The Quest for Meaning Adriaan Theodoor Peperzak, 2003 Adriaan Peperzak has for many years explored the connections between philosophy ethics religion and human experience An expert on Hegel Heidegger and Levinas he here offers a gathering of influences on his own work as guides to uses of philosophy in our search for sense and meaning The Quest For Meaning Adriaan Peperzak, 2003 One of our most distinguished thinkers Adriaan Peperzak has masterfully explored the connections between philosophy ethics religion and the social and historical contexts of human experience He offers a personal gathering of influences on his own work as guides to the uses of philosophy in our search for sense and meaning In concise direct and deeply felt chapters Peperzak moves from Plato Plotinus and the Early Christian theologians to Anselm Bonaventure Descartes Pascal Leibniz Hegel and Levinas Throughout these carefully linked essays he touches on the fundamental ideas from reason and faith to freedom and tradition that inform the questions his work has consistently addressed most specifically those concerning philosophy as a practice Thinking about Thinking Adriaan Theodoor Peperzak, 2012 Thinking about Thinking examines philosophy from a variety of perspectives as a the practice realized by persons who communicate with one another while reflecting about the meaning of human life and thought Without forgetting the logical and methodological conditions of systematic thought the author insists on the intimate connections that tie all philosophical texts and conversations to the lives from which they emerge As product of an individual thinker who thanks to individual teachers has been familiarized with particular traditions of a particular culture each philosophy is unique If it is a good one it is also revealing for many perhaps even for all other philosophers At the same time all thinking is addressed to individual interlocutors each of whom responds to it by transforming it into a different philosophy This fact invites us to explore the dialogical dimension of thinking which in turn refers us to the communitarian and historical contexts from which solitude as well as solidarity competition alliances and friendships in thought emerge After the collapse of modern autonomy the question of philosophy's dependence on prephilosophical conditions is a basic question of metaphilosophy especially if a philosophy is always entangled with or even rooted in some belief or trust or faith Levinas and Education Denise Egea-Kuehne, 2008-04-02 This first book length collection on Levinas and education gathers new texts written especially for this volume by an international group of scholars well known for their work in philosophy educational theory and on Levinas It provides an introduction to some of Levinas's major themes of ethics justice hope hospitality forgiveness and more as its contributing authors address some fundamental educational issues such as what it means to be a teacher what it means to learn from a teacher the role of language in the curriculum literature ethics and education moral education and human relations in schools ethics of responsibility and philosophical pedagogical discourse educational hospitality and interculturalism unconditional responsibility and education educating for participatory democratic citizenship the pedagogy of peace logic rationality and ethics connecting teaching to spirituality Levinas always insisted that his aim was not to provide a program and accordingly it is not the intent of the authors to look in Levinas's texts for a set of guidelines rules or precepts to be applied to education Rather this study invites educators and researchers in philosophy and philosophy of education to a thoughtful and critical reading of Levinas and to engage with his unique style of analysis and questioning as they uncover with these authors the necessity and the possibility of thinking education anew in terms of ethics justice responsibility hope and faith

Trust: Who Or What Might Support Us? Adriaan T. Peperzak, 2013-01-02 This phenomenological study begins by presenting trust as a characteristic form of interpersonal and communal relationship In the second chapter the scope is narrowed to someone's reliance on one or more trustworthy individuals Chapters 3 to 5 explore specific aspects of trust insofar as we confide in social structures or movements the impersonal regularities and events of nature or our own particular talents motivations and possibilities In a world that is ravaged by the omnipresence of suffering and the most outrageous manifestations of evil no philosopher can avoid the question of what kind of trust may be profound and strong enough to overcome the ultimate anxiety or despair that threatens all human existence In the Western tradition of belief thinking faith and searching for the first and ultimate that question is approached here through reflection upon the radical difference between trust or faith in the universe the totality and faith or trust in God

The Challenge of God Colby Dickinson, Hugh Miller, Kathleen McNutt, 2020-01-23 In view of the double vocative that characterizes the relation of Creator to creature this book offers critiques of modern and postmodern philosophy for the ways in which they have separated philosophy theology and spirituality This collection examines the complicated relationship of God to Being and the meaning of Revelation as well as highlighting the context and the role of the Spiritual Exercises of Ignatius Loyola Discussions include the Catholic Principle and its relevance in contemporary times and Christian epic visionaries such as Dante Milton Blake and Joyce providing scholars a forum to debate their theological identity and its meaning for future studies This volume contributes a unique engagement from many perspectives with the Catholic intellectual tradition in its philosophical theological spiritual literary and artistic dimensions

