

Qu'est-ce que l'Histoire ?

> L'histoire est la mémoire d'un peuple, d'un continent, de l'humanité tout entière.

Elle nous aide à comprendre le présent.

Elle nous montre ce que notre société doit au passé, ce qu'elle en a conservé, ce qui a été abandonnés ou transformé.

> L'histoire nous permet de suivre l'évolution de notre civilisation, des premiers hommes à aujourd'hui.

> Cette histoire nous est connue grâce au travail des historiens.

Pour écrire leur histoire, l'historien se sert de toutes les traces laissées par les hommes :

- Des vestiges : objets, monuments.
 - Des documents : textes, photos, tableaux, peintures.
 - Des témoignages
- > La frise historique permet de placer les événements dans l'ordre où ils se sont déroulés : l'ordre chronologique.

Pour notre civilisation, le point de départ de la mesure du passé est la naissance de Jésus-Christ, fils de Dieu pour les Chrétiens. Sa naissance est l'année 0

Pour les événements qui se sont déroulés avant cette date, on met un signe - devant les années. Par exemple : -500 pour dire 500 ans avant la naissance de Jésus-Christ.

ouvrage esquisse enfin une interprétation historique globale des grandes phases de la littérature française et de façon plus précise des bouleversements majeurs esthétiques et institutionnels qu'elle a connus de la Révolution jusqu'au XXI^e siècle Alain Vaillant est professeur de littérature française à l'université Paris Nanterre et directeur du Centre des sciences des littératures en langue française EA 1586 "What is Literature?" and Other Essays Jean-Paul Sartre, 1988 What is Literature challenges anyone who writes as if literature could be extricated from history or society But Sartre does more than indict He offers a definitive statement about the phenomenology of reading and he goes on to provide a dashing example of how to write a history of literature that takes ideology and institutions into account Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory Irene Rima Makaryk, 1993-01-01 The last half of the twentieth century has seen the emergence of literary theory as a new discipline As with any body of scholarship various schools of thought exist and sometimes conflict within it I R Makaryk has compiled a welcome guide to the field Accessible and jargon free the Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory provides lucid concise explanations of myriad approaches to literature that have arisen over the past forty years Some 170 scholars from around the world have contributed their expertise to this volume Their work is organized into three parts In Part I forty evaluative essays examine the historical and cultural context out of which new schools of and approaches to literature arose The essays also discuss the uses and limitations of the various schools and the key issues they address Part II focuses on individual theorists It provides a more detailed picture of the network of scholars not always easily pigeonholed into the categories of Part I This second section analyses the individual achievements as well as the influence of specific scholars and places them in a larger critical context Part III deals with the vocabulary of literary theory It identifies significant complex terms places them in context and explains their origins and use Accessibility is a key feature of the work By avoiding jargon providing mini bibliographies and cross referencing throughout Makaryk has provided an indispensable tool for literary theorists and historians and for all scholars and students of contemporary criticism and culture Cultural Capital John Guillory, 2023-10-24 An enlarged edition to celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of John Guillory's formative text on the literary canon Since its publication in 1993 John Guillory's Cultural Capital has been a signal text for understanding the codification and uses of the literary canon Cultural Capital reconsiders the social basis for aesthetic judgment and exposes the unequal distribution of symbolic and linguistic knowledge on which culture has long been based Drawing from Pierre Bourdieu's sociology Guillory argues that canon formation must be understood less as a question of the representation of social groups and more as a question of the distribution of cultural capital in schools which regulate access to literacy to the practices of reading and writing Now as the crisis of the canon has evolved into the so called crisis of the humanities Guillory's groundbreaking incisive work has never been more urgent As scholar and critic Merve Emre writes in her introduction to this enlarged edition Exclusion selection reflection representation these are the terms on which the canon wars of the last century were fought and the terms that continue to inform debates about for instance decolonizing the curriculum and the
