Milton Locke Mill and Jefferson and avowed that the search for truth is one of man's natural rights 3 the Social Responsibility theory of the modern day equal radio and television time for political candidates the obligations of the newspaper in a one paper town etc 4 the Soviet Communist theory an expanded and more positive version of the old Authoritarian theory

McQuail's Mass Communication Theory Denis McQuail, 2000      Audience Analysis Denis McQuail, 1997-07-28 The word audience has long been familiar as the collective term for the receivers in the model of mass communication process source channel message receiver effect It is a term that is understood by media practitioners and theorists alike and has entered into everyday usage however there is much room for differences of meaning misunderstandings and theoretical conflicts In Audience Analysis author Denis McQuail provides a coherent and succinct account of the concept media audience in terms of its history and its place in present day media theory and research He describes and explains the main types of audience alternative theories about the audience and the main traditions and fields of audience research This informative volume explains the contrast between social scientific and humanistic approaches and gives due weight to the view from the audience as well as the view from the media It summarizes key research findings and assesses the impact of new media developments especially transnationalization and new interactive technology Finally the volume concludes with an evaluation of the continued relevance of the audience concept under conditions of rapid media change Providing both an overview of past research and a guide to current thinking Audience Analysis will be enlightening to academics and students in the fields of mass communication and media studies      Environment, Media and Communication Anders Hansen, 2018-09-21 Media and communication processes are central to how we come to know about and make sense of our environment and to the ways in which environmental concerns are generated elaborated manipulated and contested The second edition of Environment Media and Communication builds on the first edition's framework for analysing and understanding media and communication roles in the politics of the environment It draws on the significant and continuing growth and advances in the field of environmental communication research to show the increasing diversification and complexity of environmental communication The book highlights the persistent urgency of analysing and understanding how communication about the environment is being influenced and manipulated with implications for how and indeed whether environmental challenges are being addressed and dealt with Since the first edition changes in media organisations news media and environmental journalism have continued apace but perhaps more significantly the media technologies and the media and communications landscape have evolved profoundly with the continued rise of digital and social media Such changes have gone hand in hand with and often facilitated enabled and enhanced shifting balances of power in the politics of the environment There is thus a greater need than ever to analyse and understand the roles of mediated public communication about the environment and to ask critical questions about who what benefits and who what is adversely affected by such processes This book will be of interest to students in media communication studies geography environmental studies political science and sociology as well as to environmental professionals and activists      Theorizing Communication Robert T. Craig, Heidi L. Muller, 2007-04-05

Social Inequalities, Media, and Communication Jan Servaes, Toks Oyedemi, 2016-02-04 Social Inequalities Media and Communication Theory and Roots provides a global analysis of the intersection of social inequalities media and communication This book contains chapter contributions written by scholars from around the world who engage in country and region specific case studies of social inequalities in media and communication The volume is a theoretical exploration of the classical structuralist culturalist postmodernist and postcolonial theoretical approaches to inequality and how these theoretical discourses provide critical understanding of social inequalities in relation to narratives shaped by media and communication experiences The contributors provide class and gender analyses of media and culture engage theoretical discourses of inequalities and capitalism in relation to communication technologies and explore the cyclical relationship of theory and praxis in studying inequalities media and communication      Social Science as Civic Discourse Richard Harvey Brown, 1989-11-16 Richard Harvey Brown's pioneering explorations in the philosophy of social science and the theory of rhetoric reach a culmination in Social Science as Civic Discourse In his earlier works he argued for a logic of discovery and explanation in social science by showing that science and art both depend on metaphoric thinking and he has applied that logic to society as a narrative text in which significant action by moral agents is possible This new work is at once a philosophical critique of social theory and a social theoretical critique of politics Brown proposes to redirect the language and the mission of the social sciences toward a new discourse for a humane civic practice      Newspaper Loyalty Leonardus John de Wolff, Wolff, 2012 In this study Leon de Wolff poses the question why some of the subscribers of a newspaper renew their subscription even if their newspaper does not supply them with the kind of articles and photographs they prefer and others do not All independent variables in this research are connected to one of the three ways that are known to come to a conclusion the triad cognitive affective and conative On the basis of extensive empirical research and theoretical reasoning De Wolff concludes that newspaper subscribers do not cancel or renew their subscription after a rational comparison of their ideal mix of articles and photographs with the mix the paper supplies In this abridged edition we present only the core of the argument hint at the line of reasoning and show only the bare conclusions      Communication as Culture James W. Carey, 1992 Carey's seminal work joins central issues in the field and redefines them It will force the reader to think in new and fruitful ways about such dichotomies as transmissions vs ritual administrative vs critical positivist vs marxist and cultural vs power orientated approaches to communications study An historically inspired treatment of major figures and theories required reading for the sophisticated scholar George Gerbner University of Pennsylvania offers a mural of thought with a
