What Every Economics Student Needs to Know and Doesn't Get in the Usual Principles Text John Komlos,2015-07-17 This short book explores a core group of 40 topics that tend to go unexplored in an Introductory Economics course Though not a replacement for an introductory text the work is intended as a supplement to provoke further thought and discussion by juxtaposing blackboard models of the economy with empirical observations Each chapter starts with a short refresher of standard neoclassical economic modelling before getting into real world economic life Komlos shows how misleading it can be to mechanically apply the perfect competition model in an oligopolistic environment where only an insignificant share of economic activity takes place in perfectly competitive conditions Most economics texts introduce the notion of oligopoly and differentiate it from the perfect competition model with its focus on price takers Komlos contends that oligopolies are price makers like monopolies and cause consumers and economies nearly as much harm Likewise most textbook authors eschew any distortions of market pricing by government but there is usually little discussion of the real impact of minimum wages which Komlos corrects The book is an affordable supplement for all basic economics courses or for anyone who wants to review the basic ideas of economics with clear eyes

Report 2018 World Bank Group, 2017-10-16 Every year the World Bank's World Development Report WDR features a topic of central importance to global development The 2018 WDR LEARNING to Realize Education's Promise is the first ever devoted entirely to education And the time is right education has long been critical to human welfare but it is even more so in a time of rapid economic and social change The best way to equip children and youth for the future is to make their learning the center of all efforts to promote education The 2018 WDR explores four main themes First education's promise education is a powerful instrument for eradicating poverty and promoting shared prosperity but fulfilling its potential requires better policies both within and outside the education system Second the need to shine a light on learning despite gains in access to education recent learning assessments reveal that many young people around the world especially those who are poor or marginalized are leaving school unequipped with even the foundational skills they need for life At the same time internationally comparable learning assessments show that skills in many middle income countries lag far behind what those countries aspire to And too often these shortcomings are hidden so as a first step to tackling this learning crisis it is essential to shine a light on it by assessing student learning better Third how to make schools work for all learners research on areas such as brain science pedagogical innovations and school management has identified interventions that promote learning by ensuring that learners are prepared teachers are both skilled and motivated and other inputs support the teacher learner relationship Fourth how to make systems work for learning achieving learning throughout an education system requires more than just scaling up effective interventions Countries must also overcome technical and political barriers by deploying salient metrics for mobilizing actors and tracking progress building coalitions for learning and taking an adaptive approach to reform
