The Enchantment of English Dale, Leigh, 2012-11-28 The Enchantment of English is a study of the teaching of English in Australian universities from its beginnings in the second half of the 19th century through to the 1960s and 1970s a period in which universities proliferated and diversified Written from the belief that every discipline is enhanced by understanding the arguments made for its existence and the conditions in which it was established the author aims to help students and colleagues to think critically about the impact of institutional location in forming our habits of mind Amidst these stories of politics critical debates scrambling for appointments in specific areas and disputes about the need to satisfy the demands of students and the public for usefulness this history reveals something intangible but durable the power of the literary text over the imagination and the power of the idea of England and its writers as a basis and motive for reading and study hence The Enchantment of English Literary Knowing and the Making of English Teachers Larissa McLean Davies, Brenton Doecke, Philip Mead, Wayne Sawyer, Lyn Yates, 2022-09-29 At a time when knowledge is being re valued as central to curriculum concerns subject English is being called to account Literary Knowing and the Making of English Teachers puts long standing debates about knowledge and knowing in English in dialogue with an investigation of how English teachers are made in the 21st century This book explores for the first time the role of literature in shaping English teachers professional knowledge and identities by examining the impacts in particular of their own school teaching in their making The voices of early career English teachers feature throughout the work in a series of vignettes providing reflective accounts of their professional learning The authors bring a range of disciplinary expertise and standpoints to explore the complexity of knowledge and knowing in English They ask How do English teachers negotiate competing curriculum demands How do they understand literary knowledge in a neoliberal context What is core English knowledge for students and what role should literature play in the contemporary curriculum Drawing on a major longitudinal research project they bring to light what English teachers see as central to their work the ways they connect teaching with their disciplinary training and how their understandings of literary practice are contested and reimaged in the classroom This innovative work is essential reading for scholars and postgraduate students in the fields of teacher education English education literary studies and curriculum studies
