iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world Medicine, Literature & Eponyms Alvin E. Rodin, Jack D. Key, 1989 Contains over 350 medical eponyms Entries give narrative descriptions and references Many illustrations List of references Index Biographical Memoirs National Academy of Sciences, 1989-02-01 Biographic Memoirs Volume 58 contains short biographies of deceased members of the National Academy of Sciences The Ethics of Environmentally Responsible Health Care Jessica Pierce, Andrew Jameton, 2004 This text aims to bring bioethics and health care squarely into the 21st century The book shows how environmental decline relates to human health and to health care practices in the US and other industrialized countries The Environment, Our Natural Resources, and Modern Technology Thomas R. DeGregori, 2008-06-02 Always controversial Thomas DeGregori has released another classic volume that is sure to inform confound and present new perspectives on today's environmental issues This time he is taking on the environmentalists naturalists green consumerists and those that hail the natural lifestyle as the healthy politically correct thing to do DeGregori examines the economics of green consumerism the reality of saving the environment how historical cultures may have influenced environmental damage and how being ecologically correct may have a more damaging effect on our environment Not just a regurgitation of theories DeGregori offers real time strategies and alternatives to enhance our natural resources and our environment in harmony with today's modern technology This is the book everyone will be talking about for years to come The Institutional Economics of the International Economy John Adams, Anthony Scaperlanda, 2012-12-06 This book is the outgrowth of the editors conviction that there is a need for a current and comprehensive examination of international economic issues within the framework of institutional economics The volume covers the most important international topics that institutional economists historically have addressed We hope that our initiative and necessarily limited choice of subjects will encourage additional applications of institutional economic theory to the international economy For other economists the analyses contained in the volume's dozen chapters afford an opportunity to become more aware of the theoretical work and policy recommendations of institutional economists It may be surprising that to an extent evolutionary and neoclassical thinking converge and even sometimes overlap on the matter of trends and problems of the international economy A case in point is the increased attention both schools devote to the role of technology in shaping patterns of world trade and specialization In the past few decades global shifts in comparative advantages the widespread adoption of more flexible exchange rate systems and the remarkable shifts in institutional arrangements and policy regimes in the former Soviet Union and East Asia have compelled a reassessment of conventional static trade theories based on neoclassical assumptions Links among trade international investment and the diffusion of economic growth are being more closely scrutinized and better understood This volume is an effort to expand and stimulate this discourse on the economics of international relations including global economic development Reflections on Science, Religion and Society: A Medical Perspective Joseph B Martin, 2017-06-28 Throughout his long and distinguished career in medicine and neuroscience Dr

Joseph B Martin has had the honor of delivering speeches to graduating students professional societies and academic conferences As both a lifelong Anabaptist and prominent member of the scientific community his talks often focus on how to balance the spiritual and logical sides of our being to become healthier and more productive members of society Collected here are several of Dr Martin s speeches from over more than fifty years as an academic and doctor They reflect his evolving views on science and spirituality and explore how that confluence is at the center of some of today s most important and controversial issues Interspersed with commentary to provide further context and reflection the talks reflect the changes we have seen as a society deeply entrenched in technological advances and religious tensions Through them Dr Martin helps us to understand both the world around us and the world within and Bioethics E.E. Shelp,1985-09-30 We who live in this post modern late twentieth century culture are still children of dualism For a variety of rather complex reasons we continue to split apart and treat as radical opposites body and spirit medicine and religion sacred and secular private and public love and justice men and women Though this is still our strong tendency we are beginning to discover both the futility and the harm of such dualistic splitting Peoples of many ancient cultures might smile at the belatedness of our discovery concerning the commonalities of medicine and religion A cursory glance back at ancient Egypt Samaria Babylonia Persia Greece and Rome would disclose a common thread the close union of religion and medicine Both were centrally concerned with healing health and wholeness The person was understood as a unity of body mind and spirit The priest and the physician frequently were combined in the same individual One of the important contributions of this significant volume of essays is the sustained attack upon dualism From a variety of vantage points virtually all of the authors unmask the varied manifestations of dualism in religion and medicine urging a more holistic approach Since the editor has provided an excellent summary of each article I shall not attempt to comment on specific contributions Rather I wish to highlight three broad themes which I find notable for theological ethics

Thoughts: God, Science, and Human Nature Abdul Q. K. Kundi,2023-11-05 Religion philosophy and science sometimes appear to contradict each other The deeper reality is that these operate in tandem to provide a holistic appreciation of life Natural disasters as well as human failings like war and border walls create an emotional crisis individually and collectively Humanity is going through one of these hysterical phases at the advent of the 21st century We are experiencing terrorism global conflict climate change economic meltdown and breakdown of old liberal political order The emergence of a COVID 19 pandemic has contributed to accelerating the crisis Social distancing has isolated us in bubbles that seem to be on the verge of bursting There are growing signs of the psychological social and emotional breakdown faced by the communities These tough times invoke questions about the purpose of life humanity and our place in the universe We need to reconnect with our soul and be comfortable with the nature of things This book is an effort to help make sense of life and our place in it
