage between Mexico and the U S regional and local effects on production and employment and the effect on production in particular industries The authors start from the premise that the trade agreement will have a small impact on the overall U S gross national product because the U S economy is large compared to that of Mexico and because there is already much unrestricted trade between the two countries Several chapters consider how some sources of comparative advantage that cut across industries differential environmental regulations and wage differentials may affect the outcome These are followed by chapters that assess the locational effects on U S production either from the viewpoint of which metropolitan areas will gain employment or of the scale effects transportation cost tradeoff Concluding chapters address the effect of the NAFTA on several individual U S sectors such as agriculture automobiles and financial services Peter M Garber is Professor of Economics at Brown University Contents Introduction Peter M Garber Environmental Impacts of a North American Free Trade Agreement Gene M Grossman Alan B Krueger Wage Effects of a U S Mexico Free Trade Agreement Edward E Leamer Some Favorable Impacts of a U S Mexico Free Trade Agreement J Vernon Henderson Mexico U S Free Trade and the prefabricated segments whose collocational rigidity may force the inclusion of otherwise dispensable items He finds that there is indeed significant variation across ad categories in terms of morphosyntactic elaboration and concludes that this is due to a greater or lesser need to be explicit as well as a greater or lesser anticipation of interaction Finally he examines the implications of these findings for the study of linguistic simplification and register variation
