Dorr, 2018-01-25 In On Site In Sound Kirstie A Dorr examines the spatiality of sound and the ways in which the sonic is bound up in perceptions and constructions of geographic space Focusing on the hemispheric circulation of South American musical cultures Dorr shows how sonic production and spatial formation are mutually constitutive thereby pointing to how people can use music and sound to challenge and transform dominant conceptions and configurations of place Whether tracing how the evolution of the Peruvian folk song El Condor Pasa redefined the boundaries between national international and rural urban or how a pan Latin American performance center in San Francisco provided a venue through which to challenge gentrification Dorr highlights how South American musicians and activists created new and alternative networks of cultural exchange and geopolitical belonging throughout the hemisphere In linking geography with musical sound Dorr demonstrates that place is more than the location where sound is produced and circulated it is a constructed and contested domain through which social actors exert political influence
