THE QUEST FOR AFRICA

by HEINRICH SCHIFFERS

From the book

"To wonder that men looked to the continent to the far south from which man's earliest steps have been traced would be to look at water, trees, insects, plants, birds, stones. It was there, surely, that the very essence of such things was to be found. It was Europe, then, more than ten thousand miles away, who depicted her own world in the first actual voyage of discovery."

"In 1513, 1549 Robb, with a little group of natives, stood at the foot of the great mountains, which was covered with a remarkable white 'fog'. But this was no natural peak, rather it was from a high mountain, towering in jagged rocks above forests and bare plains, the summits of the eternal snows, that this was not far from the Equator. It was Mount Kilimanjaro. . . . Years later . . . the English geographer William Collins, made his assertion that it was nothing but a very high hill."

"In the end of July 1482, Spica reached Lake Tanganyika which measured 100 miles square and is about twice the size of Belgium. He named it Lake Victoria in honor of the Queen. Here too the native people confirmed his opinion that he had thereby discovered the source of the White Nile. So true that he himself did not see the truth of the matter."

"The journey of the first was marvellous. The rebel soldiers of the Sultan, against the Government to abandon their territories. Can anyone be so stupid to send you any help? What was the Governor's answer to do now? Should he fight, taking his establishment with him? That meant he would risk his life and the lives of his men and children. . . . The emergency situation was real and yet that proved to be the case. All from all communication with the world he was still, according to Henry Esquivel."

The Quest for Africa Heinrich Schiffers, 1980      The Quest for Africa Heinrich Schiffers (géographe).), 1958      First Encounters Howard B. Leavitt, 2010-06-11 A collection comprising a wide variety of accounts of native peoples describing their initial encounters with European explorers conquerors and settlers This extraordinary volume gathers together an astonishing array of voices of those so often overlooked by history First Encounters Native Voices on the Coming of the Europeans reaches back to add important overlooked viewpoints to our understanding of history gathering together accounts describing the initial experiences of indigenous peoples around the world with European explorers missionaries traders soldiers and settlers It is the first such volume with a truly global perspective First Encounters brings together 42 authentic first person accounts organized geographically in sections on Africa North America South America greater Australia and Asia Selections each with editor's notes provide vivid detailed accounts of the culture clashes that defined an era From the Opium Wars to the Indian Wars from the Aztecs who thought the white intruders were gods to the Japanese who thought them barbarians readers will encounter a stunning array of voices from the other side of history      The Quest for Africa. Two Thousand Years of Exploration. Transl. from the German by D. Pyke, 1957      Two Thousand Years with the Word C. H. Ren, 2000      In Full Flight John Heminway, 2019-02-19 As a member of the renowned Flying Doctors Service Dr Anne Spoerry treated hundreds of thousands of people across rural Kenya over the span of fifty years earning herself the cherished nickname Mama Daktari Mother Doctor Yet few knew that what drove her from post World War II Europe to Africa was a past marked by rebellion submission and personal decisions that earned her another nickname this one sinister while working as a doctor in a Nazi concentration camp In Full Flight explores the question of whether it is possible to rewrite one's past by doing good in the present and takes readers on an extraordinary journey into a dramatic life punctuated by both courage and weakness and driven by a powerful need to atone      Mental Maps Janne Holmén, Norbert Götz, 2021-11-28 The concept of mental maps is used in several disciplines including geography psychology history linguistics economics anthropology political science and computer game design However until now there has been little communication between these disciplines and methodological schools involved in mental mapping Mental Maps Geographical and Historical Perspectives addresses this situation by bringing together scholars from some of the related fields Ute Schneider examines the development of German geographer Heinrich Schiffers mental maps using his books on Africa from the 1930s to the 1970s Efrat Ben Ze'ev and Chloé Yvroux investigate conceptions of Israel and Palestine particularly the West Bank held by French and Israeli students By superimposing large numbers of sketch maps Clarisse Didelon Loiseau Sophie de Ruffray and Nicolas Lambert identify soft and hard macro regions on the mental maps of geography students across the world Janne Holmén investigates whether the Baltic and the Mediterranean Seas are seen as links or divisions between the countries that line their shores according to the mental maps of high school seniors Similarly Dario Musolino maps regional preferences of

