Questing Heart:

Between the Bocas Jak Peake, 2017-07-19 Situated opposite the mouth of the Orinoco River western Trinidad has long been considered an entrepôt to mainland South America. Trinidad's geographic position seen as strategic by various imperial governments led to many heterogeneous peoples from across the region and globe settling or being relocated there. The calm waters around the Gulf of Paria on the western fringes of Trinidad induced settlers to construct a harbour Port of Spain around which the modern capital has been formed. From its colonial roots into the postcolonial era western Trinidad therefore has played an especial part in the shaping of the island's literature. Viewed from one perspective western Trinidad might be deemed as narrating the heart of the modern state's national literature. Alternatively the political threats posed around San Fernando in Trinidad's southwest in the 1930s and from within the capital in the 1970s present a different picture of western Trinidad, one in which the fractures of Trinidad and Tobago's projected nationalism are prevalent. While sugar remains a dominant narrative in Caribbean literary studies this book offers a unique literary perspective on matters too often perceived as the sole preserve of sociological, anthropological or geographical studies. The legacy of the oil industry and the development of the suburban commuter belt of East West Corridor therefore form considerable discursive nodes alongside other key Trinidadian sites such as Woodford Square, colonial houses and the urban yards of Port of Spain. This study places works by well-known authors such as V. S. Naipaul and Samuel Selvon alongside writing by Michel Maxwell, Philip Marcella, Fanny Wilkins, E. L. Joseph, Earl Lovelace, Ismith Khan, Monique Roffey, Arthur Calder Marshall and the largely neglected novelist Yseult Bridges who is almost entirely forgotten today. Using fiction, calypso, history, memoir, legal accounts, poetry, essays and journalism this study opens with an analysis of Trinidad's nineteenth-century literature and offers twentieth-century and more contemporary readings of the island in successive chapters. Chapters are roughly arranged in chronological order around particular sites and topoi while literature from a variety of authors of British, Caribbean, Irish and Jewish descent is represented.

Hope Is Here! Luther E. Smith Jr., 2023-11-07 Joyful and daunting opportunities to live into God's dream of justice and beloved community are compelling and available. Hope says Luther Smith Jr. is essential to the needed personal and social transformations that prepare us for such sacred opportunities. Yet genuine hope is often confused as merely wish, fulfillment, optimism or perceiving better tomorrows. In Hope Is Here Smith describes how we truly perceive and join the work of hope, enlivening us to a life that is oriented toward immediate and future experiences of personal fulfillment, justice and beloved community. Interpreting five spiritual practices for individuals and congregations to experience the power of hope, this book prepares us to engage racism, mass incarceration, environmental crises, divisive politics and indifference.

beyond God's reach. She challenges the assumptions that only the saintly can pray and that prayer ought to be tidy and nice. She reveals how prayer leads us beyond ourselves and into a life of purpose lived for the good of others. Ultimately, Holy Desperation is an invitation to engage in bold come exactly as you are prayer offering a way forward upward and outward for anyone desperate enough to cry out for God's help and presence. Book of Dreams Davis Bunn, 2011-10-04 For Dr Elena Burroughs, life is divided into two chapters: before and after the death of her husband. Today marks the point that her span of being a wife is equal to her span of being a widow. Even her success as a psychologist and her worldwide acclaim for a book on the interpretation of dreams is dimmed by an unspoken. If only. Then a new patient arrives, one so private only her first name is given. Impeccably dressed and escorted by two bodyguards, Sandra recounts a frightening series of recurrent nightmares. Elena agrees to consider her case more carefully, convinced that something ominous may be at work here. Elena's interpretation of her dreams confirms that indeed the new patient and her family confront a powerful global network of dangerous forces. As the story unfolds, they face a key question of the Christian life: How do you understand and fulfill the will of God. Canadian Magazine of Politics, Science, Art and Literature, 1911

Strange Vagabond of God John Dove, 1997 John Bradburne's life was a remarkable spiritual odyssey. After wartime service on the Indian subcontinent, he became a perennial pilgrim, never at home in the world, not even in his native England. Restless wanderings led him through Europe to the Holy Land to a succession of religious communities and ultimately to Africa, where he met a violent death during the Zimbabwean war of independence in 1979. This astonishing account of his life among the lepers and the astonishing events at his funeral make it clear that here was a man marked with special charisma who was marked out for sanctity. Since his death, devotion to his memory has sprung up in southern Africa and elsewhere. Poet, mystic, hermit, and vagabond, John Bradburne's life was a ceaseless quest for God. Fr John Dove SJ first met John Bradburne during the Second World War. He entered the Jesuits in 1949 and served the Zimbabwe mission for over thirty years. The Standard, 1916

The Imperial Quest and Modern Memory from Conrad to Greene Julia Rawa, 2013-11-05 The Imperial Quest and Modern Memory explores relationships between narrative and imperium in the context of Western Modernism by examining the Quest as a vexed trope in Heart of Darkness, Passage to India, The Sheltering Sky, and The Quiet American. The book takes stock of twentieth-century theory regarding the Quest as archetype, trope, and construct, considers the dominant expression and the imperial organization of this trope in Western culture and iconography from the Dark Ages to the Age of Empire, explores the ways in which this trope both lingers and changes in the context of Western Modernism, and finally gauges its permutations in Modern discourse. The Imperial Quest and Modern Memory's central claim is that the Modern novel simultaneously reinscribes and subverts Western and imperial manifestations of the Quest. Heart of Darkness, Passage to India, The Sheltering Sky, and The Quiet American are remarkably Modern and subversive narratives. They participate in the revolutionary projects of early and high Modernism and are often in marked opposition to imperial praxis Yet they are also profoundly influenced by the deep ideological and metaphoric structures of Western culture Thus the Quest trope specifically in its Western and imperial manifestations lingers in Modern Memory and certainly in the Modern novel This expansive study emphasizes intriguing intersections between past and present culture and archetype norm and narrative memory and contemporaneity
