Quaternary Dating Methods W.C. Mahaney, 2000-04-01 Quaternary Dating Methods The Zoological Record, 1990

Field trip guidebook Ana Rosa Soria, 1998 Geology and Archaeology J. Harff, G. Bailey, F. Lüth, 2016-01-05 Sea level change has influenced human population globally since prehistoric times Even in early phases of cultural development human populations were faced with marine regression and transgression as a result of changing climate and corresponding glacio isostatic adjustment Global marine regression during the last glaciation changed the palaeogeography of the continental shelf converting former marine environments to attractive terrestrial habitats for prehistoric humans These areas of the shelf were used as hunting and gathering areas as migration routes between continents and most probably witnessed the earliest developments in seafaring and marine exploitation until the postglacial transgression re submerged these palaeo landscapes Based on modern marine research technologies and the integration of large databases proxy data are increasingly available for the reconstruction of Quaternary submerged landscapes Also prehistoric archaeological remains from the recent sea bottom are shedding new light on human prehistoric development driven by rapidly changing climate and environment This publication contributes to the exchange of ideas and new results in this young and challenging field of underwater palaeoenvironmental investigation Mediterranean Climate Variability P. Lionello, Paola Malanotte-Rizzoli, R. Boscolo, 2006-08-22 This multi authored book provides an updated description of climate variability in the Mediterranean basin focusing on decadal and centennial time scales and on the results available on the impact of future emission scenarios at regional scale The authors describe both local physical processes responsible for these variability such as changes in the surface properties and land use and global processes such as changes in the large scale atmospheric circulation associated to global warming NAO tropical monsoon and ENSO Regional climate change issues are also addressed Mediterranean Climate Variability aims to review the research on this region and to provide at the same time both an introduction and a reference for researchers It covers topics typical of Climatology Climate history Meteorology Oceanography Environmental Science but the information here provided would also be useful for research in agriculture social and economic studies It is addressed to scientists and students interested in the Mediterranean climate and environment Some topics have interesting connections to nearby regions Northern Atlantic West Africa central and Eastern Europe Each chapter will contain a summary meant to provide information to policy makers researchers from other fields and in general to a wide audience without a technical expertise on climate Provides an updated analysis of the Mediterranean climate features and guidelines for future research Considers both oceanographic and atmospheric aspects Analyzes the Mediterranean climate in a global perspective

Stratigraphic Paleobiology Mark E. Patzkowsky, Steven M. Holland, 2012-03-12 Whether the fossil record should be read at face value or whether it presents a distorted view of the history of life is an argument seemingly as old as many fossils themselves In the late 1700s Georges Cuvier argued for a literal interpretation but in the early 1800s Charles Lyell s gradualist view of the earth's history required a more nuanced interpretation of that same record. To this day the tension between literal and interpretive readings lies at the heart of paleontological research influencing the way scientists view extinction patterns and their causes, ecosystem persistence and turnover and the pattern of morphologic change and mode of speciation. With Stratigraphic Paleobiology Mark E. Patzkowsky and Steven M. Holland present a critical framework for assessing the fossil record, one based on a modern understanding of the principles of sediment accumulation. Patzkowsky and Holland argue that the distribution of fossil taxa in time and space is controlled not only by processes of ecology, evolution and environmental change but also by the stratigraphic processes that govern where and when sediment that might contain fossils is deposited and preserved. The authors explore the exciting possibilities of stratigraphic paleobiology and along the way demonstrate its great potential to answer some of the most critical questions about the history of life: How and why do environmental niches change over time? What is the tempo and mode of evolutionary change and what processes drive this change? How has the diversity of life changed through time and what processes control this change? And finally, what is the tempo and mode of change in ecosystems over time.

Anatomy of an Orogen: The Apennines and Adjacent Mediterranean Basins F. Vai, I. Peter Martini, 2013-12-21. This is the first book in English reviewing and updating the geology of the whole Apennines, one of the recent most uplifted mountains in the world. The Apennines are the place from which Steno (1669) first stated the principles of geology. The Apennines also represent amongst others the finding/testing sites of processes and products like volcanic eruptions, earthquakes, olistostromes and m. langes argille, scagliose, salinity crisis, geothermal fluids, thrust top basins and turbidites first represented in a famous Leonardo's painting. As such the Apennines are a testing and learning ground, readily accessible and rich of any type of field data. A growing literature is available, most of which is not published in widely available journals. The objective of the book is to provide a synthesis of current data and ideas on the Apennines for the most part simply written and suitable for an international audience. However, sufficient details and in-depth analyses of the various complex settings have been presented to make this material useful to professional scholars and to students of senior university courses.

