Literature and Language Holt McDougal, Jane N. Beatty, 1994 McDougal Littell Literature, 2007-04-20

McDougal, Littell Literature, 1989 Secondary Textbook Review, 1988 This book is intended as a resource for teachers and curriculum developers who select textbooks for secondary English courses. It includes a compilation of 32 factual textbook reviews obtained from the application of a review instrument which was based on the California Model Curriculum Standards Grades Nine through Twelve English Language Arts and the English Language Arts Framework for California Public Schools Kindergarten through Grade Twelve. The instrument described in the book was applied to selected English composition, grammar, and reading literature textbooks. The book suggests that the resulting reviews can be used by teachers as a screening device to reduce the number of books they review and pilot studies they conduct; thus, educators will have more time to do in-depth reviews of two or three textbooks which appear to match their course requirements and their students' academic needs. The book also states that the review instrument can be adapted by districts to reflect their own English objectives and test results. Every review in the book includes two parts: a publisher's description which appears in the Appendix, a section which depicts the extent to which the emphasis on content and process is given to each of the topics in the textbooks reviewed, and a section which includes topics on content and processes which might be found only in teachers' editions. The book does not make assessments regarding the quality of the books reviewed but rather provides information which teachers may find useful in making quality judgments and selecting specific textbooks for English programs. The book presents the current consensus among literacy teachers and researchers about what students should learn in the English language arts: reading, writing, listening, speaking, viewing, and visually representing. The first chapter of the book, Setting Standards in the English Language Arts, addresses defining the standards and the need for standards. The second chapter, Perspectives Informing the English Language Arts Standards, discusses the content, purpose, development, and context of the standards. The third chapter presents the 12 standards in detail. The fourth chapter, Standards in the Classroom, presents elementary, middle school, and high school vignettes which illustrate how the standards might be implemented in the classroom. The book concludes that these standards represent not an end but a beginning, a starting point for discussion and action. A glossary containing more than 100 terms, a list of participants, a history of the standards project, an overview of standards projects, state and international English language arts standards, a 115-item annotated list of resources for teachers, and a comment form are
