Memory and Community in Sixteenth-Century France David P. LaGuardia, Cathy Yandell, 2016-03-03 Memory and Community in Sixteenth Century France engages the question of remembering from a number of different perspectives It examines the formation of communities within diverse cultural religious and geographical contexts especially in relation to the material conditions for producing texts and discourses that were the foundations for collective practices of memory The Wars of Religion in France gave rise to numerous narrative and graphic representations of bodies remembered as icons and signifiers of the religious troubles The multiple sites of these clashes were filled with sound language and diverse kinds of signs mediated by print writing and discourses that recalled past battles and opposed different factions The volume demonstrates that memory and community interacted constantly in sixteenth century France producing conceptual frames that defined the conflicting groups to which individuals belonged and from which they derived their identities The ongoing conflicts of the Wars hence made it necessary for people both to remember certain events and to forget others As such memory was one of the key ideas in a period defined by its continuous reformulations of the present as a forum in which contradictory accounts of the recent past competed with one another for hegemony One of the aims of Memory and Community in Sixteenth Century France is to remedy the lack of scholarship on this important memorial function which was one of the intellectual foundations of the late French Renaissance and its fractured communities

The Historiographical Concept 'System of Philosophy' Leo Catana, 2008-03-31 Jacob Brucker 1696 1770 established the history of philosophy as a philosophical discipline in the 1740s In order to separate this new discipline from other historical disciplines he introduced the historiographical concept system of philosophy The historian of philosophy should use this concept as a criterion of inclusion of past philosophies and as an ideal form of exposition The present book describes the origin of this historiographical notion its implicit Protestant assumptions and it traces the concept's impact upon the methods of history of philosophy and history of ideas as developed over the following centuries Finally it discusses the concept's strengths and weaknesses as a historiographical tool arguing that it ought to be given up

Bunge,2003-01-01 This book contains twelve major essays written by prominent historians from the Netherlands Belgium and the United States on the early Enlightenment in the Dutch Republic and more in particular on the main schools of thought that made up its philosophical profile Humphrey, Duke of Gloucester (1390-1447) and the Italian Humanists / by Susanne Saygin Susanne Saygin,2002 This study reconstructs the relations between the fifteenth century English patron of Italian Renaissance humanism Humphrey Duke of Gloucester 1390 1447 his Italian middlemen and several Italian humanists with regard to the social and political context of their shared literary interests John Calvin as Sixteenth-Century Prophet Jon Balserak,2014-02-06 John Calvin as Sixteenth Century Prophet examines Calvin s sense of vocation Jon Balserak argues that Calvin believed himself to be a prophet placed over nations and kingdoms to tear down and destroy to build and to plant Jer 1 10 With this authority Calvin pursued an expansionist agenda which blended the religious political and social towards making France upon which he turned his attentions especially after 1555 Protestant Beginning with an analysis of the two trajectories of thought existing within Christian discourse on prophecy from the patristic to the Early Modern era this study goes on to locate Calvin within a non mystical non apocalyptic prophetic tradition that focused on scriptural interpretation Balserak demonstrates how Calvin developed a plan to win France for the gospel a plan which included the possibility of armed conflict To pursue his designs Calvin trained prophets who were sent into France to labor intensely to undermine the king s authority on the grounds that he supported idolatry convince the French Reformed congregations that they were already in a war with him and prepare them for a possible military uprising An additional part of this plan saw Calvin search for a French noble willing to support the evangelical religion even if it meant initiating a coup Calvin began ruminating over these ideas in the 1550s or possibly earlier In this analysis the war which commenced in 1562 represents the culmination of Calvin s years of preparation Erasmus and the Middle Ages István Bejczy,2001-08-06 The aim of this book is to examine Erasmus attitude toward the medieval past and to relate it to his historical consciousness More than any other Renaissance humanist Erasmus was committed to the goal of building an alternative to medieval civilisation In his view the restoration and study of ancient pagan and Christian literature would result in an elevation of cultural and intellectual as well as moral and spiritual standards Yet these very assumptions appear to be challenged by Erasmus specific observations on the course of history up to his own day The present study is the first to show a fault line between the basic ideas of Erasmus Christian humanism and his view of the actual development of humanity through the ages Between Demonstration and Imagination John David North,Lodi W. Nauta,Arie Johan Vanderjagt,1999 The essays in this volume reflect the wide ranging interests of John D North distinguished historian of science and philosophy They take up various themes to which he has made important contributions the development of scientific knowledge and methodology the style of scientific and philosophical thought and the uses of scientific knowledge in the making of instruments or the casting of horoscopes These essays will be of much interest to all historians of science and philosophy Conflict and Reconciliation Iñigo Kristien