Rethinking Philosophy and Theology with Deleuze Brent Adkins, Paul R. Hinlicky, 2013-06-06 The debate between faith and reason has been a dominant feature of Western thought for more than two millennia This book takes up the problem of the relation between philosophy and theology and proposes that this relation can be reconceived if both philosophy and theology are seen as different ways of organising affects Brent Adkins and Paul R Hinlicky break new ground in this timely debate in two ways Firstly they lay bare the contemporary dependence on Kant and propose that our Kantian inheritance leaves us with an insuperable dualism Secondly the authors argue that the philosophy of Gilles Deleuze provides a way of resolving the debate between faith and reason that does justice to philosophy and theology by reconceiving of both as assemblages Deleuze's philosophy differentiates domains of thought in terms of what they create This seems like a particularly fruitful way to pursue the problem of the relations among philosophy and theology because it allows their distinction without at the same time placing them in opposition to one another Solidarity with the World Carolyn A. Chau, 2016-11-15 Is Christian mission even possible today In a secular age is it possible to talk about the goodness of God in a compelling way How should the church proceed Carolyn Chau explores the question of Catholic mission in a secular age through a constructive interpretation of the work of two celebrated Catholic thinkers philosopher Charles Taylor and theologian Hans Urs von Balthasar arguing that Taylor and Balthasar together offer a promising path for mission today Chau attends to Taylor's account of the conditions of belief today and the genesis of the sociohistorical limits on contemporary God talk as well as his affirmation of certain aspects of Western modernity's culture From Balthasar Chau sifts out the distinctiveness of his view of the human person as defined by mission and his encouragement of a kenotic self understanding of the church In the end Chau claims that if modern persons in secular Western societies are seeking fulfillment and integrity Christian spirituality remains a rich resource on offer

Approaches to Human Geography Stuart C. Aitken, Gill Valentine, 2014-12-01 The book covers some of the traditionally most obtuse and difficult to grasp philosophical ideas that have influenced geographers geography The fact that these are presented in an inclusive and accessible manner is a key strength Many students have commented that the chapters they have read have encouraged them to read more in this field which is fantastic from a lecturer's perspective Richard White Sheffield Hallam University A new edition of the classic Approaches text for students organised in three sections which overviews and explains the history and philosophy of Human Geographies in all its applications by those who practise it Section One Philosophies Positivist Geography Humanism Feminist Geographies Marxisms Structuration Theory Human Animal Realism Postmodern Geographies Poststructuralist Theories Actor Network Theory Postcolonialism Geohumanities Technologies Section Two People Institutions and Cultures Places and Contexts Memories and Desires Understanding Place Personal and Political Becoming a Geographer Movement and Encounter Spaces and Flows Places as Thoughts Section Three Practices Mapping and Geovisualization Quantification Evidence and Positivism Geographic Information Systems Humanism Activism Feminist Geographies Poststructuralist Theories Psychoanalysis Environmental Inquiry Contested Geographies and Culture Wars Fully updated throughout and with eight brand new chapters this is the core text for modules on history theory and practice in Human Geography Paths Not Taken Paul R. Hinlicky, 2009-08-13 In this book Paul Hinlicky suggests that to the detriment of the church as a whole Martin Luther's legacy did not unfold as he himself would have hoped or expected Paths Not Taken analyzes the unhappy fate of theology in the tradition of Luther through the pivotal early modern theological philosopher Gottfried Leibniz Through this lens Hinlicky shows how the twofold intention of reforming the Church according to the gospel and providing a Christian philosophy of culture for a renewed Christendom diverged along the way In his conclusion Hinlicky considers three outstanding contemporary representatives of theology in Luther's tradition Pannenberg Jüngel and Jenson and settles on a path to be taken by Lutheran theology after Christendom and after modernity

Happiness Randy Alcorn, 2015-09-17 Do you ever wonder whether God even cares if we're happy This world can be so hard and we aren't promised an easy road. But that's not the whole story. The Bible is filled with verses that prove that ours is a God who not only loves celebrations but also desperately wants his children to experience happiness. Why else would he go to the lengths he did to ensure our eternal happiness in his presence? We know that we will experience unimaginable joy and happiness in heaven, but that doesn't mean we can't also experience joy and happiness here on earth. In Happiness, noted theologian Randy Alcorn, bestselling author of Heaven, dispels centuries of misconceptions about happiness, including downright harmful ideas like the prosperity gospel, and provides indisputable proof that God not only wants us to be happy, he commands it. Randy covers questions like: How can I cultivate happiness in my life? What's the difference between joy and happiness? Can good things become idols that steal our happiness? Is seeking happiness selfish? How can I achieve happiness through gratitude? What does it look like to receive God's grace? The most definitive study on the subject of happiness to date, this book is a paradigm-shifting wake-up call for the church and Christians everywhere. Approaches to Human Geography

Stuart Aitken, Gill Valentine, 2006-01-27 Approaches to Human Geography is the essential student primer on theory and practice in Human Geography. It is a systematic review of the key ideas and debates informing post-war geography, explaining how those ideas work in practice. Avoiding jargon while attentive to the rigor and complexity of the ideas that underlie geographic knowledge, the text is written for students who have not met philosophical or theoretical approaches before. This is a beginning guide to geographic research and practice. Timing and Temporality in Islamic Philosophy and Phenomenology of Life Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka, 2007-09-19 From time immemorial, concern with timing of life has been crucial for the regulation of human praxis as well as for the philosophical quest to understand existence by seeking its meaning. The two used to inform each other until modernity when they parted. In spite of the extensive progress in manipulating change and motion and of the abundance of metaphysical attempts to enlighten human beings about their fate, the puzzling nature of temporality and timing of reality remains controversial. The present collection of studies seeks a new answer by initiating a novel investigation informed by the ancient wisdom of the Greco-Arabic-Islamic sources and inheritance on the one side and the contemporary discernment of Occidental phenomenology of life on the other in a common dialogical effort to unravel this great enigma of existence. *Papers by Anna Teresa Tymieniecka, William C.
