The University of Toronto Monthly , 1914 Rough and Plenty Raymond A. Rogers, 2020 As a Nova Scotia commercial fisher in the early 1990s Raymond A Rogers experienced the collapse of Canada s East Coast fishery first hand During that difficult painful and confusing time Rogers noticed a lone gravestone across the road from his home in Shelburne County Nova Scotia It was the gravestone of Donald McDonald a native of the Isles of Lewis in what was known as North Britain who departed his life in 1881 The encounter with McDonald s gravestone inspired Rogers to explore the parallel processes of dispossession and how local communities are decimated by the imposition of new ways of life In Rough and Plenty A Memorial Rogers compares the experience of dispossession suffered by nineteenth century Scottish crofters who like McDonald were expelled from their ancestral lands during the Highland Clearances with his own personal experience of dispossession when the fishing industry in Nova Scotia succumbed to the forces of capitalism in the 1990s The book serves a twofold goal to memorialize the loss of local ways of life in the name of economic progress and to convey the experience of dislocation through first hand narratives and perspectives recent and historical Blending historical research with personal narrative the author proposes the act of remembrance as a form of advocacy for the local communities decimated by the power of progress Further the comparison between the process of dispossession suffered by nineteenth century Scottish crofters and the author's own experience as a Nova Scotia fisher shows how colonizing narratives of progress exploit resources and marginalize local communities and its inhabitants

Lord of Point Grey Peter B. Waite, 1987 Few university presidents could be considered to the mannerborn Larry MacKenzie was the exception He discovered this talent when president of the University of New Brunswick from 1940 to 1944 He became president of the University of British Columbia in 1944 and served for eighteen years Although UBC's present eminence owes much to many people as biographer P B Waite points out it is basically Larry MacKenzie's creation His importance to UBC is inestimable No doubt demography alone enjoined UBC's considerable expansion but Larry gave it force and focus He established the Faculty of Graduate Studies and introduced professional faculties such as law and medicine He was a marvellous doer but more important he could recognize talent in others like his chief expeditor Gordon Shrum UBC's redoubtable head of physics and dean of graduate studies Larry's big archive at UBC has enabled Waite to essay the life of a marvellously adept and humane president who loved his work and his students a vital and great hearted Canadian who had lived and worked as one could say a mar i usque ad mare