Italian entrepreneurs Finally Lars Erik Edlund offers an essayistic account of mental mapping based on memories of maps in his own family This edited volume book uses printed maps survey data and hand drawn maps as sources contributing to the study of human perception of space from the perspectives of different disciplines The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Cultural Geography Accessions List United States. Department of State. Library Division,1958-07 Encyclopedia of the Peoples of Africa and the Middle East Jamie Stokes,2009

Encyclopedia of the Peoples of Africa and the Middle East is a two volume A to Z reference to the history and culture of the peoples of Africa and the Middle East Geography ,1958 Includes section Reviews and other bibliographical material

The History of Africa Molefi Kete Asante,2014-10-10 There is a paradox about Africa it remains a subject that attracts considerable attention yet rarely is there a full appreciation of its complexity African historiography has typically consisted of writing Africa for Europe instead of writing Africa for itself as itself from its own perspectives The History of Africa redresses this by letting the perspectives of Africans themselves take center stage Authoritative and comprehensive this book provides a wide ranging history of Africa from earliest prehistory to the present day using the cultural social political and economic lenses of Africa as instruments to illuminate the ordinary lives of Africans The result is a fresh survey that includes a wealth of indigenous ideas African concepts and traditional outlooks that have escaped the writing of African history in the West The new edition includes information on the Arab Spring the rise of FrancAfrica the presence of the Chinese in Africa and the birth of South Sudan The chapters go up to the present day addressing US President Barack Obama s policies toward Africa A new companion website provides students and scholars of Africa with access to a wealth of supporting resources for each chapter including images video and audio clips and links to sites for further research This straightforward illustrated and factual text allows the reader to access the major developments personalities and events on the African continent This groundbreaking survey is an indispensable guide to African history The Origins of Ethnic Conflict in Africa Tsega Etefa,2019-02-01 From Darfur to the Rwandan genocide journalists policymakers and scholars have blamed armed conflicts in Africa on ancient hatreds or competition for resources Here Tsega Etefa compares three such cases the Darfur conflict between Arabs and non Arabs the Gumuz and Oromo clashes in Western Oromia and the Oromo Pokomo conflict in the Tana Delta in order to offer a fuller picture of how ethnic violence in Africa begins Diverse communities in Sudan Ethiopia and Kenya alike have long histories of peacefully sharing resources intermarrying and resolving disputes As he argues ethnic conflicts are fundamentally political conflicts driven by non inclusive political systems the monopolization of state resources and the manipulation of ethnicity for political gain coupled with the lack of democratic mechanisms for redressing grievances

The Cambridge World Prehistory Colin Renfrew,Paul Bahn,2014-06-09 The Cambridge World Prehistory provides a systematic and authoritative examination of the prehistory of every region around the world from the early days of human origins in Africa two million years ago to the beginnings of written history which in some areas started only two centuries ago Written by a team of leading international scholars the volumes include both traditional topics and cutting edge approaches such as archaeolinguistics and molecular genetics and examine the essential questions of human development around the world The volumes are organised geographically exploring the evolution of hominins and their expansion from Africa as well as the formation of states and development in each region of different technologies such as seafaring metallurgy and food production The Cambridge World Prehistory reveals a rich and complex history of the world It will be an invaluable resource for any student or scholar of archaeology and related disciplines looking to research a particular topic tradition region or period within prehistory

Sir Richard F. Burton James A. Casada, 1990 National Museums in Africa Raymond Silverman, George Abungu, Peter Probst, 2021-08-30 National Museums in Africa brings the voices of African museum professionals into dialogue with scholars and by so doing is able to consider the state of African national museums from fresh perspectives Covering all regions of the continent the volume's thirteen chapters allow for a deep and nuanced understanding of the intricate interplay between past and present in contemporary Africa Taking stock of the shifting museum landscape in Africa with new players like China and South Korea challenging the conditions of cultural exchange the book demonstrates that national museums are being rediscovered as important sites of political engagement and cultural negotiation This is the first book to critically examine the roles national museums in Africa have played in the societies in which they are situated but it is also the first to consider the roles that national museums might play in current debates concerning the restitution and repatriation of cultural patrimony taken from Africa during the colonial era Informed by a comparative and interdisciplinary perspective this ground breaking book will appeal to anyone interested in museums in Africa It will be particularly useful to scholars and students working in the areas of museum and heritage studies African studies anthropology archaeology history art history and cultural studies
