followed her life's journey ever since. In this book they recount Antonia's life story and also reflect on challenges and rewards they have experienced in working together offering insight into the role of friendship in anthropological research as well as into the transnational movement of solidarity with the indigenous people of Chiapas that began with the Zapatista uprising. Antonia was born in 1962 in San Pedro Chenalhó, a Tzotzil Maya township in highland Chiapas. Her story begins with memories of childhood and progresses to young adulthood when Antonia began working with women in her community to form weaving cooperatives while also becoming involved in the Word of God, the progressive Catholic movement known elsewhere as Liberation Theology. In 1994, as a wife and mother of six children, she joined a support base for the Zapatista Army of National Liberation. Recounting her experiences in these three interwoven movements, Antonia offers a vivid and nuanced picture of working for social justice while trying to remain true to her people's traditions. At a time when many Americans are engaged in deep reflection about the meaning of the nation's history, this is an exceptionally useful companion for those who want to do so with honesty and integrity. Shelf Awareness. From the author of How to Think and The Pleasures of Reading in an Age of Distraction, a literary guide to engaging with the voices of the past to stay sane in the present. W. H. Auden once wrote that art is our chief means of breaking bread with the dead. In his brilliant and compulsively readable new treatise Breaking Bread with the Dead, Alan Jacobs shows us that engaging with the strange and wonderful writings of the past might help us live less anxiously in the present and increase what Thomas Pynchon once called our personal density. Today we are battling too much information in a society changing at lightning speed with algorithms aimed at shaping our every thought plus a sense that history offers no resources, only impediments to overcome or ignore. The modern solution to our problems is to surround ourselves only with what we know and what brings us instant comfort. Jacobs's answer is the opposite: to be in conversation with and challenged by those from the past who can tell us what we never thought we needed to know. What can Homer teach us about force? How does Frederick Douglass deal with the massive blind spots of America's Founding Fathers? And what can we learn from modern authors who engage passionately and profoundly with the past? How can Ursula K. Le Guin show us truths about Virgil's female characters that Virgil himself could never have seen? In Breaking Bread with the Dead, a gifted scholar draws us into close and sympathetic engagement with texts from across the ages, including the work of Anita Desai, Henrik Ibsen, Jean Rhys, Simone Weil, Edith Wharton, Amitav Ghosh, Claude Lévi-Strauss, Italo Calvino, and many more. By hearing the voices of the past, we can expand our consciousness, our sympathies, and our wisdom far beyond what our present moment can offer. Supplement to the Handbook of

Andrews, Victoria Reifler Bricker, 1985. Magical Progeny, Modern Technology Swasti Bhattacharyya, 2012-02-01. Magical Progeny, Modern Technology examines Hindu perspectives on assisted reproductive technology through an exploration of birth narratives in the great Indian epic the Mah

Reproductive technology is at the forefront of contemporary bioethical debates and in the United States often centers on ethical issues framed by conflicts among legal, scientific and religious perspectives. Author Swasti Bhattacharyya weaves together elements from South Asian studies, religion, literature, law and bioethics as well as experiences from her previous career as a nurse to construct a Hindu response to the debate. Through analysis of the mythic stories in the Mahabharata, specifically the birth narratives of the five Pandava brothers and their Kaurava cousins, she draws out principles and characteristics of Hindu thought. She broadens the bioethical discussions by applying Hindu perspectives to a California court case over the parentage of a child conceived through reproductive technology and compares specific Hindu and Roman Catholic attitudes toward assisted reproductive technology. Magical Progeny: Modern Technology provides insightful ways to explore ethical issues and highlights concerns often overlooked in contemporary discussions occurring within the United States. Supplement to the Handbook of Middle American Indians, Volume 3 Victoria Reifler Bricker, Munro S.

Edmonson, 2010-07-22 The sixteen volume Handbook of Middle American Indians completed in 1976 has been acclaimed the world over as the single most valuable resource ever produced for those involved in the study of Mesoamerica. When it was determined in 1978 that the Handbook should be updated periodically, Victoria Reifler Bricker, well known cultural anthropologist, was elected to be general editor. This third volume of the Supplement is devoted to the aboriginal literatures of Mesoamerica, a topic receiving little attention in the original Handbook. According to the general editor, this volume does more than supplement and update the coverage of Middle American Indian literatures in the Handbook. It breaks new ground by defining the parameters of a new interdisciplinary field in Middle American Indian studies. The aim of the present volume is to consider literature from five Middle American Indian languages: Nahuatl, Yucatec, Maya, Quiché, Tzotzil and Chorti. The first three literatures are well documented for both the Classical and Modern variants of their languages and are obvious candidates for inclusion in this volume. The literatures of Tzotzil and Chorti, on the other hand, are oral and heretofore little has been written of their genres and styles. Taken together, these essays represent a substantial contribution to the Handbook series with the volume editor's introduction placing in geographic perspective the five literatures chosen as representative of the Middle American literary tradition. Facing Death Howard Marget Spiro, Mary G. Wandel, 1998-10-01 While technology for keeping death at bay has advanced greatly, people are less well informed about how to face death and how to understand or articulate the emotional or spiritual need of the dying. This work aims to help medical personnel and patients to view death as a defining part of life. Conference on Missions in Latin America Foreign Missions Conference of North America.
