Brislin, 2013-09-17 Handbook of Intercultural Training Volume I Issues in Theory and Design is a compilation of nine essays dealing with a problem central to today's complex world: How can people best live and work with others who come from very different cultural backgrounds? The major focus of the nine essays in this book is the experience of living and working for long periods in other cultures. The book also focuses on other types of cross-cultural experiences such as majority-minority group relations, training and preparation, and integration. There are analyses of possible experiences people may have such as stress during adjustments. Other authors in this book address the benefits of intercultural action and integration into a country's educational system. International education is seen to benefit through a greater attention to face-to-face cross-cultural experience. The first seven essays are good descriptions of intercultural behavior and training, while Chapter 8 is an evaluation of cross-cultural training. The last chapter describes the atlas of affective meanings containing 620 concepts from 30 languages/culture communities for use in intercultural training and education. Behavioral and social scientists, trainers, and cross-cultural scientists, overseas businessmen, foreign students, diplomats, immigrants, and other people who work in different cultures will find this handbook very helpful.

Primary Process Thinking Robert R. Holt, 2008-12-19. Volume one of this comprehensive approach to one of Freud's most important conceptual achievements: the theory of thinking, examines the emergence and changes in his conceptions of primary and secondary process thought in their theoretical and clinical contexts. Unlike most treatments which emphasize their embeddedness in metapsychology, the text demonstrates the empirical grounding of these concepts in observation and describes how it led to a method of quantitative measurement. A summary of major theoretically relevant findings with that method plus a critical review of post-Freudian reexaminations of primary process leads to a reformulation of the psychoanalytic theory of thinking that is in Rubinstein's term protoneurophysiological as consistent as possible with contemporary knowledge in the brain sciences. In so doing, the author attempts to convert a psychoanalytic theory into a set of testable propositions using objectively quantifiable scientific concepts. Moreover, he shows how data obtained with his method can be used to confront the theoretical propositions, verifying some, rejecting some, and significantly modifying others. Volume two is an enclosed compact disc. The first ten chapters constitute a detailed scoring manual designed to be self-teaching for applying the concepts of primary process, its controls, and defenses to data from the Rorschach and Thematic Apperception Tests, dreams, and free verbal data. The remaining chapters treat its reliability and validity, including a critical summary of over one hundred researches from around the world demonstrating how it can be used not only to test psychoanalytic propositions but to illuminate issues in clinical psychiatry, clinical and developmental psychology, and personality. A concluding chapter points to many promising directions for further research.

Values, Self and Society Mahlon Brewster Smith, 2017-09-08. In a tough opening statement, M. Brewster Smith outlines his own life course and contrasts it with the agenda of social psychology in the present professional moment. Today's journals, textbooks, and conferences represent a vigorous but narrow scientific specialty in psychology, the practitioners of which are more closely focused on agendas that are primarily and often only intelligible within the subdiscipline than was the case when I formed my identity as a psychologist In contrast Smith sees himself and has long been seen by others as a social psychologist in the tradition of Gordon Allport Gardner and Lois Murphy Kurt Lewin and Muzafer Sherif Smith's unique ability has been to contribute to the emergence of personality as a differentiated academic field and at the same time maintain strong interdisciplinary ties to a variety of fields ranging from sociology to philosophy In recent years such concerns have made the author a central figure in the development of Humanistic Psychology as a part of the American Psychological Association Because of these wide ranging concerns the major statements of Brewster Smith have appeared in diverse places Here brought into a unified and uniform frame of reference one has his work on values and selfhood humanistic psychology and the social sciences and humanism and social issues brought together for the first time The picture is of a major thinker who is at home in the details of psychology and in the broad areas of public interest and social policy Brewster Smith discusses major issues in terms of the political processes involved in the public interest These range from the issue of advocacy within social research to conceptualizing anew familiar issues within psychology For the generalist interested in the broader meanings of social psychology to the specialist aiming to recapture the big issues with which the field was once identified this is a must volume Becoming Intercultural Young Yun Kim, 2001 This book looks at the movements of immigrants and refugees and the challenges they face as they cross cultural boundaries and strive to build a new life in an unfamiliar place It focuses on the psychological dynamic underpinning of their adaptation process how their internal conditions change over time the role of their ethnic and personal backgrounds and of the conditions of the host environment affecting the process Addressing these and related issues the author presents a comprehensive theory or a big picture of the cross cultural adaptation phenomenon

