Robert Oppenheimer* Kelly Cherry, 2017-02 Robert Oppenheimer was a complex human being No biography yet written comes even close to this elegant skein of poems in capturing his life and character Richard Rhodes author of the Pulitzer Prize winning

The Making of the Atomic Bomb Quartet for J Robert Oppenheimer records in poetry the life and times of one of America's best known scientists the father of the atomic bomb who later lobbied for containment of nuclear weaponry In brief elegant stanzas Kelly Cherry examines Oppenheimer's inspirations dreams and values visiting the events places and people that inspired him or led him to despair She finds his place among scientists of his own time such as Alan Turing and Albert Einstein as well as his connections with historical and mythological figures from John Donne to Persephone Of course he had blood on his hands Who did not says Cherry in The Nature of War Again and again in the course of this remarkable poem Cherry's narration of Oppenheimer's life compels her readers to contemplate the vagaries of science guilt and our responsibilities to each other Quartet for J Robert Oppenheimer is a book length poem in which the architect of the atom bomb comes to embody America and the West's Faustian control of nature and the paradoxical helplessness and guilt which that control entailed Oppenheim is marvelous complicated flawed and admirable character and these poems read like chapters in a novel without in any way abandoning the intensities of feeling and image or delight in language we associate with lyric poetry A terrific achievement and a compelling read Alan Shapiro author of Life Pig and Reel to Reel

Evaluation and Translation Carol Maier, 2014-04-23 The definition of value or quality with respect to work in translation has historically been a particularly vexed issue Today however the growing demand for translations in such fields as technology and business and the increased scrutiny of translators work by scholars in many disciplines is giving rise to a need for more nuanced more specialized and more explicit methods of determining value Some refer to this determination as evaluation others use the term assessment Either way the question is one of measurement and judgement which are always unavoidably subjective and frequently rest on criteria that are not overtly expressed This means that devising more complex evaluative practices involves not only quantitative techniques but also an exploration of the attitudes preferences or individual values on which criteria are established Intended as an interrogation and a critique that can serve to prompt a more thorough and open consideration of evaluative criteria this special issue of The Translator offers examinations of diverse evaluative practices and contains both empirical and hermeneutic work Topics addressed include the evaluation of student translations using more up to date and positive methods such as those employed in corpus studies the translation of non standard language translation into the second language terminology the application of theoretical criteria to practice a social textual perspective and the reviewing of literary translations in the press In addition reviews by a number of literary translators discuss specific translations both into and out of English
