Max Dupain's Australia Max Dupain, 1986

Photography and Australia Helen Ennis, 2007 Photography and Australia focuses on those aspects of photographic practice that can be considered distinctively Australian. It argues that the colonial experience has been crucial in shaping photographers' concerns. Under the Sun, 2017-02-23 Guide for the Australian Centre for Photography exhibition

Featuring essays by curator Claire Monneraye and academic Martyn Jolly and featuring newly commissioned work of 15 contemporary Australian artists with accompanying text. The Architecture of Landscape, 1940-1960 Marc

Treib, 2002-10 The Architecture of Landscape 1940-1960 provides a groundbreaking collection of worldwide perspectives on a vital and underappreciated era of landscape architecture. It is also the first critical assessment of this period with information and insight previously unavailable to English language readers. Australia's Wild Places Roger

McDonald, 2009 Drawing on the extensive collection of the National Library of Australia, this book highlights the fingerprints humans have left on the landscape through the lenses of Australia's greatest photographers. Roger McDonald has written an insightful introductory essay as well as extended captions describing his response. Landscapes of Culture and Nature

R. Giblett, 2009-09-29 A bold and exciting exploration of the relationship and interactions between humans, the human landscape, and the earth, looking at a diverse range of case studies from the nineteenth-century city to the Asian tsunami and Hurricane Katrina. Dupain's Beaches Max Dupain, 2000 Max Dupain, who took Australia's most famous photograph

Sunbaker, loved the beach. This collection of Dupain's photographs is, by his own admission, among his best work. In it, we see Dupain's fascination with shadows, with sand patterns, with the arcs of seascape, and above all, with the people who indulged themselves on Australia's urban and country beaches over a period of sixty years. These images demonstrate how vital a part the beach plays in the Australian consciousness. Jill White, as custodian of Dupain's personal exhibition archive, offers us here the opportunity to share his vision of the beach as a place of relaxation and renewal. b/w photographs Australia Modern

Hannah Lewi, Philip Goad, 2019 From the Sydney Opera House and the National Gallery of Victoria to sought-after homes across the country, the pervasive presence of modernism is inescapable in Australia. Led by the likes of Robin Boyd, Harry Seidler, and Walter Burley Griffin, modernist architects and designers set out to rebuild at all scales, from vast infrastructure projects to public health and education institutions to new centres of culture, consumption, and leisure. Australia Modern vividly captures this architectural legacy with a survey of 100 significant modern sites, richly illustrated with archival images and newly commissioned photographs. Contextual essays by leading voices in architecture and conservation explore modernism's influence on every facet of life in Australia and the ongoing challenges facing preservation. Showcasing projects from the iconic and the urban to the everyday, the regional and the lesser-known, Australia Modern cultivates an appreciation for the modern architects and buildings that will increasingly constitute the heritage of tomorrow. Useless Beauty Ann

Elias,2015-10-05 The story of Australian art does not begin and end with landscape This book puts flowers front and centre because they have often been ignored in preference for more masculine themes Departing from where studies of single flower artists leave off Useless Beauty embraces the general topic of flowers in Australian art and shines new light on a slice of Australian art history that extends from 1880 to 1950 It is the first book of broad chronology to discuss Australian art through blossoms which it does by addressing stories of major figures including Hans Heysen Margaret Preston and Sidney Nolan as well as specific objects such as surreal flowers Aboriginal flowers and war flowers Whether modern or conservative the artists in this study shared an intellectual and emotional passion for flora This was true for men as well as women despite blossoms being a more traditionally feminine subject Through spectacular reproductions of historical and contemporary artworks drawn from collections in Australia the United States Britain and New Zealand Useless Beauty explores how flowers influenced the psyche governed rituals defined identity and brought a psychological dimension to the everyday The peak years for flower centrality in Australian art were between 1920 and 1940 when flowers were known as the apotheosis of useless beauty Max and Olive Shaune A. Lakin,2016 Landscape Australia ,2004 The Photograph and Australia