Emotional Development and Youths' Predisposition to Deception Oleksiy Chebykin, Olena Kosyanova, 2024-08-26 This comprehensive book examines young people's propensity to deceive through the lens of emotional development and the research methods of polygraph and emotional maturity methodology. It presents evidence-based and practical results of this research identifying a predisposition to deceit in people with different types of emotional maturity. The book begins with outlining the history and development of the polygraph and highlights the theoretical and methodological foundations of its application. Sharing the main aims and results of this study, the book then highlights the principal components and different types of emotional maturity, how the emotional sphere plays a determining role in deceit, and specifically how changes in self-expression, self-regulation, and empathy can govern a person's character to deceive. On the basis of this extensive experimental data, the authors clearly demonstrate how various features of the youth's tendency to deceive depended on age, gender, characteristics, and educational and professional training. This book is of great scientific and practical importance and will be useful to psychologists, students, scientific and pedagogical workers, as well as specialists involved in the selection and audit of personnel and other readers interested in using the polygraph method to detect and predict fraud.

In Pursuit of the Quality of Life Avner Offer, 1996 Is wealth the same as happiness? How is the quality of life to be evaluated, measured, and most importantly, achieved? The authors provide provocative and engaging answers to these questions in this new multidisciplinary and pragmatic approach to an important area of social research. Taking the individual as the point of departure, the authors consider both objective circumstances and their subjective impact on people's lives. Prominent authors from an array of different academic disciplines discuss the quality of life as viewed from their distinctive perspectives; these include the psychology of subjective well-being, destitution, and basic needs, the environment, women, and the family, illness, and health, employment and work, and the role of the state.

Transpersonal Psychotherapy Seymour Boorstein, 1996-02-15 Since its original publication in 1980, this book has become a classic in transpersonal psychotherapy. This new edition contains articles by the major figures in the field, including new contributions by Stanislav Grof, John Nelson, Donald Evans, Charles Tart, Edward Hoffman, Seymour Boorstein, W. Michael Keane, and Stephen Cope. Sylvia Boorstein and Roger J. Woolger. The articles present a spectrum of widely diverse perspectives, from precise behavioristic work with attention training through creative clinical pharmacology and theory development to innovative use of chakra energies. The result is a rich and provocative summary of the state of the art in transpersonal psychotherapy. The editor's focus is on the scientific healing mysticism alliance, which dates back to the earliest shamans and in modern times has engaged William James, Carl Jung, Roberto Assagioli, and Abraham Maslow. In the book, some of the most respected pioneers in the field give their vision of the synergistic potential of these two powerful traditions. Transpersonal Psychotherapy describes a wide variety of uses of traditional and spiritual approaches for the alleviation of mental suffering and for spiritual development.

and Practice of Professional Ethics John Strain, Simon Robinson, 2005 Gathers together some of the contributions made to the First International Conference on Teaching Applied and Professional Ethics in Higher Education This book seeks to answer what the demands for more ethics mean It is useful for those involved in ethics in professional life and in the teaching of professional ethics in universities

Self-Directed Growth Douglas L. Robertson, 2019-01-15 Self Directed Growth is a valuable map to the no man s land where education philosophy adult development and counseling meet This is the trackless waste that we usually encounter when we try to explore the relation between learning and personal meaning The book helps the student wrestle with issues of identity knowledge change and purpose Better yet it does so in a clear sequence of steps that keep the student on track With the average student today being more and more likely to be beyond the traditional college age this map of the territory of self directed learning is long overdue Too many of its would be competitors err either by being about adult education while leaving out anything for learners themselves or by being cookbooks full of recipes for how to throw off the past or dive into the future while leaving out the critical process of learning Robertson s book will be used in many ways Self directed learners either inside an educational institution or outside will use it to launch themselves on journeys of self discovery Groups of them working under the guidance of a mentor will use it as a text for exciting new kinds of courses And teachers will use it as a guide to reorienting their own efforts away from implanting content and toward developing students