CROP Project I.R. Finetti, 2005-12-23. CROP Project: Deep Seismic Exploration of the Central Mediterranean and Italy presents and discusses new data ranging from Alps to Africa obtained by the CROP PROJECT transcrustal seismic exploration of the Mediterranean and Italy. New lithospheric images of relevant importance for understanding disputed topics are provided. Alps, Apennines, Calabrian Arc, Sicilian Apennine, Maghreb, Chain Corso Sardinian Block, paleo-basins, Ionian, Alpine Tethys, neo-basins, Balearic and Tyrrhenian are innovatively reconstructed.

Depositional Sedimentary Environments H.-E. Reineck, I.B. Singh, 2012-12-06. From the reviews: This is an extremely useful reference text for the sedimentary geologist to own. It is well produced with clear illustrations and text and gives excellent factual information on a large number of topics. Palaeogeography, Palaeoclimatology, Palaeoecology represents a significant contribution to the literature of geoscience. It should be in the library of anyone seriously interested in sedimentology Marine Geology This book is still unsurpassed in providing a good basic synthesis of modern sedimentary environments especially the physical attributes of the deposits being formed and the processes responsible Sedimentary Geology

Sustainable Coastal Management: A Transatlantic and Euro-Mediterranean Perspective Biliana Cicin Sain,Igor Pavlin,Stefano Belfiore,2002-09-30 Proceedings of the NATO Advanced Research Workshop on An Evaluation of Progress in Coastal Policies at the National Level A Transatlantic and Euro Mediterranean Perspective held in Ljubljana Slovenia from 4 6 July 2001

Life in the Mediterranean Sea Noga Stambler,2012 The Mediterranean Sea is considered the most threatened sea on Earth This book presents a scientific look at the past present and future changes occurring in the Mediterranean Sea In addition this book also gives a background description of the geology physical oceanography marine chemistry and marine biology of the Mediterranean Sea It provides an up to date summary of the human anthropogenic factors affecting the Mediterranean marine environment as well as an estimate of the future of the Mediterranean Sea as related to local and global changes with an emphasis on climate change

The Geology of Stratigraphic Sequences Andrew D. Miall,2013-06-29 Sequence stratigraphy represents a new paradigm in geology The principal hypothesis is that stratigraphic successions may be subdivided into discrete sequences bounded by widespread unconformities There are two parts to this hypothesis First it suggests that the driving forces which generate sequences and their bounding unconformities also generate predictable three dimensional stratigraphies In recent years stratigraphic research guided by sequence models has brought about fundamental improvements in our understanding of stratigraphic processes and the controls of basin architecture Sequence models have provided a powerful framework for mapping and numerical modeling enabling the science of stratigraphy to advance with rapid strides This research has demonstrated the importance of a wide range of processes for the generation of cyclic sequences including eustasy tectonics and orbital forcing of climate change The main objective of this book is to document the sequence record and to discuss our current state of knowledge about sequence generating processes

A Continent Revealed D. J. Blundell,1992-11-27 The scientific achievements of the European Geotraverse Committee EGT are presented in this unique study of the tectonic evolution of the continent of Europe and the first comprehensive cross section of the continental lithosphere

Submarine Landslides Kei Ogata,Andrea Festa,Gian Andrea Pini,2019-12-24 An examination of ancient and contemporary submarine landslides and their impact Landslides are common in every subaqueous geodynamic context from passive and active continental margins to oceanic and continental intraplate settings They pose significant threats to both offshore and coastal areas due to their frequency dimensions and terminal velocity capacity to travel great distances and ability to generate potentially destructive tsunamis Submarine Landslides Subaqueous Mass Transport Deposits from Outcrops to Seismic Profiles examines the mechanisms characteristics and impacts of submarine landslides

