Mauritius The Islands Series:

Silence of the Chagos Shenaz Patel, 2019-11-05 Based on a true still unfolding story Silence of the Chagos is a powerful exploration of cultural identity the concept of home and above all the neverending desire for justice Shenaz Patel draws on the lives of exiled Chagossians in this tragic example of 20th century political oppression Every afternoon a woman in a red headscarf walks to the end of the quay and looks out over the water fixing her gaze back there to Diego Garcia one of the small islands forming the Chagos archipelago in the Indian Ocean With no explanation no forewarning and only an hour to pack their belongings the Chagossians are deported to Mauritius Officials tell her that the island is closed there is no going back for any of them Charlesia longs for life on Diego Garcia where the days were spent working on a coconut plantation the nights dancing to sega music As she struggles to come to terms with her new reality Charlesia crosses paths with D sir a young man born on the one way journey to Mauritius D sir has never set foot on Diego Garcia but as Charlesia unfolds the dramatic story of his people he learns of the home he never knew and the disrupted future of his people With the sovereignty of Chagos currently being debated on an international judiciary level Silence of the Chagos is an important and timely examination of the rights of individuals in the face of governmental corruption Praise for Silence of the Chagos Some twenty years ago I was struck by a photo showing barefoot women on the road facing the armed police They were Chagossian women protesting in Mauritius with astonishing determination This photo which she s never forgotten is the inspiration for the Mauritian novelist and journalist Shenaz Patel s third book Mingling various voice Patel describes in a bitter clear cut style the tragedy of the inhabitants of the Chagos those coral islands of the Indian Ocean that were turned into an American military base and whose inhabitants had been banished to Mauritius between 1967 and 1972 With a prose that seeps and stings and a sharp sensibility Shenaz Patel breathes life into the painful nostalgia the lingering memories and the eternal incomprehension of these expelled from a string of lost islands Le Monde This novel has two voices those of Charlesia and D sir both of whom are foreigners natives of the Chagos archipelago living in exile in Mauritius an island that is a paradise for some but a hell for them The Chagos are an archipelago that would have been hidden in the depths of the Indian Ocean had Americans not built a military base to bombard other countries Charlesia and D sir live and breathe the Mauritian writer Shenaz Patel introduces us to them and gives them voice again Lib ration From scenes of daily life to the horrors of forced exile through the grief of deculturation and the experience of an impossible identity Patel interrogates the relationship between political expediency and its all too human consequences between the abstract needs of international security and the concrete needs of the individual and above all between the rich and the poor L Express The Mauritius Command Patrick O'Brian, 1994 Stephen Maturin brings Captain Jack Aubrey secret orders to lead an expedition against the French islands of Mauritius and La Reunion but the conduct of two of his own officers threatens the success of the mission

Island of Shame David Vine, 2011-01-23 David Vine recounts how the British US governments created the Diego Garcia

base making the native Chagossians homeless in the process He details the strategic significance of this remote location also describes recent efforts by the exiles to regain their territory Africa in the Indian Ocean Tor Sellström, 2015-05-26 The four sovereign Indian Ocean states of Comoros Madagascar Mauritius and Seychelles the two French overseas departments of Mayotte and Reunion as well as the British colony of BIOT Chagos all form part of Africa As insular nations and territories in an increasingly globalized militarized and largely unregulated ocean they face particular challenges Commonly overlooked in the fields of African and international studies this text traces the islands history and explores their diverse contemporary social political and economic trajectories From human settlement and slavery to conflict resolution and piracy the relations with continental Africa and the African Union feature prominently Richly sourced this comprehensive and up to date introduction to Africa s Indian Ocean islands covers a significant lacuna Trade Promotion Series ,1940 General Series National Bureau of Economic Research, 1929 The Starfishes of the Hawaiian Islands Walter Kenrick Fisher, 1906 The Aquatic Resources of the Hawaiian Islands: Miscellaneous papers: Birds of Laysan and the Leeward islands, Hawaiian group David Starr Jordan, Barton Warren Evermann, 1906 Transition from Slavery in Zanzibar and Mauritius Teelock, Vijayalakshmi, Peerthum, Satyendra, 2017-05-05 This book presents a comparative history of slavery and the transition from slavery to free labour in Zanzibar and Mauritius within the context of a wider comparative study of the subject in the Atlantic and Indian Ocean worlds Both countries are islands with roughly the same size of area and populations a common colonial history and both are multicultural societies However despite inhabiting and using the same oceanic space there are differences in experiences and structures which deserve to be explored In the nineteenth century two types of slave systems developed on the islands while Zanzibar represented a variant of an Indian Ocean slave system Mauritius represented a variant of the Atlantic system yet both flourished when the world was already under the hegemony of the global capitalist mode of production This comparison therefore has to be seen in the context of their specific historical conjunctures and the types of slave systems in the overall theoretical conception of modes of production within which they manifested themselves a concept that has become unfashionable but which is still essential The starting point of many such efforts to compare slave systems has naturally been the much studied slavery in the Atlantic region which has been used to provide a paradigm with which to study any type of slavery anywhere in the world However while Mauritian slavery was 100 per cent colonial slavery slavery in Zanzibar has been described as Islamic slavery Both established plantation economies although with different products Zanzibar with cloves and Mauritius with sugar and in both cases the slaves faced a potential conflictual situation between former masters and slaves in the post emancipation period Diplomatic and Consular Reports. Foreign Office, 1902 Bulletin of the Bureau of Fisheries ,1906 Elihu Root Collection of United States Documents ,1906 The Franco-Mauritian Elite Tijo Salverda, 2015-04-01 Mauritian independence in 1968 marked the end of a regime favorable to the Franco Mauritians the island s white colonial elite Now in postcolonial Mauritius this group is faced with a much more diverse power constellation and often feels in competition with others vying for their privileges Though this is a clear departure from the colonial heydays Franco Mauritians have been able to continue their elite position into the early twenty first century This book focuses on the power of white elites still lingering on in postcolonial realities and with regards to elites and power in general addresses anew how an elite group aims to prolong its position over time

Lost Land of the Dodo Anthony Cheke, Julian P. Hume, 2009-01-01 The Mascarene islands in the southern Indian Ocean Mauritius Reunion and Rodrigues were once home to an extraordinary range of birds and reptiles Evolving on these isolated volcanic islands in the absence of mammalian predators or competitors the land was dominated by giant tortoises parrots skinks and geckos burrowing boas flightless rails the birds and tortoises were slaughtered indiscriminately while introduced rats cats pigs and monkeys destroyed their eggs the once extensive forests logged and invasive introduced plants from all over the tropics devastated the ecosystem The now familiar icon of extinction the Dodo was gone from Mauritius within 50 years of human settlement and over the next 150 years many of the Mascarenes other native vertebrates followed suit The product of over 30 years research by Anthony Cheke Lost Land of the Dodo provides a comprehensive yet hugely enjoyable account of the story of the islands changing ecology interspersed with human stories the islands biogeographical anomalies and much else Many French publications old and new especially for Reunion are discussed and referenced in English for the first time The book is richly illustrated with maps and contemporary illustrations of the animals and their environment many of which have rarely been reprinted before Illustrated box texts look in detail at each extinct vertebrate species while Julian Hume's superb colour plates bring many of the extinct birds to life Lost Land of the Dodo provides the definitive account of this tragic yet remarkable fauna and is a must read for anyone interested in islands their ecology and the history of our relationship with the world around us
