Rich, 2015-03-10 Here is the brief but intense life of Bessie Coleman America's first African American woman aviator Born in 1892 in Atlanta Texas she became known as Queen Bess a barnstormer and flying circus performer who defied the strictures of race sex and society in pursuit of a dream QUEEN BESS PB Rich DL, 1995-05-17 Bessie Coleman the first African American woman aviator was a barnstormer and flying circus performer in the early days of American aviation before her death in an airplane crash in 1926 Queen Bess Doris L. Rich, 1993 Bessie Coleman the first African American woman aviator was a barnstormer and flying circus performer in the early days of American aviation before her death in an airplane crash in 1926 Amelia Earhart Doris L. Rich, 1996-10-17 She died mysteriously before she was forty Yet in the last decade of her life Amelia Earhart soared from obscurity to fame as the best known female aviator in the world She set record after record among them the first trans Atlantic solo flight by a woman a flight that launched Earhart on a double career as a fighter for women's rights and a tireless crusader for commercial air travel Doris L Rich's exhaustively researched biography downplays the What Happened to Amelia Earhart myth by disclosing who Amelia Earhart really was a woman of three centuries born in the nineteenth pioneering in the twentieth and advocating ideals and dreams relevant to the twenty first Before Jackie Robinson Gerald R. Gems, 2017-02 While the accomplishments and influence of Jack Johnson Joe Louis Jesse Owens Jackie Robinson and Muhammad Ali are doubtless impressive solely on their merits these luminaries of the Black sporting experience did not emerge spontaneously Their rise was part of a gradual evolution in social and power relations in American culture between the 1890s and 1940s that included athletes such as jockey Isaac Murphy barnstorming pilot Bessie Coleman and golfer Teddy Rhodes The contributions of these early athletes to our broader collective history and their heroic confrontations with the entrenched racism of their times helped bring about the incremental changes that after 1945 allowed for sports to be more fully integrated Before Jackie Robinson details and analyzes the lives of these lesser known but important athletes within the broader history of Black liberation These figures not only excelled in their given sports but also transcended class and racial divides in making inroads into popular culture despite the societal restrictions placed on them They were also among the first athletes to blur the line between athletics entertainment and celebrity culture This volume presents a more nuanced account of early Black American athletes lives and their ongoing struggle for acceptance relevance and personal and group identity Jackie Cochran Doris L. Rich, 2010-05-22 In Doris Rich's latest aviation biography barefoot illiterate Bessie Pittman reinvents herself as Jacqueline Cochran the brash beautician who set more speed and altitude records than any pilot in history Rich illuminates the lesser known facts of this under appreciated pioneer and lights a belated candle for her too Air and Space History has proven Earhart to be the favorite but Cochran undoubtedly was the superior pilot determined to be not just the best woman pilot but to be the best pilot period she broke countless aviation records for speed altitude and distance Rich gives Cochran her rightful place in aviation history

Publishers Weekly Often combative and abrasive Cochran is a true American legend and Rich's biography will ensure that Cochran's contributions will not be forgotten Booklist At the time of her death on August 9 1980 Jacqueline Jackie Cochran recipient of America's Distinguished Service Medal Distinguished Flying Cross and Legion of Merit held more speed altitude and distance records 200 plus than any other pilot male or female in the history of aviation Rich reminds us that this remarkable lady despite her shortcomings reached Mach 2 twice the speed of sound piloting a Lockheed F 104 at the tender age of 58 Library Journal
