Van Alstyne, 1993 Van Alstyne presents an unhurried historical review of the extent to which academic freedom has been accepted into domestic constitutional law Two essays deal with the issue of tenure and academic freedom Ralph S Brown and Jordan E Kurland agree that tenure reinforces academic freedom but wonder if there is not a large price to be paid for such a system In a highly instructive review Matthew Finkin looks at academic tenure and freedom in the light of labor law Focusing on freedom of artistic expression Robert O Neil raises difficult questions about what kinds of art displays taxpayers can be expected to tolerate in the colleges and universities they support Rodney A Smolla looks at the ways in which hate speech and offensive expression on campuses engage wide First Amendment jurisprudence Judith Jarvis Thomson examines the vexed issue of selecting and valuing individual faculty members or disciplines with regard to ideology Michael W African Land Questions, Agrarian Transitions and the State Sam Moyo, 2008-05-15 This empirically grounded study provides a critical reflection on the land question in Africa research on which tends to be tangential conceptually loose and generally inadequate It argues that the most pressing research concern must be to understand the precise nature of the African land question its land reforms and their effects on development To unravel the roots of land conflicts in Africa requires thorough understanding of the complex social and political contradictions which have ensued from colonial and post colonial land policies as well as from Africa s development and capital accumulation trajectories especially with regard to the land rights of the continent s poor The study thus questions the capacity of emerging neo liberal economic and political regimes in Africa to deliver land reforms which address growing inequality and poverty It equally questions the understanding of the nature of popular demands for land reforms by African states and their ability to address these demands under the current global political and economic structures dictated by neo liberalism and its narrow regime of ownership The study invites scholars and policy makers to creatively draw on the specific historical trajectories and contemporary expression of the land and agrarian questions in Africa to enrich both theory and practice on land in Africa entertaining in its use of quotations culled from over a hundred academic novels including works by Kingsley Amis Saul Bellow David Lodge and C P Snow For example from P G Wodehouse s The Girl in Blue The Agee woman told us for three quarters of an hour how she came to write her beastly book when a simple apology was all that was required The result is a highly readable but also deeply reflective analysis of the academic profession