Volume highlights include Use of different methodological approaches from geophysics to field based geology Data on submarine landslide deposits at various scales Worldwide collection of case studies from on and off shore Potential risks to human society and infrastructure Impacts on the hydrosphere atmosphere and lithosphere Seawater Intrusion in Coastal Aquifers Jacob Bear,A. Cheng,S. Sorek,D. Ouazar,I. Herrera,2013-03-09 Coastal aquifers serve as major sources for freshwater supply in many countries around the world especially in arid and semi arid zones Many coastal areas are also heavily urbanized a fact that makes the need for freshwater even more acute Coastal aquifers are highly sensitive to disturbances Inappropriate management of a coastal aquifer may lead to its destruction as a source for freshwater much earlier than other aquifers which are not connected to the sea The reason is the threat of seawater intrusion In many coastal aquifers intrusion of seawater has become one of the major constraints imposed on groundwater utilization As sea water intrusion progresses existing pumping wells especially those close to the coast become saline and have to be abandoned Also the area above the intruding seawater wedge is lost as a source of natural replenishment to the aquifer Despite the importance of this subject so far there does not exist a book that integrates our present knowledge of seawater intrusion its occurrences physical mechanism chemistry exploration by geo physical and geochemical techniques conceptual and mathematical modeling analytical and numerical solution methods engineering measures of combating seawater intrusion management strategies and experience learned from case studies By presenting this fairly comprehensive volume on the state of the art of knowledge and ex perience on saltwater intrusion we hoped to transfer this body of knowledge to the geologists hydrologists hydraulic engineers water resources planners managers and governmental policy makers who are engaged in the sustainable development of coastal fresh ground water resources Landscapes and Societies I. Peter Martini,Ward Chesworth,2010-11-09 This book contains case histories intended to show how societies and landscapes interact The range of interest stretches from the small groups of the earliest Neolithic through Bronze and Iron Age civilizations to modern nation states The coexistence is of its very nature reciprocal resulting in changes in both society and landscape In some instances the adaptations may be judged successful in terms of human needs but failure is common and even the successful cases are ephemeral when judged in the light of history Comparisons and contrasts between the various cases can be made at various scales from global through inter regional to regional and smaller scales At the global scale all societies deal with major problems of climate change sea level rise and with ubiquitous problems such as soil erosion and landscape degradation Inter regional differences bring out significant detail with one region suffering from drought when another suffers from widespread flooding For example desertification in North Africa and the Near East contrasts with the temperate countries of southern Europe where the landscape effects of deforestation are more obvious And China and Japan offer an interesting comparison from the standpoint of geological hazards to society large unpredictable and massively erosive rivers in the former case volcanoes and accompanying earthquakes in the latter Within the North African region

localized climatic changes led to abandonment of some desertified areas with successful adjustments in others with the ultimate evolution into the formative civilization of Egypt the Gift of the Nile At a smaller scale it is instructive to compare the city states of the Medieval and early Renaissance times that developed in the watershed of a single river the Arno in Tuscany and how Pisa Siena and Florence developed and reached their golden periods at different times depending on their location with regard to proximity to the sea to the main trunk of the river or in the adjacent hills Also noteworthy is the role of technology in opening up opportunities for a society Consider the Netherlands and how its history has been formed by the technical problem of a populous society dealing with too much water as an inexorably rising sea threatens their landscape or the case of communities in Colorado trying to deal with too little water for farmers and domestic users by bringing their supply over a mountain chain These and others cases included in the book provide evidence of the successes near misses and outright failures that mark our ongoing relationship with landscape throughout the history of Homo sapiens The hope is that compilations such as this will lead to a better understanding of the issue and provide us with knowledge valuable in planning a sustainable modus vivendi between humanity and landscape for as long as possible Audience The book will interest geomorphologists geologists geographers archaeologists anthropologists ecologists environmentalists historians and others in the academic world Practically planners and managers interested in landscape environmental conditions will find interest in these pages and more generally the increasingly large body of opinion in the general public with concerns about Planet Earth will find much to inform their opinions Extra material The color plate section is available at <http://extras.springer.com>

Landscapes and Landforms of Italy Mauro Soldati, Mauro Marchetti, 2017-05-23 The book deals with the most striking landscapes and landforms of Italy Attention is given to landform diversity and landscape evolution through time which has been controlled by very diverse geological conditions and dramatic climate changes that have characterized the Italian peninsula and islands since the end of the last glaciation In addition various examples of human impact on the landscape are presented Landscapes and Landforms of Italy contains more than thirty case studies of a multitude of Italian geographical landmarks The topics and sites described in this book range from the Alpine glaciers to the Etna and Vesuvius volcanoes taking into account the most representative fluvial coastal gravity induced karst and structural landscapes of the country Chapters on the geomorphological landmarks of the cities of Rome and Venice are also included The book provides the readers with the opportunity to explore the variety of Italian landscapes and landforms through informative texts illustrated with several color maps and photos This book will be relevant to scientists scholars and any readers interested in geology physical geography geomorphology landscape tourism geoheritage and environmental protection Geochemistry Miloš René, Gemma Aiello, Gaafar El Bahariya, 2021-03-10 Geochemistry includes new contributions to the field of granite rocks geochemistry mineralogy petrology and microstructure studies geochemistry of radioactive isotopes and geochronology It contains detailed geochemical mineralogical petrological sedimentological and geostructural studies from Europa Asia Africa

South America and Australia Chapters present geochemical exploration methods isotopic studies and macro and microstructural analyses      Proceedings of the First Italian Meeting on Environmental Micropaleontology (Urbino, Italy, June 4-6, 2002) Rodolfo Coccioni, Simone Galeotti, Fabrizio Lirer, 2004
